FIND ROOSEVELT THESIS SETS UP ECONOMIC BAR

Speech Dims Hopes of Wage Earners.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 26.—[Special.]—Foreshadowing the political cleavage of the approaching presidential election, two potential candidates for the Republican nomination for President—Senators Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan and Lester J. Dickinson of Iowa—took issue today with the economic theory advanced by President Roosevelt in his New York speech last night.

As a campaign speech the Roosevelt utterance failed to measure up to the expectations of the Republicans and visibly disappointed numerous Democrats who had hoped for a more polished and concrete treatment of the issues of the hour.

Sticks to "Plow Under."

I asked both Senators Dickinson and Vandenberg for their reaction to the speech, pointing out particularly that passage in which Mr. Roosevelt said:

"Reduction of costs of manufacture does not mean more purchasing power and more goods consumed. It means just the opposite."

"The President," said Senator Dickinson, "apparently still is devoted to his theory that recovery is to be achieved by curtailing production and raising prices. The trouble with that theory is that it has been tried for three years and it has failed. It definitly has failed to increase purchasing power. As a result we still have more than 12 million persons unemployed.

Cites Hint of "Strong Arming."

"The speech demonstrates that the President still is bent upon regimentation of the nation in collectivist institutions for which he indicates we would invoke 'the strong arm of the nation'—a subtle hint of 'the strong-arming' the people will be in for if they should be so misguided as to reëlect Mr. Roosevelt."

Senator Vandenberg said he has no dogmatic theory of the cause of the depression, but that he could easily see there is something wrong with the President's dogmatic theory.

"If the President is right," said Senator Vandenberg, "how does he account for the performance of the automobile industry, which is the outstanding example of the recovery? The prices of automobiles are lower than they ever were. Sales are larger and wages are higher. This result has been accomplished by a reduction of the costs of manufacture which increased purchasing power—the antithesis of the President's thesis."

Borah Withholds Comment.

Senator William E. Borah, another candidate for the Republican nomination, declined to discuss the President's speech for publication. It is known, however, that he holds economic views contrasting sharply with Mr. Roosevelt's. Mr. Borah contends that reduction of production costs when reflected in lower prices increases purchasing power, but that prior to the depression and under the Roosevelt régime the operation of this force was defeated by monopoly maintenance of high prices. Senator Borah's views are based on the Brookings Institution's three year study of the distribution of income in relation to economic progress.

"Whereas the period of great technological advance between 1870 and 1890," said Dr. Howard G. Moulton, president of the Brookings institution, "brought notable price reductions, contributing much to raising living standards, there was little reduction of prices in the similar period of 1922-'29. Productive efficiency in manufacturing in the latter era, as measured by output per worker, increased about 25 per cent. But forces of price maintenance had become so strong that retail prices in the aggregate remained practically stationary.

Points to Fallacious Theory.

"Of course, there was competition in many lines and prices declined accordingly. But this was not true of all producers. Artificial devices to maintain prices dammed up the stream of progress. Producers neglected to face the fact that in the long run they could prosper only as the masses could buy an expanding volume of their goods.

"This fact must be faced. We must

FRENCH ELECT CHAMBER; BIG SWING TO LEFT

See 'Real Triumph' for Radicals.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, April 27.—[Monday, 4 a. m.]—A real triumph for the Popular Front, composed of Socialists, Radical Socialists, and communists, instead of the mild swing to the left predicted by the experts, appeared early today to be the result of yesterday's French election.

Though run-off elections will be held next Sunday in more than 60 per cent of the country's 615 electoral precincts—owing to the failure of any candidates in a district to obtain absolute majority on the first round—the advantage of the left already was clear and became more striking as the tabulation of results advanced.

Fifty Seats for Communists.

A communist gain of really sensational character, virtual annihilation of the center parties and the consolidation of all right wing parties into a solid national bloc opposed to the Popular Front were foreshadowed in the statistics available at 4 a. m.

With 498 out of 615 results tabulated, and with no less than 345 "ballotages"—run off elections—scheduled already against only 153 seats won in the first round, trustworthy unofficial estimates give the Popular Front a majority as follows:

Communists—50 deputies.
Socialists—110 to 115 deputies.
Radical Socialists—130 deputies.
Independent Socialists—20 deputies.

Thus the Popular Front, even without any support from the remnants of the center, would have an absolute majority in the new chamber.

Scared by Success.

These figures take into account all the "ballottages" and the estimate is based upon the chances of the Popular Front candidates as expressed in the vote they rolled up in the first round. Many factors may upset these calculations.

Despite this seeming left landslide nobody on the left, outside of the communists, who only were hoping for 30 to 40 seats against their present 12, was jubilant once the full import of the results sank in.

It is the very size of the expected communist gain combined with the expected loss of some 30 seats for the Radical Socialists which depresses the left leaders. They cannot count on the communists in formeing a government, and they fear that without them the new chamber will prove practically ungovernable, thus robbing the Popular Front of the fruits of its victories and creating a serious menace to Fascism.

Delay an Advantage.

In the glittering ballroom at the ministry of interior where returns from the whole country were tabulated and announced to the press there were already happy smiles on the faces of the left partisans at midnight—the very number of run-off elections was taken as proof of a left victory, owing to the superior electoral discipline of the Popular Front parties.

At 1 a. m. this feeling of satisfaction became a manifest air of triumph. At 1:30 a. m. the left avalanche was seen to be gathering so much momentum that triumph was giving way to worry.

"If this goes any further there may be a Fascist coup d'etat to prevent the installation of a revolutionary group," one of France's most famous mouthpieces of the left press declared with an uneasy look.

Ready for Trading.

The very proportions of the left victory in the first round of the elections, even if they do not provoke a Fascist reaction, may frighten middle class voters and cut down the Popular Front's gains in the second round. But more likely next Sunday's results will only intensify the tendency evident today.

In nearly every precinct where a run-off election must be held the Radical Socialists will withdraw and swing their votes to the Socialists, Socialists will do the same for the communists, and both will withdraw for a Radical Socialist when he is high man, so a Popular Front candidate is sure to beat a moderate or a Nationalist in nearly every case.

Whether this will produce a co

POTENT STUFF

Boston Widow, at 69, Plans to Wed Baron, 28

Boston, Mass., April 26.—(AP)—Mrs. Frederic E. Snow, 69 year old dowager, widow of a socially prominent and wealthy Boston lawyer, disclosed her engagement tonight to Baron Wilhelm Frary von Bomberg, 28 years old, a press agent.

The baron was known merely as William T. Frary of Lynn until his legal adoption in 1933 by the Baroness Adelheid Maria von Blomberg, 77 years old, of Boston. The baroness is an "old and dear" friend of Mrs. Snow and is a cousin of Gen. Werner von Blomberg, German minister of defense.

Baron von Blomberg was born in Lynn, the son of Edward L. and Margaret B. Frary. He is of Irish-Yankee stock and has no German blood. A baron by adoption, he just got under the wire, because three days after the title became official the reichstag passed a law prohibiting anything of the kind in the future.

The widow said in announcing her engagement: "I'm quite prepared for an avalanche of criticism when my friends and my friendly enemies learn of my plans."

One of her two sons, Crocker Snow, an aviator, remarked:

"I don't believe anything about the engagement, and I can guarantee there'll be no marriage."

Son Plans to Block License.

Said the other son, William T. Snow, executor of his father's large estate, which is held in trust: "The family is very much opposed to it. If any attempt is made to get a license, it would be prevented."

Mrs. Snow, who maintains a town house on fashionable Beacon State road in Boston and has a summer estate, The Glaciers, at Bourne, on Cape Cod, spoke freely about the background of her romance.

"Frankly, I don't know whether it's love or infatuation on my part," she said. "I know I've been very lonely this year and that Billy has been a great comfort and solace."

Lives in Baby Blue Cottage.

The baron, a press agent for confectionery, ice cream, and fish interests, and who lives in a cottage in Bolton painted baby blue, commented:

"We are in perfect accord. Our interests are the same. Our different environments have contributed to dissipate any inequality in years. I always have associated with older people and am, I am told, vastly mature beyond my years."

Mrs. Snow's husband, whom she married forty years ago, was partner in the important Boston law firm of Gaston, Snow, Saltonstall & Hunt. He died a year ago at the age of 71.

Germany Visited by Baron.

When the baroness adopted Frary attempts were made by the baroness' sister, Eva von Blomberg, to obtain appointment of a conservator for the sisters' supposed estates in Germany, on the grounds the Baroness Adelheid was "mentally weak and of advanced age."

The Baroness Adelheid consented to the appointment, but the court action later was dropped. After legally conferring her title on Frary she sent him to Germany.

TERRIER IS LOCKED UP FOR INTERFERING WITH FIVE NEW YORK TRAINS

New York, April 26.—[Special.]—Accused of interfering with operation of five trains, a terrier, age and owner unknown, was locked up at Coney Island police station today pending decision on what punishment, if any, fits his case.

The terrier first was noticed on the tracks of the elevated structure in Coney Island, just after noon. Five motormen of Coney Island bound trains stopped to chase him from the tracks. Two of them carried him to a station platform.

After each train had passed the dog went back to the tracks. Then a dispatcher called two patrolmen.

BEATS UP ROBBER WITH SOUVENIR BAT FROM CUBS

Forrest Henry, 923 Belmont avenue, has a baseball bat which he values highly because it was once used by the Chicago Cubs. The bat was given to him by Dr. John T. Davis, physician for the Cubs, who lives in the same apartment building.

Mr. Henry was awakened by the barking of his fox terrier early today and he heard a window opening. He seized the souvenir bat and rushed to the window to see a burglar coming in head first. Mr. Henry swung hard against the intruder's head, knocking him unconscious.

The Sheffield avenue police took the man to the Alexian Brothers hospital, where he was found to have a possible fracture of the skull. His condition was described as critical.

Cop Fires Shot in His Wife's Hospital Room

Police Sergeant Thaddeus M. Cullinan, 43 years old, was locked up at the North Damen street station for a time yesterday after he had forced his way into the Swedish Covenant hospital, 5145 North California avenue, and fired a shot into the wall of a room where his wife was a patient.

After his arrest it was learned that Cullinan was suspended Saturday on the orders of Supervising Captain Martin Mullen. The policeman, Capt. Mullen said, was charged with mistreating his wife after a prolonged drinking bout and failing to report for duty Friday night. He was desk sergeant at the Summerdale station until his suspension.

Forces Way to Room.

Mrs. Cullinan was taken to the hospital Thursday suffering from bruises on her face. According to Capt. Mullen, Cullinan attempted to visit his wife at the hospital Saturday afternoon, but was refused admittance. Enraged, he whipped out his revolver and forced his way to the door of his wife's room, where he fired the shot into the wall. He then fled.

Hospital authorities reported the shooting to the Summerdale police, and Lieut. Axel Jensen detailed two policemen at the hospital while Cullinan was sought. Yesterday Lieut. Matthew Hoff went to Cullinan's home at 5936 North Maplewood avenue and found the police sergeant there with his four children.

Faces Police Trial.

Cullinan was stripped of his star and revolver and informed he would face charges before the police trial board. He was released late yesterday when no one filed a complaint against him. He still faces action by the trial board, however, police officials said.

At the hospital Mrs. Cullinan defended her husband and said his gun was discharged accidentally while he was transferring it from one pocket to another.

Cullinan has been a member of the police force for 15 years, and previously had possessed a good record. Capt. Mullen said. He is the son of the late Lieut. Timothy Cullinan.

Chicago Boy Drowned Boating in Wisconsin

Racine, Wis., April 26.—[Special.]—Robert Ducolo, 10 years old, 3620 North Hoyne avenue, Chicago, was drowned today while riding in a boat on Eagle lake, Racine county. The body had not been recovered late tonight.

Student Knifes Self to Death in U. of C. Hall

Jack Schiffer, 21 years old, a first year medical student at the University of Chicago, was found stabbed to death last night in his apartment in Hitchcock hall, a men's dormitory on the university campus. Police decided from the evidence that the young man had killed himself.

Schiffer was the son of Samuel J. Schiffer of Brooklyn, N. Y. [682 Crown street], a New York City sweater manufacturer. He was graduated last year from Columbia university and was a member of Phi Beta Kappa, honorary scholastic fraternity. Schiffer was considered a brilliant student on the Midway.

Fellow Student Finds Body.

E. T. Baumgart of Danville, Ill., who occupied an adjoining room, discovered the body at 10 o'clock last night when he returned from a weekend at home. Schiffer lived in a two room suite in the dormitory, which houses well to do students.

"I entered the reception hall when I found the apartment door unlocked," Baumgart told Lieut. James Sullivan of the detective bureau, "and I called Jack's name but he did not answer. Something held his bedroom door when I opened it. I pushed it open until I could look in and saw Jack's body lying against the door."

Schiffer was wearing only the trousers of his pajamas. Apparently he stabbed himself with a dissecting knife while lying on the bed, and he had then rolled to the floor. The knife, about a foot long and part of the usual medical student equipment, was lying beside the body. It was an heirloom belonging to Baumgart and was dulled from years of disuse. The wound was over the heart.

Tells of Suicide Threats.

"Last Thursday Jack told me he had gone to the lake to drown himself but lost his nerve," said Baumgart. "I tried to talk him out of this obsession which he developed recently, but I guess I failed. He had been talking of suicide for about a week, and had been unable to study."

Schiffer was depressed because he was unable to return home for spring vacation, Baumgart told Lieut. Sullivan. A series of telegrams from his parents indicated Schiffer's father planned to arrive yesterday morning, but that the son sent word he was coming home.

An unopened telegram which Baumgart found under the door was signed "mother" and read: "Wire me collect when you will arrive."

Baumgart said his friend was also worried over the coming June examinations, though all of his friends knew that Schiffer was considered an exceptional student by his professors.

The dead youth's uncle, Benjamin Elboom, 1427 Clifton Park avenue, was notified by university officials and identified the body at the county morgue. He declared he did not believe his nephew had committed suicide and announced he would demand a thorough investigation.

"He was a good boy, a model boy, and he was always cheerful," Elboom said. "He had no financial troubles; his parents gave him all the money he wanted."

HAND TO HAND FIGHTING RAGES IN DRIVE NORTH

Ethiopians Beaten in 3 Day Struggle.

ROME, April 26.—(AP)—After several days of bitter fighting Sasa Baneh, gateway to Harrar, lies virtually within the hands of Italy's southern army, a war communique said today.

Marshal Pietro Badoglio, commander-in-chief of the African armies, reported victories by three separate wings of the Somaliland troops, commanded by Gen. Rodolfo Graziani.

An Italian press dispatch from Dessye said a motorized Italian column had departed from Dessye toward Addis Ababa.

Advance Guards Precede Column.

The dispatch said strong advance guards preceded this "formidable column."

[The Italians only last week reached Dessye, about 175 miles north and slightly east of Addis Ababa. The city had been the northern headquarters of Emperor Haile Selassie before he suffered severe defeats. Recent dispatches said Ethiopians were blasting and tearing up sections of the Dessye-Addis Ababa road to make the Fascist advance toward the capital as difficult as possible.]

The advance of Italy's southern army toward Harrar, Ethiopia's second largest city, was described by Marshal Badoglio in the following communique:

"After their victory at Giana Gobo, Gen. Graziani's troops again began the offensive against the fortified enemy line in the Sasa Baneh sector. On the afternoon of April 23 our left wing motorized column, commanded by Gen. Verne, occupied Dagamedo in a surprise movement.

Praise for Native Troops.

"At dawn April 24 important enemy forces, transported in trucks from Daggah Bur, attacked our position at Dagamedo. Fighting, which was very short, ended in our complete success. The fifth group of native troops distinguished itself in every way.

"Our motorized sections launched a pursuit of the enemy which left on the ground numerous dead and hundreds of rifles and ammunition. Our losses up until now total twenty national [Italian] and native soldiers dead and fifty wounded.

"The center column, commanded by Gen. Fusci, composed of national detachments, the majority being volunteers who were residing abroad, and Somaliland Arabs, after a rapid march approached and vigorously attacked powerful enemy positions at Hamanlei at dawn April 24.

Reports 1,000 Ethiopians Slain.

"Fighting, which lasted all day to our advantage, was begun again at daybreak April 25 by our troops who with fixed bayonets attacked the enemy as they hid in caverns in the Fafan valley and inflicted heavy losses. There were more than 1,000 dead. Hamanlei was then occupied.

"Our losses up to now for two days total 10 officers and two soldiers killed, nine soldiers wounded and 600 natives killed and wounded.

"We call particular attention to the heroic conduct of the sixth battalion of Somaliland Arabs.

Launch Attack on Trenches.

"The right column under Gen. Agostini, composed of units of the carabinieri, forest troops and natives, launched an attack on the morning of April 24 on trenches at Gunagasu, which was occupied at 10:30 a. m. The enemy forces, concealed in the rugged terrain, organized and presented stubborn resistance until they were overwhelmed.

"Our losses totaled up to the present one officer and five national soldiers killed and three officers and four noncommissioned officers, 50 soldiers and 20 natives wounded.

"Our columns have advanced thus far more than 200 kilometers [about 125 miles] from their bases of departure and are continuing irresistibly toward the north.

"Aviation is doing magnificent work in bombardment and reconnaisance. Seven machines were struck several times and two pilots wounded, one by a dumdum bullet."

15,000 Move on Addis Ababa.

DESSYE, Ethiopia, April 26. (AP)—A tremendous Italian motor cavalcade, carrying 15,000 troops, roared out of Dessye at dawn today on the road toward Addis Ababa. The departure was the apex of the Italian effort to conquer this African nation, and Italian officers hoped it would be the beginning of the final move in the war.

As the sun rose over the hills of Emperor Haile Selassie's former headquarters, more than a thousand trucks, each carrying 15 men, thundered out of Dessye. This entire white army column, it was indicated, will form the spearhead of the Fascist thrust toward the Negus' capital. Native troops and other Italian soldiers were already far down the imperial highway on foot.

Extra Trucks Go Along.

Auxiliary trucks, to replace those which might break down, and tremendous quantities of supplies went out with the soldiers, as did machine guns and motorcycles.

Most of Dessye's population assembled to cheer the start of the Italian push to the south. Long lines of natives who have submitted at Italian headquarters watched the departure.

There was none of the truck bogging rain which the Ethiopians have expected to aid them so greatly. Sunshine poured down on the tropical, flower-bedecked landscape.

Ethiopia Stiffens Resistance.

ADDIS ABABA, April 26.—(AP)—Ethiopian officials expressed confidence today as a reorganization of the armies continued with fresh troops moving to the front.

Warriors who lack patriotism and do not comprehend modern methods of warfare, the government asserted, are being weeded out. Smaller units are cooperating closely and utilizing the difficult terrain to adopt guerrilla tactics.

The government said the proximity of battlefields with the homeland of Amhara warriors facilitates supplies and fires the troops with the sentiment of defending their homes.

The general opinion here was that the Italian army could be held off if it tries to come in from Dessye by small detachments concealed in mountain caves with only a few grenades and machine guns. Therefore, it was asserted by Ethiopians, the Italians are likely to attack the railroad running to French Somaliland before attempting to advance to the capital.

BELGIAN BORN PRINCESS WINS HEART OF ITALY

Writes Legend by War Service in Africa.

ROME, April 26.—(AP)—The war demeanor of beautiful Marie José, Belgian born crown princess of Italy, has crowned her in Italian hearts as a woman who can "give all while suffering much."

Like some legendary princess, Marie José has shelved home loyalties and thrown herself whole-heartedly into the grim realities of war in Africa and the sanctions siege directed against Italy by her own and other countries.

Trained in Medicine.

This is her recent record:

She is now in East Africa doing a tour of Red Cross work in the armies. A graduate of a course in tropical medicine, she sailed on this task March 26 aboard the hospital ship Cesarea.

Shortly before sanctions were declared against Italy Nov. 18, 1935, Marie José joined her husband, Prince Umberto, in eliminating all wastage of light and heating power in their Naples palace, helped to reduce its food costs, and eliminated luxuries.

A month later, while her husband's duties as commanding general of the Naples area became intensified, Marie José set up an establishment to feed daily 100 children of poor soldiers on African assignment. In this same month she joined Queen Elena in submitting her wedding ring to the nation.

She has made frequent appearances with her husband at regular troop and Black Shirt volunteer rallies.

Bears Up Under Grief.

Italians who feel with the crown princess the sorrow caused by the strain between her homeland and the nation to which she will one day be queen, recall also her quiet courage in the face of deep and recent personal grief.

The crown princess had hardly recovered from the tragic death of her father, the late King Albert of the Belgians, in a mountain climbing accident in February, 1934, when her sister-in-law, Queen Astrid of the Belgians, was killed in an auto accident on the shores of Lake Geneva. The accident also brought injuries to her brother, King Leopold.

Italians remembered these things as their princess sailed away to nurse the boys in Africa. They jammed the Naples warterfront while her husband and Queen Elena bade her "bon voyage."

ETHIOPIA SEEKS LOAN OF $5,000,000 TO BUY AIR FLEET FOR WAR

LONDON, April 26.—(AP)—The first big scale move by the Ethiopian government to remedy its appalling weakness in military aviation, possibly late in the war, has been launched here by Dr. Azaj Warouex Martin, Ethiopian minister to Great Britain.

Dr. Martin has appealed for a private loan of $5,000,000 at 2 per cent from 100,000 subscribers to buy a formidable air fleet for Ethiopia. The entire Ethiopian air force consisted of only twelve planes at the start of this year. Since then the Italians have destroyed all but five machines and one was wrecked accidentally.

Even if Dr. Martin gets his money and his planes, his country faces a seemingly hopeless task to enroll or train enough pilots and mechanics to man them. The lack of airdromes or even practical sites for airdromes in the rugged African empire, as well as the cost of upkeep, including oil, would be desperate problems for an emperor whose war funds are already reported running short. But Dr. Martin's enthusiasm in his new campaign is not in the least dampened by this outlook.

"Already several thousand dollars have been subscribed," he said. "We want 100 planes to deal effectively and quickly with our enemy and we already have an offer of twelve new planes. I don't foresee any trouble in getting the planes when we have the money."

Funeral services will be held jointly tomorrow for a mother and her daughter both of whom had lived in Chicago for 75 years—mostly in the Chicago Lawn district—and who died within a day of each other. They are Mrs. Abagail Richards Whitaker, 101 years old, and Mrs. Clara Whitaker Ryan, 77. They lived together at 3513 West 64th place.

Mrs. Ryan died Saturday morning and her mother the following morning. Both died at home. Mrs. Whitaker had been unconscious for several days and did not know of the death of her daughter, according to Dr. Christian D. Hauch, who attended them.

The funeral services will be held at the chapel at 63d and Troy streets at 10 a. m. Mrs. Whitaker's body will be taken then to North Creek, N. Y., for burial. Mrs. Ryan will be buried in Mount Hope cemetery.

Mrs. Whitaker, who observed her 101st birthday on Jan. 6, came to Chicago 75 years ago when Mrs. Ryan was 2 years old. Her first home here was at the corner of State street and Jackson boulevard where a clothing store now stands.

DRAFT MEASURE TO TAX COUNTIES FOR RELIEF CASH

Bills Will Be Ready for Assembly Tonight.

DeWitt C. Billman, secretary of the legislative reference bureau, worked yesterday on a draft of bills for submission to the Illinois general assembly tonight that would create an authority in each county with power only to issue bonds to finance relief budgets.

This new plan for raising relief money was broached at Springfield last week as having the support of Gov. Horner. It is intended to raise in the various counties the $36,000,000 annually that it has been estimated is needed for relief in addition to the $24,000,000 supplied by the state from the sales tax.

Assured Plan Is Legal.

Billman has consulted Chicago attorneys expert in tax matters. Gov. Horner said yesterday that Billman had been assured that the plan was legal, and that he is attempting to draft the necessary bills in time to present them to both houses of the legislature tonight.

"The bills," said the governor, "will require the counties to do their share of relief financing instead of placing the entire burden upon the state."

After July 1 the administration of relief is scheduled to pass to the townships, except in Chicago, where the city government is due to levy relief taxes and have the responsibility. The Billman measures would put relief back into the counties.

Special relief committees of Chicago and Cook county have urged a $30,000,000 state bond issue, a plan that has the emphatic disapproval of the governor. And there is pending in the legislature a bill to appropriate $6,000,000 from the state general revenue fund to augment relief moneys in May and June.

IERC Offices Close Thursday.

In accordance with a recent act of the legislature the Illinois Emergency Relief commission is to expire on May 1 and all its offices in the state have been notified to close their offices and dismiss their forces on Thursday. The legislature, however, has bills pending to continue the IERC as an agency to distribute to the counties the relief money raised by the sales tax.

The main reason for the state's embroilment in relief financing problems is the decision of the federal government late last year to give the state no money for direct relief, the plan being for the federal government to take care of the employables and the states the unemployables.

This policy has failed to stabilize relief financing, according to reports made to the American Municipal association by its member cities and published in the current issue of Public Welfare News.

Cannot Cope with Problem.

The opinion is expressed by the cities, according to this canvass, that "it is impossible for the local units of government, supported in the main by the property tax and handicapped by tax delinquencies, to finance the burden of unemployables and in addition a relatively large number of employables."

INVESTIGATE $198,000 JEWEL LOSS

BARONESS MAUD VON THYSSEN.

On New Trail

MADRID, April 26.—(AP)—An investigation into the reported disappearance of approximately $198,000 worth of jewelry from the automobile in which Prince Alexis Mdivani lost his life near Barcelona last August was ordered reopened today. Police reported a new development which they hoped might shed light on the strange case.

Baroness Maud von Thyssen, the prince's companion on the night he was killed, reported that a satchel containing gems was on her lap when the car overturned but could not be found after the accident. Police efforts to trace the gems were futile and the case was closed as an unsolved mystery.

The order to reopen the investigation followed the filing of a suit by the estate of a physician to collect professional fees. The physician was Dr. Francisco Coll Turbau who was credited with saving the baroness' life and sight after several physicians had said her case was hopeless. The doctor died March 14 and the executor of his estate reported the baroness refused to pay the bill on the ground she had no funds, but volunteered to pay "if and when the lost jewels are recovered."

Police said the executor asserted he had information the jewels were disposed of in Paris. Working on this new lead, Barcelona police asked French authorities to aid and meanwhile renewed an investigation in Spain.

KENTUCKY TOWN SLOWLY FALLING INTO OHIO RIVER

Undermined by Floods; Buildings Crumble.

Smithland, Ky., April 26.—[Special.]—Undermined by recent flood waters, the river front of this town, one of the oldest in Kentucky, was slowly crumbling into the Ohio river tonight.

All buildings on Front street, bordering the stream, were endangered. Part of one structure, built in 1840, had caved in. It was the furniture store of I. R. Brandstetter.

The big crash came at 2 o'clock this afternoon, but residents were warned yesterday when a large crack, nearly a quarter of a mile in length, suddenly appeared. The crumbling extends 60 feet back from the present stage of the river.

Citizens Fear Quick Sand.

It could not be determined how far back into the town the crumbling would extend. Old residents say the town is underlaid with quick sand. A definite break was noticed under the porch of the Clark hotel, more than a block from the river front.

Large trees which stood directly in front of the furniture store were nearly a hundred feet out in the river tonight. A rocked road was gone. Benches on which old residents sat and discussed politics were crumbled down in the stream.

Engineer Fears the Worst.

C. J. Rhodes, chief engineer at the United States engineer's office here, after a survey of the district, said he expected "most of the front" to cave in.

"There is nothing we can do about it," he said. "We're forced to sit by and watch the street and buildings topple into the river."

10,000 BROOKLYN BARBERS CALLED TO STRIKE TODAY

New York, April 26.—[Special.]—A strike of barbers in all shops in Brooklyn, except the Brownsville section, was called for tomorrow by the Journeymen Barbers' International Union of America, local 217, today. The union expects 10,000 men in 3,500 barber shops to respond. The Brownsville barbers will meet today to consider similar action.

The demands of the union include a guarantee wage of $25 a week, a 50 per cent commission on all shop earnings for men whose chairs earn more than $40, establishment of a 7 p. m. closing hour, four holidays a year with pay, a five day week, and standardization of prices to make possible compliance with these demands.

Two Persons Are Killed, 4 Injured in Brooklyn Fire

New York, April 27 [Monday].—(AP)—Two persons were killed and four seriously injured in a fire that swept the four story brick home of Bernard Schultz early today. The fire, which started in the basement, apparently did not damage the house extensively. The cause was not immediately determined.

REFUELING TEST WITH SPEEDBOAT IS SUCCESSFUL

Successful refueling of a speedboat in motion was promised when Andy Gantner, pilot of the outboard boat Lucky Girl, caught the end of a hose dropped from an airplane and held it momentarily during a test off Navy pier yesterday.

The test, made after the Lucky Girl had been christened by Miss Katherine Campbell, was tried to determine the possibility of the speedboat's being refueled during an anticipated nonstop run from Milwaukee to Chicago next Sunday. Art Chester, who is to fly the refueling plane, was its pilot on the test run.

The 80 mile Milwaukee-Chicago run will be tried if weather permits. Refueling of the boat will be attempted off Kenosha.

THREE OCEAN LINERS SPEED TO 3 VESSELS IN DISTRESS AT SEA

New York, April 26.—(AP)—Three ships were reported in distress in North Atlantic waters tonight, turning liners from their courses to give aid.

The British freighter St. Quentin first reported itself in trouble with its radio room flooded and its steering gear damaged. The call was answered by the North German Lloyd liner Bremen, the Gdynia-American liner Pilsudski, and the United States liner Washington.

Later the Norasiatic freighter Ivanhoe reported a broken rudder and the Pilsudski turned from the search for the St. Quentin to give the Ivanhoe aid.

The third distress call was received by the Radio Marine corporation from the British cargo steamship Rushpool. The message did not reveal the nature of its trouble and other sources had not received the call.

The St. Quentin and the Ivanhoe both were on North Atlantic steamer lanes with the former about a third of the way from England to Newfoundland and the latter farther north and eastward.

Fireman Injured in Hotel Blaze Dies After Plunge

Fireman Clarence Lesperance, 30 years old, 4306 North Troy street, died last night in the Alexian Brothers hospital of injuries suffered April 23 in a plunge from a second floor window of the hospital. Hospital attendants said he had been delirious before the fall. Lesperance was injured on April 12 while fighting the fire which destroyed the Douglas home, a landmark at 3502 Vincennes avenue.

BOSTON POLICE SEEK MISSING RETIRED PASTOR

Boston, Mass., April 26.—[Special.]—An extensive search by police tonight had failed to locate the Rev. Frank A. Everett, 77 year old retired Methodist minister of Wellesley, who last was seen Saturday in Brookline.

The clergyman, a descendant of Edward Everett and Edward Everett Hale, had been visiting a daughter, Mrs. Milo Brown of Brookline, and during the afternoon went for a walk in Brookline.

Wellesley police said Mr. Everett was rather frail and partially blind. They were unable to understand how he could have wandered very far.

31 DEAD: 5 YEAR SUBURBAN RAIL CROSSING TOLL

Six Killed in One Day in 3 Train-Auto Crashes.

The killing of a family of four Saturday night when their automobile was struck by the International Limited of the Grand Trunk railroad at the Wood street crossing in Harvey was the eleventh tragedy at that railroad's crossings in that suburb and Dixmoor in the last five years. Thirty-one people have been killed in these accidents, including the four Saturday night.

The only protection for motorists at the "death crossings" of the Grand Trunk Line in Harvey are flashing electric signals, installed six months ago on order of the Illinois commerce commission. There are neither gates nor watchmen at the intersections.

Grade Separations Needed.

Mayor Frank Bruggeman of Harvey and officials of the commerce commission and the Chicago Motor club said yesterday the only way of preventing further fatalities will be by building grade separations at the crossings. This the railroad is unable to do because of financial difficulties and efforts have been made in the last few years, without success, to obtain federal funds for the projects.

"The signals are not enough protection," Mayor Bruggeman said, "and grade separations alone can cut down his terrific death toll. The Grand Trunk Line tracks run through the heart of the city in a northeasterly direction and there are six dangerous crossings. The trains travel too fast. The lack of grade separations is a constant hazard to pupils of the Thornton township high school who must cross the tracks."

Benjamin F. Lindheimer, chairman of the commerce commission, said he inspected the crossings recently and believed they now had "every possible form of protection, except the grade separations."

Federal Funds Sought.

Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor club, said the tragedy Saturday night would add impetus to the movement of civic groups throughout the county to obtain federal money for building grade separations.

Those killed Saturday night were Joseph Falcone, 32 years old; his wife, Marie, 27 years old, and their two sons, Charles Richard, 3 years old, and Nuncio, 6 years old. The family lived at 142d street and Hoyne avenue in Dixmoor.

The red light was flashing as Falcone drove north on Wood street and halted for a freight train going east. At that hour the freight train meets a passenger train going west at the Wood street crossing. After the freight passed, Falcone—unaware of the passenger train—started his car across the tracks and into its path. The automobile was hurled against a light post on the south side of the crossing and was cut in two.

6 Killed in One Day.

The death of the Falcone family made a total of six people killed in railroad crossing tragedies in this area Saturday. Elias Borresen, 45 years old, of West Allis, Wis., was killed when his automobile was struck by a southbound Erie passenger train in 118th street near Torrence avenue. Elmer Quist, 48 years old, 6754 South Irving avenue, was killed when his bakery truck was hit by the Chicago bound Duluth-Superior Limited of the Soo Line railroad at the Woodlawn avenue crossing in Des Plaines.

On two occasions parties of seven persons have been killed at railroad crossings in Harvey. Seven persons returning from a New Year's eve party met death on Jan. 1, 1931, when their car was struck by a Grand Trunk passenger train.

Four men and three women, employés of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, were killed on Dec. 26, 1934, when the automobile in which they were riding was demolished by the International Limited, the same train which figured in Saturday night's tragedy, at the crossing at Halsted street near 154th place.

On May 26, 1933, a couple and their 5 year old daughter were killed when their car was struck by the Limited at 167th street and South Park way. The automobile was hurled against a watchman's shanty.

Other Crossing Victims.

Joseph L. Carneke, 3513 West 62d place, and Mrs. Elmer Arnold, a taxi dancer, were killed on Nov. 18, 1932, when their car was struck by a passenger train on the Western avenue crossing at 144th street in Dixmoor.

On Dec. 28, 1934—two days after the tragedy in which the relief workers perished—Mrs. Marie Metzinger, wife of a physician, and her daughter, Leona, were killed, and her husband, Dr. Leon Metzinger, was injured when their automobile was hit by the International Limited. The second accident occurred only a short distance from the first.

Two people were killed at one of the crossings on Aug. 24, 1935. On Dec. 13, 1935, Frank Parzer of Harvey was killed when his truck was hit by the Maple Leaf Limited of the Grand Trunk Line at 162d street and Broadway. Other accidents at the crossing, in each of which one person perished, were on Oct. 9, 1932, and on Feb. 13 and Sept. 13, 1934.

NATION IS WARNED BY SENATOR CAPPER OF DEBT TO BE PAID

New York, April 26.—[Special.]—Asserting that Uncle Sam had been indulging in an orgy of borrowing and spending, Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas today declared that pay day was approaching for the peoplt of this country and that expenditures of the federal government must be reduced.

Senator Capper said although federal revenues had increased steadily during the last three years, $3,100,000,000 for 1934, $3,800,000,000 for 1935, and an estimated $4,400,000,000 for 1936, expenditures and the deficit had increased more rapidly.

"The federal government spent 5,143 millions in the fiscal year 1933, the last year of President Hoover," Senator Capper said. During the present fiscal year the government will spend more than 8,000 millions. Just how much more no one can say.

PANA MINISTER BARS FLOWERS FROM CEMETERY

Pana, Ill., April 26.—[Special.]—The dead should be honored by masses for the repose of their souls rather than by decoration of their graves with flowers, the Rev. L. J. Mattingly, assistant pastor of St. Patrick's church, declared today in his sermon.

Holding that floral decorations in reality are a "desecration" of the dead, the priest stated that henceforth there will be no flowers laid on graves in Calvary cemetery. He added that shrubs or other plants already there will be removed.

Mount Carmel, Ill., April 26.—(AP)—Three persons were killed and another was injured early today when the small coupe in which they were riding crashed into a bridge abutment on state highway No. 1 near Allendale.

The dead: Leland Dixon, 25, Hazleton, Ind.; Helen Smith, 24, Vincennes, Ind.; Gladys Tisdale, 18, Mount Carmel.

Clarence Anthis, 25, Hazleton, Ind., was slightly injured. The car, after striking the abutment, fell into a water-filled ditch, crushing the skulls of his three companions.

The bodies were brought here for an inquest by Coroner C. E. Gilliatt, who returned a verdict of accidental death.

MOTORISTS KILL PEDESTRIAN, FLEE; ARE CAPTURED

A hit and run motorist and his companion were held by Riverdale police yesterday after their car struck and killed Herman Rhode, 45 years old, a railroad section hand, at 139th and Halsted streets. Police said both men were intoxicated. Their car was forced to the curb by Dr. Ernest R. Proctor, 6543 Ingleside avenue, a passing motorist, who witnessed the accident and gave chase. With the aid of other motorists, the physician held the two until police arrived.

They gave their names as John Vaughn, 33 years old, driver of the car, and John Underwood, 32 years old, both of Harvey. "How could I kill anyone when I didn't see anyone," Vaughn was quoted as saying when Sergt. William Nottorf questioned him.

Frank Kourlas, 51 years old, 4547 Wentworth avenue, died in Evangelical hospital early today from injuries received Saturday night in front of his home when he was struck by the car of a hit and run driver. His skull was fractured and both legs broken.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 304 persons had been killed in automobile accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1. In the same period 241 were killed and 4,781 injured in Chicago.

PAROLEE SEIZED LOOTING TAILOR SHOP OF SUITS

Harvey Callow, 24 years old, 1738 Bissell street, a paroled convict from the Pontiac reformatory, was arrested early yesterday after he broke into the Brighton Cleaning and Tailoring plant at 20 South Kedzie avenue. A squad from the Warren avenue station, passing the establishment, observed him removing suits of clothing from the racks. Callow was sentenced to the reformatory for a term of one to ten years on March 27, 1929, after he was arrested while robbing a store. He is still under a parole issued on June 3, 1933, according to the police.

DOCTORS EXPECT TO SAVE FEET OF MINE SURVIVOR

HALIFAX, N. S., April 26.—(AP)—Improvement in the condition of Charles Alfred Scadding, one of the two men rescued from the Moose River gold mine after being entombed for ten days, was announced tonight by his physicians.

"The condition of his feet and legs," said a bulletin issued by Dr. H. K. MacDonald and Dr. W. Donald Rankins, "is so greatly improved that we can hope that surgical interference will be unnecessary. He had a good night's rest and is taking nourishment well. His outlook is, as it always has been, cheerful."

Scadding is in a hospital here, where Dr. D. E. Robertson, his companion in the mine pit, is recovering from the effects of the long entombment without much food. Herman Magill, the third man trapped in the mine, died of pneumonia before rescuers could reach the trio.

Dr. Robertson disclosed that an account of their experience will be made public through the Red Cross of Canada as soon as possible. Proceeds derived from the sale of the account will be used partly to aid Scadding and partly as a fund for future mine disasters in Nova Scotia or for purposes that the provincial government and Red Cross consider best.

G. O. P. TO START SALE OF MILLION $1 SHARES TODAY

Both Parties to Assemble in County Conventions.

BY STANLEY ARMSTRONG.

The Republican party's drive for campaign funds through the sale of one million "dollar participation certificates" starts today in the territory west of Ohio with the opening of western headquarters in Chicago, C. B. Goodspeed, assistant treasurer of the Republican national committee, announced yesterday.

George A. Paddock, Chicago investment banker, will have charge of the certificate campaign with headquarters at 80 East Jackson boulevard. Two years ago he was chairman of the Illinois Republican finance committee that raised money for the 1934 Republican campaign in Illinois.

"The recent announcement by the Republican national committee of its intention to seek financial support for the party's campaign from citizens of average means," said Mr. Paddock, "has brought thousands of inquiries to the committee.

People Realize the Cost.

"The average citizen has a tremendous stake in the coming election and many of them realize continuation of the present federal spending orgy means that every pay day is becoming more and more a 'pay up' day with government even now exacting $200 a year in visible and hidden taxes from every worker."

Funds raised through the sale of the certificates will be divided equally between the national committee and the county committee in the county in which the contributor lives.

Republican state and county organizations will distribute postage paid return envelopes in which contributions can be sent to the national committee. Each contributor of a dollar or more will receive a certificate attesting that he is "a participant in the work of bringing about a return to the fundamental principles of our government."

Cook County Convention Today.

Republican and Democratic ward and township committeemen in Cook county will meet today in county conventions to organize the new committees that were elected on April 14. The Democratic affair is expected to be a quiet one.

In the program worked out by the Democrats for their county convention there is scheduled the reëlection of P. A. Nash as county chairman and County Treasurer Joseph L. Gill as secretary. There will be a resolution indorsing the county and state tickets, including Gov. Horner, whom the committee fought in the primary.

The resolution is slated to be submitted by a committeeman close to Nash, which is interpreted as a preliminary move in a rapprochement between the governor and the Chicago Democrats. Nash, Ald. J. M. Arvey [24th], and Judge John J. Sullivan of the Appellate court plan to visit Springfield on Tuesday to make plans for the state convention on Friday. Nash, or perhaps all three, are expected to talk to the governor as a further gesture.

Moore Likely to Head G. O. P.

More action had been expected to develop in the Republican county convention, but last night politicians predicted on the basis of a canvass of the new committeemen that Edward F. Moore [30th], secretary of the old group, would be elected chairman of the new committee. The other candidate mentioned is Patrick Sheridan Smith [6th].

Moore was one of the original sponsors of Wayland Brooks for the Republican nomination for governor and the only west side committeeman who stood out in the county committee for an indorsement of the Brooks candidacy. The prediction was that the caucus before the convention convenes would show Moore supported by two-thirds of the ward committeemen and 90 per cent of the township committeemen.

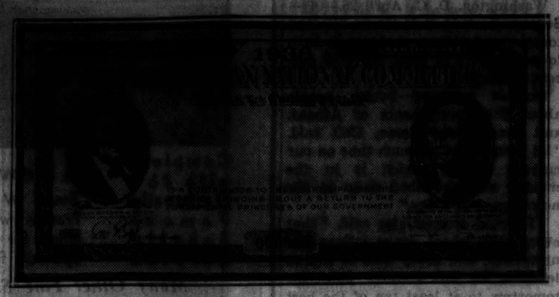
For secretary, Robert C. Rohn [19th], one of the younger aids at Brooks' headquarters, was said to be assured of election over William S. Finucane [11th], the only other candidate mentioned for this position.

Four for State Chairman.

Thomas J. Houston, chairman of the executive committee of the Republican state central committee, was mentioned yesterday as a fourth candidate for state chairman. Houston represents the 10th congressional district in which resido two Republican state candidates, Brooks and William J. Stratton, nominee for secretary of state.

The other candidates are: the present chairman, Jonn H. Searing of Carbondale; Perry A. McCullough of Lawrenceville, and Roy R. Barnes of Bushnell.

REPUBLICAN CERTIFICATE



Participation certificate to be issued to dollar contributors to the Republican national committee's campaign fund when western headquarters of the committee are established in Chicago today.

"BREAD BASKET" OF WORLD TURNS TO DAIRY FARMS

Crookston, Minn., April 26.—(AP)—The "bread basket of the world"—the Red River valley—is turning to the milk pail to maintain farm incomes.

Driven from wheat fields by three years of dust storms, drouths, and rust, and by this year's cold spring, farmers are diversifying their crops to put dairying in a leading role.

"The dairying outlook," said Fred R. Crene, former agricultural development agent for the Great Northern railroad, which under James J. Hill tapped the "bread basket" 50 years ago, "is good. Feed is plentiful and cheap, and prices for milk and dairy products are fairly steady at a good level."

Old-timers, however, are not ready to see wheat abdicate.

FARMERS URGE SINGLE BALLOT FOR PRIMARIES

Rockford, Ill., April 26.—[Special.]—Members of Winnebago county Pomona grange, assailing the present method of issuing ballots at primary elections, adopted a resolution last night asking that both party tickets be printed on one ballot so no election official may know how any person votes.

It was contended many farmers feared to vote at the recent primary because they feared their choice of party ballots might influence a decision later on any application for farm aid they might make.

By placing both party tickets on one ballot, it was pointed out, no person would know for which party any other person voted.

Heel Lost by Corn Thief Brings Arrest, Confession

Logansport, Ind., April 26.—[Special.]—When Sheriff Dewey Schmidt went to the scene of a farm theft of 100 bushels of corn he picked up a heel from a shoe. Ten hours later state police arrested Oliver Bush, 49, on a charge of driving when intoxicated. A heel was missing from his shoe. Bush confessed the theft.

Leaps Against Airplane Propeller to Kill Self

LIMA, Peru, April 26.—(AP)—The newspaper El Comercio said today that a Peruvian army captain, Reptull Barrantes, tired of living in ill health, killed himself by dashing against the whirling propeller of an airplane. The plane was preparing to take off for Lima from Pucallpa port, on the banks of the Ucayali river, in the jungles.

Why women like to smoke a Cork tip

● Women have found that a cork tip looks so much neater and feels so much nicer. It doesn't stick to the lips—and it doesn't leave unsightly red on the tips. Try Tareyton—There's something about them you'll like. The cool, clean cork tip adds the dainty finishing touch to Tareyton's finer, milder tobaccos—quality that ordinary cigarettes cannot afford.

ROOSEVELT AT HYDE PARK HOME FOR 2 DAY REST

Will Return to the Capital Tomorrow.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hyde Park, N. Y., April 26.—[Special.]—In the seclusion of his family estate on the Hudson river, President Roosevelt rested today after delivering another page of his platform in November last night before the National Democratic club in New York City.

Mr. Roosevelt came to his home by auto, leaving a perplexed Tammany behind him. Members of the political organization, which never has warmed up to Roosevelt, had expected to have an olive branch thrust out by the President, but got thirty minutes on the old New Deal theme of the abundant life.

Calls Upon Daughter.

The President spent the night in his town house at 49 East 65th street. After breakfast this morning he drove to the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Boettiger at 2 West 53d street. Mr. Roosevelt spent a half hour in the visit. He then reentered his automobile and drove for more than two hours along the Hudson to the family home. With him were Mrs. Roosevelt and his mother, Mrs. James Roosevelt.

At the home he was met by his youngest son, John, who came down from Harvard university to look over the trees of the estate with his father. John, like his father, is a forestry enthusiast. The President has turned over much of his estate for planting by the state forestry school.

Studies Reaction to Speech.

Two hours were spent in the inspection tour and a drive about the estate. Late in the afternoon the President went to his study, where he studied over early reaction to his address.

Mr. Roosevelt will leave for the White House tomorrow night and will arrive in Washington Tuesday morning. The visit here was made principally for the tree inspection.

TWO FACE COURT TODAY IN JURY PAY FRAUD PLOT

Two men will be arraigned in the Felony court this morning on charges of conspiracy to defraud the county by forged jurors' pay vouchers. The two are Alonzo Bigley, 5498 University avenue, a sheriff's bailif, and Stanley Golata, 1120 Cornell street, a former juror.

Golata is said to have admitted receiving a $50 pay voucher for jury services which he did not perform. Bigley, according to the authorities, issued the voucher. Assistant State's Attorney Mal Coghlan today will summon nearly 200 persons whose names are on the jury lists since last October to learn what actual services they rendered.

Hugh Falvey, 2300 Lincoln Park West, a clerk in the jury room in the county building, was arrested on the same charges during the week and his case has been set for hearing May 18. Bigley was released in $5,000 bail Saturday. Golata is still in custody.

Gen. Hagood to Be Guest at Defense Meeting

Maj. Gen. Johnson Hagood who will assume command of Sixth corps area army here this week, will be one of the guests together with Rear Admiral John Downes, commandant of the Great Lakes Naval Training camp, at the national defense meeting May 15 of the Chicago section of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers in the Stevens hotel.

PROGRESSIVES ADOPT CALIFORNIA PROGRAM; BACK AGE PENSIONS

Los Angeles, Cal., April 26.—(AP)—California's "Progressive Democrats," led by an opponent of United States Senator William Gibbs McAdoo, displayed a platform for old age pensions and a unicameral legislature tonight.

Approximately 1,000 delegates, attending the first convention, adopted "articles of principles" here yesterday at a meeting called by State Senator Culbert L. Olson and made plans to solidify northern California followers at a San Francisco convention May 16.

No mention was made of taking sides in the May 5 Democratic primary election in which three factional slates are candidates for the national party convention.

One is the slate selected by President Roosevelt, on which Senator McAdoo's name appears, another is the so-called "Epic slate" selected after Senator Olson withdrew from the Roosevelt slate, objecting to McAdoo's inclusion, and the third is the "Townsend plan" list.

MOTHERS TO BE ILLINI GUESTS FOR THREE DAYS

Urbana, Ill., April 26.—[Special.]—The University of Illinois campus will be the mecca of several thousand mothers of students Friday, Saturday and Sunday who will come here to attend the annual Mothers' day weekend festivities.

Extensive arrangements have been made for the entertainment of the visitors. Dorothy M. Randall, Peoria, Ill., a member of Chi Omega sorority, who has been chosen queen of the May, will preside over Saturday afternoon festivities during which she will be crowned.

A meeting for the Illini mothers will be held Saturday morning. Georgia Lee Bull, Urbana and S. N. Tideman Jr., Chicago, are co-chairmen of the celebration.

Woman, 55, Kills Herself; Body Found by Daughter

Mrs. Ella O'Brien, 55 years old, was found dead last night in her apartment at 6917 Stony Island avenue, apparently the victim of a self-inflicted bullet wound. The body was found by her daughter, Miss Ruth O'Brien, 4062 Kenmore avenue, who said her mother had been despondent since the death of another daughter eighteen months ago.

Oakland, Cal., April 26.—(AP)—Too much kitchen kibitzing by Hans Schlomka sent his wife, Boerton, to the divorce courts. "He wanted to do the cooking, judge, and was mad because I wouldn't let him," Mrs. Schlomka said in winning a decree.

FIND ROOSEVELT THESIS SETS UP ECONOMIC BAR

Speech Strikes at Hopes of Wage Earners.

remove the obstacles to price reductions which now exist, wherever they are. It is the only way that people who live in small towns or on farms, or otherwise do not work for wages, can fully participate in our economic progress. And unless these do participate, we can have no broad, continued progress."

Nonearners Are Penalized.

Potential price reductions made possible by technological progress, according to the Brookings institution, were largely absorbed by wage increases at the expense of consumers who were not wage earners.

"Organized labor for many years," said Dr. Moulton, "has tried to obtain the benefits of increased efficiency by pressure for higher wages. When improvements in production methods in a given plant made it possible to turn out two articles at what one previously had cost, organized labor sought to direct the savings into higher wages.

"This gave certain groups of workers more purchasing power, but the effect on farmers has not been favorable. An economic disparity was created between two great segments of our population, raising a serious barrier to economic progress.

"But if we permit the fruits of man's inventive genius and technological advance to reach the people in the form of price reductions, no such barriers are raised. All classes benefit alike to the extent that they are consumers; the chief gain is in the low income groups, where it is most needed.

"Price reductions, of course, must not come from wage cuts, if they are to increase purchasing power. But we must reduce prices as we learn to make things more cheaply. Increased efficiency makes price reductions possible; competition insures that they actually take place."

U. S. Corporal Gets Medal Today for Saving Soldier

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PANAMA CITY, April 26.—Maj. Gen. Lytle Brown, commander of the Panama canal department of the United States army, will present a medal to Corporal Clyde E. Gilmore, 32, of Highland, Kas., at Albrook field tomorrow in recognition of an act of heroism. Gilmore is credited with saving the life of a fellow soldier whose clothing had caught fire. The corporal, a member of the 16th pursuit group of the air corps, stripped the burning garments from his comrade during a gasoline fire in a hangar.

SENATOR URGES REGULAR STUDY OF NEWSPAPERS

Washington, D. C., April 26.—(AP)—Senator Rush D. Holt (Dem., W. Va.) today urged college students to turn to newspapers in their study of current history.

Besides teaching young people about the governments of Athens, and Greece, and Rome, Holt said, "let them spend as much time on our current history which is in the making and described daily in the newspapers of today."

"I would suggest," he said, "that every high school, every college and university, and every seat of higher learning in this country subscribe tomorrow to at least ten of the best of our newspapers—and I don't mean just big metropolitan dailies—and that the students study these newspapers for the current history reported, as thoroughly and as intensively as they do the reports of the doings of peoples long dead."

A MESSAGE FROM

GENERAL MOTORS

TO EVERYONE WHO

BUYS A CAR "ON TIME"

GENERAL MOTORS attributes its growth and position in the automotive field to two fundamental business principles: First, to give outstanding value in every price class and Second, to put General Motors cars in the hands of buyers at the lowest possible cost.

Buyers of automobiles are divided between cash buyers and those who prefer to buy "on time" or out of current income; so that the interest of General Motors in the "time buyer" is of the same importance as in the cash buyer.

The cheapest way to buy any car is to pay cash. The next cheapest way to buy a car is to pay as much down as possible and as much per month as possible and acquire ownership as soon as possible.

But the most satisfactory, reasonable, and economical way to buy a car "on time" is to arrange your payments to suit your purse—in other words according to your circumstances and income. If you pay more per month than you can comfortably afford, your car may become a burden and not a pleasure. If you pay less per month than you can comfortably afford, you pay for a financing service you do not need.

Therefore, the General Motors Instalment Plan, operated by General Motors Acceptance Corporation, is placed at the service of "time buyers" of General Motors cars in order to insure that their best interests may be served.

This plan enables dealers in General Motors cars to arrange the payments best suited to the buyer's requirements on an economical basis, whether the payments are $15.00, $20.00, $25.00 or any other amount per month.

Practical operation of the General Motors Instalment Plan is simple and understandable for the buyer. It enables him to figure for himself, in advance, just what the cost of various payment arrangements will be, so that he may select the one most suitable and economical for him.

These are facts General Motors believes every car buyer should know in order that he may enjoy ownership of his automobile as conveniently and economically as possible.

CLAMP MUZZLE ON 'LOOSE TALK' OF NEW DEALERS

President Gets "Corner" on Making Over U. S.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 26.—[Special.] — The prelection muzzle has been clamped on the more radical New Dealers with the result that all plans for making over the country in one style or another between now and Nov. 3 will come from President Roosevelt.

The muzzling started last week when cabinet members and other prominent brain trusters canceled many of their press conferences. The conferences that were held proved desultory and dull. Another sign of the time was the shrinkage in the output of publicity by press agents of the alphabetical agencies.

Loose talk that served to keep the New Deal in the public prints on many occasions during the last three years is taboo now with the Roosevelt reelection campaign under way.

Example of Gen. Hagood.

Key men in the administration have expounded economic theories and freely given vent to "wise cracking" when any opponent bobbed up without being reprimanded or disciplined as Gen. Johnson Hagood was when he expressed his views on WPA spending. Hagood was disciplined, removed from command for a time for "wise cracking." The general criticized an administration agency instead of an administration critic.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace was one of the most recent of the New Dealers to employ the wise crack. When the Supreme court invalidated the AAA and its processing taxes Mr. Wallace used the phrase: "Greatest legalized steal in history." But he was not reprimanded for it.

Tugwell a Free Speaker.

Wallace's dapper undersecretary, Rexford Guy Tugwell, has been a leader in the "make over America" movement and often has gone far afield from his official duties to utter astonishing statements. Tugwell was quietly packed off to Europe before the congressional elections in the fall of 1934, but there was no reprimand or discipline for him.

Tugwell's master bombshell was delivered in Los Angeles last October 28. He proposed a farmer-worker alliance in the battle against "industrial autocracy." Robert L. Lund, chairman of the board of National Association of Manufacturers, was moved to state that the utterance was "worthy of Stalin."

Jew Supremacy Foreseen.

In this same speech Tugwell was interpreted as raising a racial question when he said "for the movement will go on in any case; it lies in the brains and the blood of a people, bringing into substance the stuff of old racial dreams." The Sentinels of the Republic charged that the statement meant the New Deal was planning to put the Jews in power.

Tugwell's marked admiration for the soviet was expressed in a speech before a meeting of the American Economic association several years ago. He declared that the Russian experience might "later be of assistance to us." He also proposed radical changes in our system of government.

"The first series of changes will have do do with statutes, with constitutions, and with government," said Prof. Tugwell.

"The next series of changes will will have to do with industry itself. It already has been suggested that business logically will be required to disappear. This is not an overstatement for the sake of emphasis; it is literally meant."

ARRAIGN TRADER TODAY ON HORSE THIEF CHARGE

Paul Riesack, a Walkerton, Ind., horse trader, will be arraigned in the Felony court today on a charge of stealing Ginger, a white horse, from Paul Pavalon's livery stable at 3948 West 16th street on April 8. The horse was found last Thursday by Pavalon's son, Paul Jr., in a barn at Constantine, Mich., after a search through Illinois, Indiana and Michigan.

Sergt. Leonard Koslowski of the Fillmore street police is now in Constantine, preparing to bring the horse back here when Pavalon regains its possession from the purchaser through legal proceedings. Koslowski's colleagues at the Fillmore station said he is the proper man to ride the horse the 50 miles from Constantine to Chicago as he was in the cavalry during the war.

Riesack admitted Saturday that he took Ginger from the Pavalon stable and sold it.

COUGHLIN RAPS NEW DEAL, 'OLD DEAL' LEADERS

Detroit, Mich., April 26.—(AP)—Father Charles E. Coughlin closed a series of radio broadcasts today with an appeal to his National Union for Social Justice to "rescue American democracy from the old type politicians."

"You must rescue it by 1940 or America will be forced to travel the path blazed by Hitler and crimsoned by Stalin," he declared.

Declaring his philosophy of social justice stood between the "Republican old deal" and the "Democratic New Deal," the priest told his listeners he believed that "old deal Republicanism is dead as Toryism."

"On the other hand," he added, "it is possible to criticize the New Deal Democracy not only for having destroyed the crops of this nation in order to raise prices but especially in having refused to meet, face to face, the money question . . . this type of borrowing ourselves out of debt with fictitious money w hich we are obliged to repay with real money can never solve the problem of want in the midst of plenty. New Dealism can last several years perhaps before repudiation and inflation destroy our institutions."

GREEN DEMANDS UNIONS KEEP OUT OF POLLS FIGHTS

Takes Issue with Berry's O. K. on Roosevelt.

Washington, D. C., April 26.—(AP)—William Green urged all American Federation of Labor unions today to adhere to the federation's "traditional nonpartisan political policy."

"For obvious reasons, labor should avoid division even in the pursuit of its political policies," the federation president said in a letter to all affiliate unions.

"Such division can be avoided if working men and women, loyal to the American Federation of Labor, will refrain from identifying themselves with any political movement designed to serve as a substitute for the nonpartisan political policy of the American Federation of Labor."

Green's letter followed by several weeks a statement by George L. Berry, president of the printing pressmen's union, urging them to join "Labor's Nonpartisan league."

This league's purpose, Berry said, was to "put American Federation of Labor unions on the record for President Roosevelt."

New School Chief to Talk Before City Club Today

Dr. William H. Johnson, new superintendent of schools, will talk on "The Future of Chicago Schools" at a luncheon today of the City club in the Hotel Sherman.

MINISTER PRAYS FOR VICTORY BY RELIEF CAMPERS

Trenton, N. J., April 26.—(AP)—New Jersey's militant unemployed, who five days ago seized the state assembly chamber and vowed to remain there until the legislature provided relief funds, sat with bowed heads today while a Trenton clergyman prayed they be given "power and strength to carry on their fight for justice and right."

Alone in the statehouse, where they eat and sleep, the tattered band held church services today and for half an hour was silent as the Rev. Robert Smith of Grace Episcopal church, Trenton, read the story of the Good Samaritan.

The unshaven and sleepy relief campers looked forward to the legislature's session tomorrow night to see whether their demands that funds be voted would be met.

Legislative leaders, however, indicated there would be no action for a few more days at least.

His brother Richard, 17 years old, leaped into the water and supported Robert until a passerby pulled him to safety.

Benjamin Hillman, 5362 Hyde Park boulevard, yesterday identified a body taken from the lake on Thursday as that of his brother, James, of the same address, who disappeared on Dec. 9. The missing man had been a sales manager for a lattier goods concern. His brother told police James had threatened to commit suicide.

150 NAVAL SHIPS, 450 PLANES TO SIMULATE 'WAR'

Bulk of U. S. Sea Power in Pacific Today.

San Pedro, Cal., April 26.—(AP)—The bulk of America's seapower starts six weeks of maneuvers in the Pacific tomorrow.

From San Diego and San Pedro bases 150 ships and 450 airplanes of the United States fleet will go to sea on secret problem XVII.

These cruising problems of the navy department each year simulate an actual war condition. This is the seventeenth worked out by the naval war plans board to test the fleet's ability to meet some particular international situation.

Although deepest secrecy shrouds the nature of those problems, they actually have no reference to international affairs of the moment. They are problems the naval strategists drew up a year or two in advance of the actual maneuvers.

Eleven Capital Ships.

In the parade out of San Pedro tomorrow will be 11 battlewagons of the sea, the capital ships Pennsylvania, California, Arizona, Tennessee, Idaho, Mississippi, New Mexico, West Virginia, Colorado, Texas, and Nevada.

There will be 12 of the newer faster raiders of the sea, the heavy cruisers Indianapolis, Chicago, Salt Lake City, Chester, Portland, Houston, New Orleans, Astoria, Tuscaloosa, Minneapolis, San Francisco, and Louisville.

From San Diego the largest fighting monsters moving out are the great flat top ships of four aircraft carriers, Ranger, Saratoga, Lexington, and Langley.

Seven Light Cruisers.

Seven slim, light cruisers go with them, the Marblehead, Cincinnati, Concord, Detroit, Milwaukee, Trenton, and Omaha.

Hornets of the sea will move out in swarms as the flotillas of destroyers of both the battle fleet and scouting force flock from San Diego harbor.

And then will go the assassins of the sea, the world cruising submarines including the Nautilus, Narwhal, Cachalot, Dolphin, Bass, Bonita, and Barracuda.

The remainder of the fleet is made up of minesweepers and various auxiliary craft.

Divided into two forces the fleet will engage in tactical maneuvers, virtually fighting all the way down to the Bay of Panama.

HUNT FUGITIVES AS BANDITS WHO ROBBED TAVERN

Sycamore, Ill., April 26.—(AP)—Five persons who escaped from the Macoupin county jail at Carlinville, Ill., Thursday night were sought today as the bandits who held up a tavern and service station here last night and escaped with $90 in cash.

Armed with shotguns, rifles, revolvers, and a submachine gun, the same type of equipment taken by the escaped prisoners, five men entered the White Rose tavern near midnight, cowed four patrons and the attendant, and fled in an automobile after taking all available cash.

Police, after checking the description of the escaped prisoners with those of the five bandits, said they were convinced they were the same men who beat Jailer Joseph Vallero at the Macoupin county jail and escaped in the latter's automobile. All were serving terms for robbery and larceny.

LEAVES INCOME FROM $150,000 AS SCHOOL FUND

District in Bloomington Area Benefited.

Bloomington, Ill., April 26.—[Special.]—The will of the late Marion Flanigon of Bellflower provides for a $150,000 trust fund, the income of which is to be shared by the grade and high schools of Bellflower township. Announcement of the provisions of the will was made today by attorneys for the estate, W. R. and W. J. Bach.

Mr. Flanigon came to America a penniless man and eventually amassed a comfortable fortune. His estate was valued at $270,000, the attorneys said.

Praised as Thrifty Man.

"The provision for the education of Bellflower children will be a lasting tribute to the thrift and philanthrophy of a poor Irishman, who came to America, lived simply and wisely, and willed his money to a most useful cause," William R. Bach said.

The trust will be invested in a section of Bellflower township land at the suggestion of the lawyers for the estate. Bellflower township school trustees have been authorized to purchase 640 acres from George Meharry.

In Family 106 Years.

The land, well improved, has been in possession of the Meharry family for 106 years. It will be sold for $165 an acre.

County Superintendent of Schools William B. Brigham said he believed purchase of land the best possible disposition of the fund. The two districts will be able to cut their levies, a great savings to tax payers.

FOUND DEAD AFTER FALL.

Morris Hartnett, 60 years old, 3118 Roosevelt road, was found dead yesterday on the stairs to his home. Police said apparently he had fallen.

GROUP OFFERS PLAN TO REVISE CHARTER IN N. Y.

New York, April 26.—[Special.]—A new charter for the city of New York, to be submitted to voters this fall, was made public today by the New York City charter revision commission.

The document, representing the work of a year and one-half on the part of the nine members of the commission, will be the subject of public hearings and possible revisions between now and midsummer.

The new charter will have the effect, if approved at the referendum, of revising rather than altering the structure of the present city government. It would maintain the existing form of the city government and effect various reforms within that structure.

HOOK AND LADDER CREW "ESCORTS" JANE FROM DATE

Kansas City, Mo., April 26.—(AP)—It required only her boy friend to escort Miss Jane Miller, 16, from her home last night, but it took the hook and ladder crew of the fire department to get her back.

Her mother is in Honolulu. Her father had gone to the club. The door was locked. So Miss Miller appealed to the fire department.

The hook and ladder boys got in through a second story window and unlocked the door from the inside.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

SPAIN CHOOSES 473 ELECTORS TO NAME PRESIDENT

Few Go to Polls; Radicals Control Vote.

MADRID, April 26.—(AP)—An estimated 30 per cent of Spain's 12,000,000 voters named 473 electors today who will meet May 10, with parliament to elect Spain's second president.

Because of the refusal of the Rightist Ceda party and Monarchists to enter candidates there was virtually no competition to the Leftist "popular front."

Troops on Guard.

The day passed without incidents. Most of Spain ignored the election to take advantage of the bright day to go on excursions to the countryside. Heavy detachments of troops were on guard, however.

Nearly all voting areas reported the left front held solidly together, but in some places, particularly Almeria, Socialists insisted on a larger apportionment of candidates than they were alloted and ran independently.

Betting Odds Favor Azana.

Betting odds were as high as ten to one that Azana would be elected. He is the only candidate acceptable to all parties.

Former President Niceto Alcala Zamora was removed from office by a vote of the cortes and Diego Martinez Barrio, president of the cortes, is serving as interim president. Spain has no vice president.

Greeks May Arm 2 Islands Which Guard Dardanelles

PARIS, April 26.—(AP)—The Havas [French] News agency quoted "well informed circles" as saying tonight that the Greek general staf has decided to fortify the islands of Lemnos and Samothrace, dominating the entry to the Dardanelles. Greek military authorities reached their decision because of Turkey's remilitarization of the Dardanelles, it was said.

24 Cars of Freight Train Derailed at Plymouth, Ind.

Plymouth, Ind., April 26.—[Special.]—Twenty-four cars of a westbound fast freight of the Pennsylvania railroad were derailed in the main section of town tonight, tying up both tracks of the entire main line of the railroad. Five box cars plunged over a 24 foot viaduct over U. S. 31, the main street of town, narrowly missing five automobiles whose drivers were waiting for a trafic signal. None of the members of the train crew was injured.

KING OF EGYPT FIGHTS SPREAD OF INFECTION

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

CAIRO, Egypt, April 26.—A bulletin on King Fuad at midday says the infection of his mouth has not increased during the last twenty-four hours and that his general condition is stationary. Actually, the king is slightly improved, but is still critically ill. He had another blood transfusion last night.

It was learned today that following the extraction of his teeth, gangrene developed, though the doctors were able to check the spread of the infection. Thus far Crown Prince Farouk has not been recalled from England.

There is much confusion in official circles as to what procedure of burial will be carried out in the event of death. There is no precedent to follow, since he is the first ruler with the title of king in modern Egypt. General opinion seems to be that burial should take place within twenty-four hours as the Moslem religion prescribes.

CHATS WITH GIRL IN TAVERN, THEN MISSES HIS RING

Miss Joan Reynolds, 26 years old, 1117 North Dearborn street, was arrested last night on complaint of E. J. Larson Jr., 7924 Ingleside avenue, who charged that a valuable ring disappeared as he was talking to her in the Michigan Bridge tavern, 434 North Michigan avenue.

Miss Reynolds was taken to the central police building, where a matron searched her without finding the ring. She was held by the East Chicago avenue police, who said she has several aliases, including Marie Barnett and Jerry Webb. As Marie Barnett she was arrested Jan. 5, 1935, with another young woman, accused of drugging and robbing drinking companions.

DARES AUSTRIA TO DISSOLVE HIS PRIVATE ARMY

Starhemberg Threatens New Civil War.

VIENNA, April 26.—(AP)—Austria's powerful young vice chancellor, Prince Ernst Ruediger von Starhemberg, warned political enemies today that his private heimwehr [home guard] military forces would be dissolved "only over my dead body."

His defiant speech, made at Horn, created obvious resentment among followers of Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg, and the chancellor himself in an address at Baden declared: "Austria is not Italy and Austrians are not Fascists."

Von Starhemberg asserted that if internal foes press too hard there will be a "repetition of 1934"—when the heimwehr triumphed in a short but bloody civil war against Socialists. False friends surround Schuschnigg, von Starhemberg said, and the heimwehr plans to protect him from them.

Situation Tense.

It was the vice chancellor's first public utterance since heimwehr leaders decided in Vienna yesterday to keep their arms and organization intact despite clerical and monarchist opposition.

Schuschnigg, talking at a political gathering at Baden in the afternoon and at the unveiling tonight of a memorial at the home of the assassinated chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss, said:

"Clouds hang over the country. It is as if a general attack were again being prepared to shake the country to its foundations and challenge its freedom."

Among the "clouds" over the country he said were a speculative spirit precipitating the recent crash of the Phoenix Insurance company, largest in Austria; calumniations inspired abroad; and proselyting of Austrians by their enemies.

"Austria has withstood heavy storms," he said. "Austria will withstand the Phoenix company storm."

"War on Traitors."

One former government minister, angered at Von Starhemberg's speech, declared:

"Von Starhemberg said democracy was high treason and concentration camps are prepared to receive democrats—well, then, Austria will be a big concentration camp in the coming week."

A group of 1,200 Heimwehrmen cheered as von Starhemberg "declared war on traitors" at Horn.

Starhemberg told them there was complete harmony between him and the administration and that he would send Chancellor Schuschnigg a message tomorrow declaring the Heimwehr to a man is true to Austrian government and to its leaders.

Starhemberg made no demands at the meeting except to ask an end to "scandel mongering" about his relations with Schuschnigg. There had been rumors that he wanted the war and foreign office portfolios in the cabinet.

"No call for battle will come from the Heimwehr," Starhemberg was quoted as assuring his followers.

The vice chancellor directed a thinly veiled reproof at monarchists, who are too "democratic" to suit him.

"Democracy in Austria is high treason," said the Fascist official.

For Austria, said Starhemberg, there are three possibilities—a continuation of the authority of the state, Nazism, or communism.

He asserted the Heimwehr is determined to preserve the Fascist system and would continue as a separate organization but that other private armies would be absorbed by the regular army.

FRENCH ELECT CHAMBER; BIG SWING TO LEFT

"Real Triumph" Seen for Radicals.

herent left parliamentary majority—in other words, a legal revolution—is impossible to tell for the moment, but one thing is certain—the future of the French government, whether pink, red, or mixed, will have to move fast to keep the revolutionary masses satisfied.

Reds pushed well ahead of other left parties in the industrial north and the workers' suburbs of Paris.

There were a number of personal upsets. Edouard Herriot, former premier who recently resigned as president of the Radical Socialist party, for all his prestige could not get a clear majority in the first round at Lyons. Fernand Bouisson, a Socialist leader; Paul Marchandeau, a Radical Socialist, and Marcel Deat, Neo-Socialist minister of air, are all in the same fix.

Flandin Wins Easily.

Three ministers, however, Pierre-Etienne Flandin [foreign], Georges Mandel, independent, minister of posts and telegraphs, and Georges Bonnet, Radical Socialist minister of commerce, got in by a wide margin.

The three chieftains of the Popular Front—Edouard Daladier, Radical Socialist, Leon Blum, Socialist, and Maurice Thorez, Communist, all were elected on the first ballot. Daladier has a good chance of being France's next premier and in view of the unequivocal left victory Blum can hardly get out of his preëlection promise to enter into a Popular Front cabinet. The Communists, however, will stay out and support the Socialist-Radical Socialist coalition from the back benches—when they feel like it.

In the same way that the nature of the vote upset the expert predictions so did the volume. Voting was unusually heavy throughout the country and intense interest in the results was demonstrated by the huge crowds which gathered downtown tonight to watch the returns being flashed from bulletin boards. Armed mobile guards kept a watchful eye on the jostling thousands who cheered lustily every time a victory of the Popular Front was chalked up, but the atmosphere was peaceful and good humored.

As far as was known at 3 a. m. the elections passed off everywhere without disorder, except at Marseilles, where one person was killed and one wounded when demonstrators fired on an automobile.

The large number of run-off elections is chiefly due to the record number of candidates—4,817 for 615 seats—and the confusion of party programs.

A total of 521 deputies, including all of Premier Albert Sarraut's ministers who are not senators, except Louis Nicolle, minister of health who is retiring, and Louis Maurin, minister of war, who is a general of the army, sought reëlection.

Stunting Airplane Kills Passenger, Injures Pilot

URGE MEXICO TO TRY TO RECOVER ISLES FROM U. S.

MEXICO CITY, April 26.—(AP)—The Mexican senate was asked today to try to get the United States to return the Islands of Catalina, Coronado and Santa Cruz, off California, to Mexico.

A petition signed by 50 persons asserted the treaty of Guadalupe, which ended the war of 1846-'48 between this country and the United States, did not specifically cede those islands to the victor.

President Roosevelt's "good neighbor" policy makes the time propitious for diplomatic representations seeking their return to Mexican sovereignty, the petition said.

What To Eat To Get Strength-Building Iodine Into Blood and Glands!

Science Says Regular Ration of NATURAL IODINE Is Needed To Build Up Weak, Rundown, Skinny Folks — Give Them New Energy, Endurance and Pep!

If you are weak, skinny and rundown—if you go around always tired, nervous, irritable, easily upset, the chances are your blood is thin, pale and watery and lacks the nourishment needed to build up your strength, endurance and the solid pounds of new flesh you need to feel right. Science has at last got right down to the real trouble with these conditions and explains a new, quick way to correct them.

Food and medicines can't help you much. The average person usually eats enough of the right kind of food to sustain the body. The real trouble is assimilation, the body's process of converting digested food into firm flesh, pep and energy. Tiny hidden glands control this body building process—glands which require a regular ration of NATURAL IODINE (not the ordinary tonic chemical iodine, but the iodine that is found in tiny quantities in spinach, lettuce, etc.). The simplest and quickest way to get this precious needed substance is Kelpamalt, the astonishing new mineral concentrate from the sea. Kelpamalt is 1300 times richer in iodine than oysters, hitherto considered the best source. With Kelpamalt's iodine, you quickly normalize your weight and strength building glands, promote assimilation, enrich the blood and build up a source of enduring strength. Kelpamalt, too, contains twelve other precious, vitally needed body minerals without which good digestion is impossible.

Try Kelpamalt for a single week. Your own doctor will approve this way. Notice how much better you feel, how well you sleep, how your appetite improves, color comes back into your cheeks. And if it doesn't add 5 lbs. of good solid flesh the first week, the trial is free. Seedol Kelpamalt costs but little.

GERMANS PONDER WAY TO OBTAIN COLONIAL LANDS

Lose Hope of Recovering Lost Possessions.

BERLIN, April 26.—(AP)—Opposition disclosed in the British parliament last week to a return of mandated former German colonies to the reich confirmed today the views of many in Germany that a solution of the German colonial problem must be realized by some other way than restoration of the former possessions.

Whatever solution Adolf Hitler has in mind, it is known that he views the colonial problem not only in the light of raw materials but equally in land habitable for Germans as an outlet for the rapidly growing population surplus.

Kiaochow Is Ruled Out.

By process of elimination it can be stated that there is nowhere any talk of recovering Kiaochow from the Japanese. Whether or not a German-Japanese alliance exists, as is claimed again and again in foreign but denied in German quarters, the fact is that there seems to be a tacit agreement not to raise the question of Kiaochow again.

Nor is Samoa, also a German colony in pre-war days, spoken of. Those who demand a return of German colonies mean Tanganyika, southwest Africa, Cameroons, Togoland, and, to a less degree, the former German possessions in the New Guinea group.

Five versions are current in responsible German circles as to how the colonial question may be solved in a manner satisfactory to Germany:

1. In the general settlement of European problems inaugurated by Hitler's peace plans submitted to the Locarno powers, it is unthinkable that Germany should not be handed back some or all of her former colonial possessions. It is part of the price which a re-armed and modernly equipped Germany demands for keeping the peace the next quarter century.

This is the confident version put forward by men and women who have implicit confidence in Hitler's ability to sway other nations as he did Germany.

Suggest Buying Colonies.

2. As none of the big mandate powers—Great Britain, France, and Japan—will yield one inch of territory without war, and as another mandate power — Belgium — is protected by France, it is useless to expect the return of the former German colonies. There are, however, important Portuguese colonial possessions which this small country on the Iberian peninsula "has no real reason to possess." Germany might buy colonies from Portugal just as the United States bought the Virgin Islands from Denmark. German relations with Portugal are excellent, and Britain and France might be willing to add "moral suasion" to Germany's offer of purchase.

This solution was seriously proposed at a private gathering attended by various retired colonial experts of the German foreign office, men who were too realistic to believe that Britain and France would ever yield the mandated former German territories.

3. Germany must do as Italy did, and, in the name of national necessity, seize colonial territory just as Premier Mussolini is seizing Ethiopia. Liberia is casually mentioned as one possibility in this connection.

This version came from impatient young hotspurs. It is doubtful whether even the colony-minded and colony-enthusiastic Dr. Hjalmar Schacht would give up reichsbank funds for such a warlike adventure.

Vision War with France.

4. In the "inevitable" war with France, force this western neighbor to her knees and make her surrender not only the Cameroons but enough other French colonial territory to recompense Germany for the loss of her colonies in 1918.

This version one can hear among those followers of National Socialist thought who still take Hitler's "my struggle," with its insistence upon France as Germany's archenemy, for gospel truth, and who forget that in a recent interview with the French publicist, De Jouvenel, the Fuehrer said that he had changed his attitude.

5. Solve the colonial problem by securing a "colony" in eastern Europe. Don't attempt to go overseas at all. The Ukraine, for instance, is a wonderful territory for raw materials. As a conflict with soviet Russia is unavoidable sooner or later anyway, get the German mind fixed at this early date upon a modern form of the colonial idea—namely: seizure of territory in the vast regions of eastern Europe.

This idea seems to germinate in the heads of certain die-hard monarchists who, despite all their veneration for the monarchical system, believe the German emptre of Wilhelm I. and II. made a mistake in branching out overseas.

BRITISH LEADER TALKS TO ROYALIST LEADERS ON VISIT TO HUNGARY

BUDAPEST, Hungary, April 26.—(AP)—Sir Austen Chamberlain, former British foreign secretary, conferred today with Hungarian officials and advocates of restoration of the monarchy. He had a long conference with Premier Julius Goemboes and later was received by Admiral Nicholas Horthy, regent of Hungary.

At an afternoon tea Chamberlain talked to Count Stefan Bethlen, former premier of Hungary. It was understood the count told the English visitor that restoration of the Hapsburg monarchy was necessary as a bulwark against German expansion. Count Antony Sigray, representative of Archduke Otto, claimant to the Austro-Hungarian throne, also presented the legitimists' case to Chamberlain.

Red Haired Boy Drowned in Lagoon Is Identified

The red haired boy who drowned Saturday in the lagoon near Northerly island was identified yesterday as Frank Vanik, 12 years old, 1620 Throop street, by his father, John, a laborer. The boy was crawling on the cross beams under the bridge separating the island from the mainland when he slipped and fell into the lagoon. There are six other children in the family.

Every WEEK IS BABY WEEK FOR BOWMAN

WE THINK it's a fine idea to have National Baby Week. But actually there are 52 Baby Weeks every year in the Bowman calendar. Babies are our most important customers.

When blizzards block the highways, it's the babies we're thinking of first when we send out the big snow plows to cut a way into town for milk. When scorching summer heat hits the city, again it's the babies we have in mind when we take every possible warm-weather precaution.

In fact, Bowman's whole method of milk production from the rigidly inspected farms to the prompt, unfailing delivery service, is planned to safeguard our tiniest customers. More than three generations of Chicago mothers have recognized that . . . have called on Bowman to help them.

THE HOUSE ABDICATES.

The house is debating a bill imposing 800 million dollars of new taxation on the American people. The amount is not much less than the annual expenditure of the federal government before the war, but it is not the amount alone which gives this bill its peculiar importance. In addition, the measure calls for revolutionary changes in business practices. It penalizes corporate saving which had been almost universally regarded by business men as prudent and rewards those corporations which make no provision for emergencies.

The bill is of immense importance, yet, as Congressman Wadsworth pointed out, there were no more than thirty members in their seats as the debate proceeded. The fact is shocking and ominous. It discloses how far this country has already advanced on the road to dictatorship. The only available alternative to dictatorship is representative democracy, but the representatives are not at work. Most of them are content to be rubber stamps, and because they are rubber stamps they are bringing congress into disrepute and thus inviting its destruction.

How menacing the situation has become is suggested by the speech of Congressman Lamneck of Ohio, himself a Democrat. The defenders of the bill did not deny that it had been drafted not by the people's representatives but by a brain truster, David Coyle, who recently announced in a public speech that "saving for a rainy day is out of date in this country." Mr. Lamneck properly characterized the committee hearings as a legislative farce, for the witnesses did not know what provisions were under consideration and only perfunctory attention was given to their suggestions. The revolutionary nature of the new taxes must lead to all sorts of collateral consequences, but no effort has been made to foresee them or to guard against injustices and absurdities. Mr. Lamneck showed, for example, that the bill will encourage receiverships and penalize the honest payment of honest debts.

Dispatches from Washington had made abundantly clear that the official summaries of the provisions of the new tax bill were neither accurate nor comprehensive. Much of the language of the bill has been found to be obscure, ambiguous, and even incomprehensible. The members of the ways and means committee, speaking off the record, have admitted as much. They are not sure they know what some of the clauses are intended to mean and even less sure what they do mean.

In consequence, if the bill passes in anything like its present form, the treasury will be called upon to guess what congress has imposed on the citizens. Some citizens will disagree with these burocratic interpretations and in due time the courts will be obliged to construe the language of the bill authoritatively. It is a task which the courts may properly resent, but which they cannot avoid.

When the judicial review is completed no doubt the usual cry that the courts have arrogated to themselves the right to pass upon the work of congress will be heard, and the further cry that the courts have not endeavored to exercise judgment in considering the work of congress. When that time comes it will be well to remember the origins of the law. The fault will not lie with the courts, but with the executive who ordered the bill passed and the congress which enacted a carelessly drafted measure without giving it the consideration which any bill of its importance deserves.

THE LEADER'S ROLE.

A report of Consul General George A. Makinson on progress with the Frankfort-on-Main airport now under construction in that German metropolis will make interesting reading for those who consider Chicago's air facilities adequate. First the Frankfort municipal forest was sacrificed to provide seven hundred acres for an air field that will provide facilities for airplane landing as well as a mooring mast and airdrome for dirigibles. The passenger station is within fifteen minutes of the center of the city. The field is to be equipped with an independent power station and water works and will be a veritable garden with its lawns, cafés, beautifully designed administration buildings, colored beacons, landing and boundary lights—to accommodate approximately thirty daily arrivals and departures.

It is not necessary for Chicago to sacrifice any public lands or thousands of fine trees. The lake front is available for the construction of the most modern of airports. The present facilities are not only inconvenient but will be totally inadequate to accommodate the twenty-four seat ships that will be placed in service this summer. The Municipal airport is the scene of over one hundred daily arrivals and departures, and the number is bound to show a rapid increase as flying becomes more commonplace and necessary. Chicago cannot maintain its world preëminence as an air center unless a progressive program is adopted to keep pace with the industry.

UNIVERSITIES IN THE ATTACK ON PRIVATE PROPERTY.

Some faculty members of endowed universities like the governmental theory of trying anything once and if it doesn't work trying more of it or of something else, but the administrators of the institutional finances do not. Harry L. Wells, business manager of the Northwestern university, spoke at an alumni meeting of investment and revenue difficulties. "Endowed institutions," he said, "are highly nervous over the trend away from private initiative in national life."

So long as taxes can be collected public schools and state supported universities can continue their services. It need not be remarked that endowed schools live on the fees paid for tuition and on money from investments and on gifts. A misuse of the taxing power will dry up the source of public funds. The public school system and the state universities are not proof against bankruptcy, but the endowed school meets the problem before the public system sees it coming.

Making the best of adversity, some private institutions may do as Harvard does for its tercentenary fund, call the rich friend's attention to the fact that if his income and his estate go above a certain figure what he gives to the endowment will make a dollar equal to only twelve cents in his estate's final settlement with the tax collectors. You're going to lose it all, anyway.

The existence in the educational system of great private universities has had a wholesome influence. They have given competition to schools which might otherwise show the bad effects of political administration. With endowments the private schools can offer services at less than cost. They are not then reserved for wealthy students, but can have a widespread enrollment.

The endowed schools are now exposed to the acts of government on all sides. The public expenditures and debts impair the resources of people who have been relied upon for gifts. Money is diverted from private control and use into the federal treasury. The attacks upon private enterprise make investments uncertain and diminish returns. Monetary policies cause fear of inflation and doubt as to the future value of the dollar.

What Mr. Wells referred to as the trend away from private initiative is naturally the trend against all private enterprises and institutions, including universities under private management, and in favor of governmental control, which in turn is a trend to a crackup.

DELAYS IN THE CIVIL COURTS.

Plans to speed civil litigation in the Circuit court of Cook county have been prepared by Chief Justice La Buy for consideration by his associates. Here is a welcome indication that the judges are alive to a situation which has long been in need of correction and which can be corrected by the judges themselves if they so desire.

The immediate goal might well be the trial of every suit within no more than six months of the day it is filed. When that goal has been achieved, the waiting period can be shortened another notch. The much longer delays which are now the rule invite abuses. Just claims are too often compromised because of the long time which must elapse before they can be enforced. Also—and this is a far more serious matter—the courts have become instruments of something which strongly resembles blackmail. Suits are sometimes filed for no other purpose than to embarrass the defendant and impair his credit for a year or two in the belief that he will make some kind of settlement before a trial of the specious claim can be reached.

What was accomplished a few years ago in clearing the criminal calendar can be accomplished, also, in the civil courts. If this is done, one desirable result will be a considerable reduction in the volume of litigation. Men who were trying to dodge their honest debts would not be encouraged as at present to invite their creditors to sue. Men whose claims were spurious would find less excuse for bringing action in the courts, knowing that their game would be promptly exposed.

As matters stand, the delays work in favor of the litigant with a weak case. He loses nothing by waiting while his opponent runs the risk of having his witnesses disappear or forget. Ours is a commercial civilization, and almost all of our transactions involve credit. If the system is to work well the rights of creditors and debtors must be readily enforced, and it is chiefly for this purpose that the civil courts exist. The more promptly they do their work the better they serve society. A judicial system which does not operate promptly is not dispensing justice.

"DEPUTIZING" A MOB.

[New Orleans Times-Picayune.]

One of the year's prize awards for distinguished service, or valor, or mastery of an emergency, or something along those lines, should be awarded to the 74 year old Georgia judge who broke up a lynching party last week by the brand new device of "deputizing" the would-be lynchers. Summoned from a sick bed by the sheriff, after the mob had started to batter a hole through the wall of the jail in which their prospective victim was held, the aged jurist had to think, and to act, with lightning speed and precision. Mob psychology is a fearful and wonderful thing, usually proof against appeals to reason, temporarily bereft of all respect for law.

Doubtless mindful of all this, the Georgia jurist resorted to an expedient never, so far as we recall, tried before. "I declare you all deputized officers," he shouted to the mobsters, "and I recognize most of you here!" Here was created on the instant a situation no member of the mob had ever dreamed of. It took them by complete surprise. From emotionally overwrought and irresponsible private citizens they had been transformed into officers of the law specially charged with the responsibility and duty of its protection against outrage. Their psychological reaction doubtless was completed by the judge's warning that he recognized and could identify most of them.

So, we are told, the mob "quickly dispersed," leaving only a few irresolute loiterers that the sheriff could handle. The danger of mob outrage was dispelled even more quickly than it had arisen by the courage, quick wit and sound psychological processes of the veteran Georgia jurist, who knew his people and his duty and found a way to make them recognize theirs.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U. S. Pat. Office

DEAR OLD PETE DUNNE! Now that he's gone everybody who knew him back in the old days in Chicago when he was writing his "Mr. Dooley" stories are recalling his little personal narratives of Jim McGarry, the original "Mr. Dooley." The one I like best was the one time in his life when Mr. McGarry was defeated in repartee. "There were a number of us," Mr. Dunne would say in telling the story, "who were standing down at the end of the bar shaking dice. Jim was standing with his back to his bar room polishing the glasses on the sideboard. Suddenly there blew into the saloon the most horribly dirty tramp I've ever seen. He came up to the bar behind McGarry and said, 'Gimme a drink of the best whisky you've got in yer place. None of yer cookin' whisky.' Without looking around Jim picked up a bottle of imported Scotch of high pedigree and put it on the bar together with a glass. Then he happened to look at his customer and immediately reached for the bottle, but the customer had grabbed it, poured himself a stiff drink and tossed it off. 'Here, here!' said the suspicious McGarry, 'that's goin' to cost ye twenty-five cints.' The tramp reached into his pocket and produced a roll of twenty dollar bills that a greyhound couldn't jump over. He peeled off one, tossed it casually on the bar and said: 'And who the hell asked you how much it was going to cost?' McGarry silently examined the twenty dollar bill, found it was perfectly good, and then picked the change out of the cash drawer and laid it in front of the stranger, who scooped it up, put it in his pocket, lit a cigar, and walked out. We all stood waiting in silence for the verbal fireworks we expected to burst forth from Mr. McGarry. But he went back to polishing his bar glasses and not for ten minutes did he speak. Then with a deep sigh he said, "An' I would give all I kin take in at this bar in three weeks to know what to have said to that dirty bum.'"

SO LOVELY.

I.

The melody that once I heard
Shall I not hear again?
The cadence of a whispered word,
Listens my heart in vain?

Pace on the dim and graying road,
Upright and yet alone;
My feet click out a weary code
Whose secret is unknown.

The lilt of spring I faintly catch—
How blossoms gleam at night!
Black shadows in a ghostly patch
Are cast from things so white!

So lovely and so lost to me,
So near, and yet so gone
As marble features wistfully
Reposing, dead and wan. . . .

II.

I touch sometimes a secret heart
With fingers sensitive,
And from the earth through every part
Rises an urge to live.

A burgeoning of plant and blade—
Is flesh a kindred soil?
What seed has sprouted undismayed
To wind me in its coil?

Like one who sees in growing things
A green-edged mockery,
An ache for life unwanted springs
Its vibrant way through me,

Soft as the air that waves across
The open window-sill,
Yet heavy with a sense of loss
New fingers cannot fill. . .

III.

A calm without, a storm within,
A shell caught in a swirl;
A sacrifice without its sin,
A price, but not a pearl—

What peeps above the narrow soul
And laughs at words like these?
With longing was one heart made whole
That supped on agonies. . . .

How still is twilight, freighted down
With quiet, as there falls
The shadowed night upon these brown
Familiar chamber walls.

So lovely and so lost to me—
My soul bears not a mark!
Yet gleams the sunlight ceaselessly,
Gold bars across the dark. . . .

EDWIN MARKHAM, the poet, tells us how we can recognize great poetry at sight. "When you finish a poem," sezze, "you must be able to say, 'Ah,' as though you had been hit in the solar plexus." That doesn't sound like a good rule, for if you'd been hit in the solar plexus you wouldn't say "Ah" at all. You'd say "ouch" or "gosh almitie" or "helen blazes" or something like that. Anyhow, it would be a word or a phrase expressing pain. One shouldn't express pain after reading great poetry, although some poetry called great does leave me with a horrible feeling of pain and anguish. Anyhow, I never say "Ah" after reading one of Gertrude Stein's poems. I always say, "Oh, for crying out loud!" And sometimes much naughtier things than that.

IT WOULD BE NICE to sit and dream of May, only a few days off, and May blossoms and May day and May queens and all that if the scrub woman didn't chase us around with a mop and a bucket of suds doing the May housecleaning.

TOO MUCH PERSPIRATION.

We all perspire—some more so than others—and nature has very wisely provided the skin with sweat glands, by means of which the body can rid itself of water and wastes. In Genesis 3:19 [King James version] we read: "In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread." As a result of exercise, if the face alone should perspire, we would understand that something was wrong, as the sweat glands are found in the skin of most parts of the body.

They are under the control of the sympathetic nervous system and they will become active whenever the circulation is stimulated, when the body becomes overheated, and under the influence of excitement or fear. Certain drugs and foods can also affect them.

Excessive sweating, when there is no occasion for it, is known as hyperhidrosis and may occur over the entire skin or in some particular region, for example, the palms of the hands, the soles of the feet, beneath the arms, or in the groin. Sometimes the phenomenon will appear in the area supplied by a particular nerve.

Several diseases are accompanied by a rapid excretion of water from the surface of the body. The night sweats of pulmonary tuberculosis and those associated with rickets and infantile scurvy are easily recognized. Then, too, in the presence of many infections, when the resistance of the body is lowered, profuse sweating may be an annoying symptom and patients will complain of being wringing wet.

We have all had the experience of shaking hands with a person whose palm is so damp that it is decidedly noticeable. Others will suffer from cold feet, not because of poor circulation but because their hose are always wet. Still others will perspire excessively in the armpits. Cases are cited in which the hands perspire so readily that after being wiped dry, beads of moisture will gather on the palms within a minute or two. If the fingers are held downward fluid will drop from the tips. Those who are annoyed by this particular symptom observe its effect as much in cold as in warm weather. They will usually relate that excitement or apprehension makes it worse. Strangely enough, this particular type of perspiration ceases during sleep.

Sometimes sweat has a foul odor and the condition is known as bromidrosis. While this may appear in uremia, scurvy, or acute rheumatism, it is generally limited to special parts of the body, such as the feet or beneath the arms. It is probable that the odor is due to the growth of bacteria on the skin after the fluid has been exuded. The remedy lies in scrupulous cleanliness. Soap and water may be needed two or more times each day, followed by the application of chlorinated water. An antiseptic dusting powder is a valuable aid.

Numerous astringent solutions, such as potassium alum or aluminum chloride, have been employed to check excessive perspiration. While some such preparations are relatively harmless, yet occasionally sweat glands may become irritated followed by the development of cysts. These tiny, rather firm affairs are not to be invited, as in some cases surgical removal is required.

No remedy, however, appears quite as efficient as a few exposures to mild doses of X-rays. The effect lies in the destruction of the sympathetic nerve supply to the sweat glands, as well as the glands themselves. With too much X-ray all the glands may be obliterated and the area will thus become "bone dry." Such a situation is rarely desirable. Hence dosage should be regulated so that activity will be slowed down but not destroyed.

In a recent report A. H. Pirie cites more than 50 cases of complete cure of the condition following exposure of the sweating areas to small doses of X-ray. In 20 cases the hands were involved, in 18 the feet, and in 18 others the armpits. He found that the more excessive the perspiration the more certain was the cure. No bad effects have been reported, although in a few cases enlargement of skin capillaries occurred. Because of the danger of dilating the capillaries permanently, Pirie does not recommend X-ray treatment of the face.

We must remember that we are dealing with a powerful force that must not be applied by other than a highly trained expert.

KIDNEY DISEASE.

F. P. writes:

1. What foods should not be eaten by a patient with kidney trouble?
2. How should a person with this ailment live in order to help his condition?

REPLY.

1. The answer depends on the type of kidney disease. In acute nephritis the diet must be sparing in fluids, meats, and other proteins, fat, and salt. A high carbohydrate intake is permitted. In chronic nephritis the nutrition must be maintained and protein foods are advised. Fluids and salt must be restricted and no excess of fats allowed. The individual diet depends on whether or not edema [dropsy] is present and how much. It is not wise to outline a general diet for kidney disease, since each case differs in symptoms. The physician in charge must prescribe.

2. The rules of good hygiene must be followed strictly. If possible, the patient should live in an equitable climate. Alcohol is prohibited. Chilling and infections must be guarded against.

LOW BLOOD PRESSURE.

I. M. writes: I have low blood pressure and chronic constipation. What can I do to help my condition?

REPLY.

My first suggestion would be to have a complete physical examination. There are many causes for low blood pressure. Constipation usually responds to proper diet and regularity of habits. Mineral oil may be taken if the case is stubborn. If one must have some pressure abnormality, a low reading is much to be preferred. Persons with subnormal pressure levels are usually long lived.

OF MANY TYPES.

W. E. N. writes: Will you describe some of the more common forms of dropsy? Is there usually an accumulation of liquid in the abdominal cavity?

REPLY.

There are dozens of types of dropsy. The symptom usually accompanies disease of the heart, liver, or kidneys. Fluid may accumulate in the abdomen as well as in the ankles, the legs, and the throat. Fluid in the abdomen is called ascites and is frequently the result of liver disease.

From Across the Sea

JERUSALEM.—Religion is not only the chief concern of Jerusalem; it is the leading industry. The statement may sound irreverent, but it is accurate, for the large tourist trade here exists only in function to the shrines. Wherever one turns, inside the old city or on the hills outside the walls, one finds churches, chapels, convents, monasteries.

Most conspicuous, for sheer bulk, are the buildings belonging to Russian and French religious orders—a reminder that before the war Russia and France vied with each other to be the protectors of Christians in the Near East. The Russian places, since their funds were cut off by the bolshevik revolution, look forlorn, but there still are monks and priests in them, living on such funds as are left. The French institutions operate on accumulated wealth, for today it would be impossible for them to get out of the French even a fraction of what must be the upkeep of these huge buildings, not to mention the cost of missionary work.

American missionaries, representing most of our evangelical sects, are scattered all over Jerusalem. Among names I have seen are the "Assemblies of God," the "Palestine Prayer Fellowship" [this one, I was told, supported by money from Chicago, but the place was closed when I called], and "The House of the Seekers After Truth," an English institution. Then there is the Rev. V. B. Shumaker, local representative of the "Christian Catholic Church," who leaves in my hotel reading room copies of "The Final Warning," from Zion City, Ill., with the messages of Wilbur Glenn Voliva.

One message, containing a fulmination against the eating of pork, fell into the hands of a touring Church of England clergyman. He asked for an explanation of what it all meant. I told him as much as I could, apparently without dispelling the fog.

"Curious people you Americans are," the clergyman exclaimed. "Extraordinary people! Amazing religions!"

American missionaries are here to make converts. Pious souls back in the United States are putting up the funds to carry on the work. As to results, every one seems hopeful but not enthusiastic. The dice are loaded against missionaries. They are importing religion, the one commodity of which Palestine has an excess.

The trials of the American Protestant missionary were explained to me in a tiny little cubby hole which once was a porter's lodge to the Russian compound. Now it is the "Gospel Gate," where New Testaments, in Hebrew and in Arabic, are distributed by F. L. Boothby, who said the funds were supplied by the American Board of Missions to the Jews. Helping him that day was a motherly middle aged woman, who introduced herself as "Sister" Hunt, otherwise Mrs. H. A. Hunt, of Virginia, and a southern Baptist.

According to "Sister" Hunt, hundreds of young Jews and young Moslems are eager to read the Christian gospel.

"But do you get converts?" she was asked.

"Not many," she replied. "You see, there's the government, which thwarts all missionary work. If any one wants to change his religion in Palestine he must first make a formal declaration of intention before a public official. Then he is compelled to consult with a rabbi or a mufti, and he is persuaded out of it. Even if he is strong willed enough to go through with it, he becomes a social outcast, loses family and friends and his job. We can never have converts unless we can get the funds to give them work."

"Have you converted any Moslems?"

"Yes; one. And we had to find a job for him," the "sister" said.

The government's position is one of prudence, since religion in Palestine is dynamite. Neither Jews nor Moslems must be given any excuse for thinking their young people are being stolen away from them—with funds supplied by American churches.

PROMISE TO PAY.

Cicero, Ill., April 23.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Mr. A, a widower with three children, all of voting age, borrows $225 at 5 per cent from Mr. B and gives B a judgment note with only his signature. Two years later A dies, leaving no will. He owned a two story frame house. Mr. B employs an attorney and pays the attorney $30 in order to collect on the note [$20 down and $10 balance to be paid when settled]. The children promise to pay some time in the future and for that promise B's [1] attorney does not draw up a lien on the property, relying on the promise. 2. They obtain a clear title to the property and two years later sell the property. They paid off all of the father's debts and now refuse to pay B. 3. B's attorney takes the case into court and gets the court's verdict or decision in his favor. The children of A are planning to appeal the case to a higher court. 4. Do you think the children should pay in this case? 5. Could B's attorney win in any court? 6. Does B have to pay the attorney again for his time and work? 7. What is the legal rate of pay a lawyer can take on a judgment note? 8. In the case described how much court costs would the losing party be assessed? 9. Could B's attorney compel the children to pay the interest on the note? 10. Could B collect the money paid for legal expenses from the children of A? J. B.

1. It is not clear what you mean by "draw up a lien." In general, the only way to enforce a claim against a deceased person is by forcing the probate of his estate.

2. This implies that the estate was probated. If so, we would agree with your implication that the attorney should have filed a claim in the probate proceedings.

3. The theory of the suit is not made clear. Presumably it was on the new promise of the children.

4. Yes.

5. You have given us no facts as to "plan of pleading."

6. Depends upon the facts going to justify the attorney's course or going to show that he was to blame for the additional proceedings.

7. Depends on facts that are not before us.

8. Same.

9. Depends on whether they agreed to pay the interest.

10. Probably not.

PRO.

Chicago, April 22.—Your cartoon in today's issue is a masterpiece. Laboring without an object, getting nowhere, is worse than marking time for hours at a stretch, pay or no pay. A man pounding sand in a rat hole, day after day, at $25 per diem, would soon find himself a hopeless maniac.

Talk about the inquisition, what worse punishment could there be than this boondoggling program? Beating like a million tom-toms in deathlike incantation, it spells death and defeat to those sentenced to such un-American punishment.

Speed the day when American manhood may be freed from this terrible scourge.

MORRIS LEWIS.

CON.

Chicago, April 22.—Your front page cartoon of April 22 was a disgrace to the American press. What is THE TRIBUNE trying to do? Start a revolution? Our President has done so much for this country that it is a shame to see THE TRIBUNE print such a cartoon. I am willing to bet that THE TRIBUNE has benefited by the present administration. THE TRIBUNE is for Republicans and radicals, and loyal Democrats should boycott THE TRIBUNE. Roosevelt will win the November election by a bigger landslide than he won by in 1932. LEO F. GANEY.

OFF RELIEF.

Chicago, April 21.—I was on relief for six weeks when I received a temporary position. The work lasted four weeks. During that period I paid my rent and another relief client's rent. I bought shoes and clothing, food and carfare. I do not drink. Yesterday I went to 3542 North Clark street and asked them for 2 weeks more relief. I told them I was going to work again the first of May. The supervisor at the relief station told me they could do nothing for me. Now I must beg on the streets because I was honest and sent them a card as soon as I started to work. I was born and raised in Chicago. A. E. H.

RESPONSIBILITY.

Chicago, April 23.—You have made no editorial comment on the recent proposal of a highup in the automotive industry that the massacre by automobile be turned over to Washington for correction. Why should not the industry, the unrestrained engineers of which are responsible for the condition, clear it away? Why did it not see at the beginning that its duty to the public required that it make no car capable of running over 35 miles an hour? Why do not the members of the industry get together and agree to that now? And why do they not go to state capitals—never to Washington—and ask for laws forbidding, under heavy penalties, the use of a car on the highways capable of running above the speed mentioned? Why should any industry seek to evade responsibility for its course? THOMAS JAMES NORTON.

CONCERTS ON THE RADIO.

Chicago, April 19.—I want to express my appreciation of the broadcasts of the Chicago Symphony orchestra during the last season. I didn't miss one and I know many others who have done the same. We all were greatly disappointed when, for a while, you omitted the last half of the concert.

W-G-N should take the lead in initiating an agreement among Chicago radio stations to eliminate duplicate broadcasts of baseball games on Sunday afternoons, when fine symphony concerts have no Chicago outlet. The alternative is stricter supervision by the federal radio commission, to prevent stupid waste of technological facilities by ungoverned rugged individualism. ALFRED T. KING.

TWO ANSWERS.

Chicago, April 23.—Permit me to answer "S.'s" inquiry as to the number of fishing trips President Roosevelt makes annually.

The President and his unsavory brain trust crew are continually engaged in interminable fishing forays among our national tax-ridden citizenry in seeking to land further suckers for the satisfaction of the rapacious greed of a predatory burocracy, and to feed still more dole-bribed boondoggiers to whip into line for next November's political debacle. O. A. M.

Chicago, April 23.—Your correspondent "S." of Sandwich wishes to know how many annual fishing trips President Roosevelt takes each year. Now, S., old boy, take a tip from me. You'd much better encourage F. D. R. to keep on with his fishing, because when he goes gunning for Republicans next fall even the corporal's guard of them now visible will topple and fall "like grass before the Buckeye mowing machine."

FRANK B. THOMAS.

SACRAMENTO BOULEVARD.

Chicago, April 24.—Cannot something be done about stopping the widening of Sacramento boulevard from Roosevelt road to Franklin boulevard?

A few years ago the property owners met in Union park and voted against the widening; now the workmen are removing the trees and preparing to do this work without the consent of the property owners.

They are planning on widening the sidewalk. This is not necessary, as the present width is ample. There is enough room for ordinary trafic as the boulevard now stands; the buses operate only between the hours of 7 and 9 in the morning and 4:30 and 6 in the evening. What is the object if not to create more speed and more accidents? Something must be done at once or this work will be finished against the wishes of the taxpayers for the convenience of whom?

PROPERTY OWNER.

THEN AND NOW.

Chicago, April 24.—There was a time when I was young, impressionable, and believing, that I, too, addressed all senators and representatives as "Honorable Sir." Believe me, I really meant it. About the time of the prohibition régime, when our governmental G. M. [gunmen to you] were roaming the range, killing, poisoning, and blinding my fellow citizens, my titular greeting dropped to "sir." Since living through three years of the present painful régime, and having to breathe the same air as gents like Senator Black and Representative Zioncheck, I think I'll step another rung downward and address the few letters I have before me with the more appropriate title of "My dear Punk."

GEORGE MANNING.

IS WAUKEGAN IN ILLINOIS?

Chicago, April 23.—A reader reported seeing many 1935 license plates in Mount Vernon and Cairo on highway 37 and wondered if down in Egypt they are still in the year 1935. Why go so far from home? In driving through Waukegan, Ill., two weeks ago we found more 1935 license plates in that town and vicinity than we did 1936 plates and wondered if Waukegan was still in the state of Illinois. F. K. S.

SO DO WE.

Chicago, April 15.—May I congratulate you on the efficient and polite service rendered by THE TRIBUNE carrier stationed on the northeast corner of 63d and Ashland each evening? He has a pleasant "Thank you," and tips his hat. We appreciate courtesy. J. ZEHR.

U. S. SEEKS NEW PREVENTIVE FOR SPOTTED TEETH

Communities with Fluorine in Water Increase.

Washington, D. C., April 26.—(AP)—An increase of 130 in the number of communities where fluorine in drinking water is causing mottled enamel in children's teeth led the United States public health service today to renew its interest in a possible new preventive.

Dr. H. Trendley Dean, dental surgeon of the national institute of health, said the number of affected districts had increased from 195 in 1933 to 325 in 1936 in 25 states.

"There is little doubt," he added, "that surveys in South Dakota and New Mexico and further surveys in Texas would largely augment the number of endemic areas known at the present time."

Consistent drinking of water containing more than one part of fluorine in one million parts of water will result in the mottling or permanent dak spotting of the permanent teeth of children during their formation, Dean said.

Dr. George R. Sharpless of Henry Ford hospital, Detroit, Mich., reported recently, however, that he had been able to prevent mottled enamel formation in rats by the use of aluminum chloride, a common salt of aluminum.

The effect, he added, apparently is a simple exchange of the fluorine and chloride in the aluminum molecule, the product being aluminum fluorine which is not absorbed in the rat's digestion.

Scientists are hopeful the same reaction will hold true for human beings.

FLOOD CAUSES INDIANS TO QUIT SUGAR STANDARD

Corn May Be Substituted for Exchange.

Tama, Ia., April 26.—(AP)—News that the Mesquakie Indians had taken their currency off the maple sugar standard spread today to the financial wigwams of the nation's scattered redskin tribes.

Devaluation or inflation had nothing to do with the move.

Spring floods were responsible. They created a shortage of the sugar which long had been the Mesquakies' principal medium of exchange.

Reservation lowlands were under water this spring by the time the Iowa river receded; maple trees had budded. It was too late to tap them for their prized supply of sap.

Instead of the 12 regular sap camps, only three—those of White Breast, Peter Morgan, and John Young Bear—were in operation. Their supply was far short of needs.

What to use as an exchange commodity for the soft buckskins, wild rice, cranberries, persimmons, porcupine quills, and other articles not produced on the reservation worried tribal leaders.

Indian corn may find favor as the new money standard. The Mesquakies had a good supply and knew it was wanted, particularly by the Chippewa in Wisconsin, who were confronted with a small crop and short growing season.

Also available, for tribes who wanted to swap, was a good crop of Iowa herbs and native medicines.

Undecided was the problem of what would replace the maple sugar kept by each family for use in sacred ceremonies, feasts, and festivals.

LEGION OBTAINS 6,187 MEMBERS BY AIR ROUNDUP

State Enrollment Climbs to 67,500 Total.

Bloomington, Ill., April 26.—[Special.]—Membership in the Illinois department of the American Legion was increased to 67,500 when 24 planes bearing 6,187 new enrollments landed at Bloomington airport today as the organization conducted its eighth annual air roundup drive for new members.

Four planes came from Cook county, including one from the Great Lakes training school and another bringing Capt. O. W. Young, department of commerce, Chicago. Four military ships were flown from Chanute field, Rantoul, and three from Scott field, Belleville. Two planes came from Danville and others from Moline, Freeport, Rockford, Joliet, Galesburg, Monmouth, Quincy, Springfield, Peoria, Kankakee, and Harrisburg.

The membership is now within 500 of the state quota. State Adjutant William C. Mundt of Bloomington today said the department would go over its quota by next Sunday, when the national roundup will be held with planes from various states converging at Indianapolis.

TALLINN, Estonia, April 26.—(AP)—A window of the British embassy here was broken today by a stone to which was attached a message demanding removal of Sir Arthur Grenfell Wauchope as high commissioner of Palestine. Two kronen [about 54 cents] were enclosed with the message as compensation for the broken window.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Feeding for Power.

April 26, 1936.

FEEDING and training their teams so they will display their greatest power is now the task of the horse and mule owners who have entered animals in the second annual Tribune Horse and Mule Pulling contest to be held Saturday, June 20, at the Tribune experimental farm near Wheaton, Ill.

The importance of good feed, simple rations and methods of feeding are emphasized by Wayne Dinsmore, secretary of the Horse and Mule Association of America, who has charge of the technical details of the contest. His advice to contestants contains good information for team owners generally to make use of the year around in feeding and caring for their work animals.

Clean Grains Necessary.

Mr. Dinsmore says that work horses and mules do well on any good, clean and sound grain and forage, so long as the feeds are free from dust and molds. For the corn belt states, a good grain mixture is made up of corn, 50 per cent; oats, 35 per cent, and bran, 15 per cent. If good clover or alfalfa hay is available the bran can be left out and a mixture of two-thirds corn and one-third oats can be used with the legume hays. Oats alone is a standard ration for work animals, but where the price of corn per pound is low it is well to let part of the grain ration consist of corn. Ear corn gives better results than shelled.

Ear corn alone, if fed with legume hays, will maintain work horses or mules at medium or hard work, but in hot weather it is a pretty sound policy to give more variety by feeding at least one-third oats. If some legume hay is not available, then Mr. Dinsmore's advice is to feed straight oats or a mixture of at least two-third oats and one-third corn.

Any good bright hay or forage can be fed to mature work animals, but it is desirable to have legume hay for at least half the ration, he says.

Recommended Mixture.

This authority recommends one pound of grain and one and one-tenth pounds of hay for each 100 pounds live weight of animal. This is usually sufficient for animals at ordinary work. Animals on pasture at night will not consume half that amount of hay. At very hard work it may be necessary to increase the daily grain allowance to one and one-fourth pounds per 100 pounds live weight for some animals.

All team owners need do to enter the Tribune pulling contest and compete for the $500 offered to the winners is to fill out the accompanying coupon and send it to the agricultural editor, CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

THEATER MOURNS PERCY HAMMOND, CRITIC OF DRAMA

Body Will Be Cremated; No Funeral Rites.

New York, April 26.—[Special.]—In compliance with a wish often expressed by him in the later years of his life, and reiterated on his deathbed, there will be no funeral services of any kind for Percy Hammond, drama critic of the New York Herald Tribune, who died at Rockefeller Institute hospital early today.

The body will be cremated at Fresh Pond, N. Y.

Close friends of the critic have been asked to refrain from sending flowers in accordance with his wish that there be no "fuss" over his passing. Many of them, however, could not forego the formality of wiring their condolences today to John Hammond, son of the noted critic and his only immediate survivor. Mrs. Florence Hammond, the critic's wife, died last November.

Among the telegrams received by the son were messages from George Ade, William A. Brady, the producer; John Golden, and George Tyler.

TAMMANY YOUNG, FILM STOOGE FOR BILL FIELDS, DIES

Hollywood, Cal., April 27 [Monday].—(AP)—Tammany Young, 49, for many years a New York stage actor and more recently a film actor, died here yesterday after a long illness.

Young, who played the part of a stooge for W. C. Fields here, was known on the New York stage as a "good luck actor." David Belasco, Jed Harris, Charles Frohman, and the Shuberts put him in their plays, often in bit parts, to bring them luck.

Fields did the same and brought him here five years ago, since which time he had appeared in all of Fields' pictures, the last of them "Poppy," just completed.

Young also was a writer of magazine articles and stories and was well known as a gate crasher. One of his exploits was working his way into the Dempsey-Carpentier prize fight as an ice man with a cake of ice on his back. He was born in New York.

MANY OFFICIALS AT FUNERAL FOR JOHN T. BUCKBEE

Rockford, Ill., April 26.—(AP)—National, state, and city government officials attended funeral services here today for Representative John T. Buckbee, 64, of the Twelfth Illinois district, who died Thursday of a heart ailment.

Buckbee, a Republican, had served in congress since 1927.

Four Illinois congressman, appointed by Speaker Joseph W. Byrns, attended the funeral. They were Chauncey Reed, West Chicago, and Leo Allen, Galena, Republicans; Chester Thompson, Rock Island, and Leroy Adair, Quincy, Democrats.

Kenneth Romney, sergeant at arms of the house of representatives in Washington, accompanied the delegation.

United States Senators James Hamilton Lewis and William Dieterich of Illinois, named to represent the upper house, were unable to attend.

ZELL H. DEMING, WARREN, OHIO, PUBLISHER, DIES

New York, April 26.—(AP)—Mrs. Zell Hart Deming, 64, publisher of the Warren, O., Tribune-Chronicle, died suddenly early today of a heart attack which followed an attack of indigestion.

Mrs. Deming's body was found in her hotel suite about 10 a. m., by Dr. A. V. Lyman, house physician. He said she died three hours earlier. The light was on in the bathroom, he added, indicating she had been up. Dr. Lyman had been treating her since Wednesday night when she was seized by an attack of indigestion. George Farmer of Warren, her secretary, said Mrs. Deming had been ill for several months.

Mrs. Deming attended a meeting of the Associated Press Monday and the convention of the American Newspaper Publishers' association. She had been active in the management of her business to the end.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Hal Kemp, who is accustomed to getting up about three in the afternoon, since he works until three a. m. as an orchestra leader, is rising one hour earlier every morning this week so that he may be on time when he launches a new "Morning Matinée" program over W-G-N-MBS from 8 to 8:45 next Thursday morning. Jessica Dragonette will appear on the same program. She will be interviewed by Nellie Revell. On each successive week another well known orchestra and guest radio star will be presented. Thus Kemp will be able to resume his regular sleeping habits the following week.

Another person who will have to revise his snoozing schedule this week is young Arthur Wright, tenor soloist with Kay Kyser's orchestra. He works late at the Trianon every night but must be on hand at W-G-N studios at 10 each morning this week for guest appearances on the Friendly Neighbor's house party.

Columbia has a new idea for a radio program. Each Sunday night, beginning May 10, a Community Sing is to be put on the air from the CBS playhouse in New York. Old and new favorites will be used, the words to be flashed on a screen. John Barclay will lead the singing. Studio audiences will be invited to come half an hour early to tune up for the sing. Prominent guest conductors to be used later will include Leopold Stokowski, Kate Smith, Walter O'Keefe, and Morton Downey. If the program clicks, it will be taken on the road to other key cities.

Spring is here and radio has become color conscious. The WMAQ-NBC network has been named officially the "red" network and the WENR-WLS chain the "blue." Out on the west coast it has an "orange" network. American Telephone and Telegraph company started this red and blue designation years ago, but it has just been formally adopted by NBC. Those colors are used on maps and charts to designate the various outlets and on wires which the telephone company uses for connections when a hookup is arranged.

For these purposes the Mutual network is "gold" and Columbia is "purple."

Ben Bernie's orchestra will play their May 12 commercial show in Chicago studios. Ben is now in Boston. Lanny Ross is expected to make a guest appearance with him here in a fortnight. . . . Al Kavelin, who wound up his long stay at the Mayfair room of the Blackstone and on W-G-N, is to open a ballroom at Sheboygan, Wis., on May 2, which is to be called the Mayfair ballroom. . . . Abe Lyman, who performs nightly over CBS from the College Inn, is doubling at the Palace theater this week.

Jim Ameche, the hero of the CBS "Jack Armstrong" series and young brother of Don Ameche, the NBC and movie actor, is playing in a Monday evening show entitled "Spotlight" over Samuel Insull's new ABC network. The play for tonight is "The Lady and the Undertaker," having to do with the home life of a radio comedian. Delle Gillis plays in it with Ameche. Try for it on WWAE at 9:30, or some of the out of town ABC stations.

Women Clash Over School of Public Affairs

Club Leaders Attack Plan for U. S. Academy.

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Miami, Fla., April 26.—[Special.]—On the eve of the opening of the 17th council meeting of the General Federation of Women's Clubs here tomorrow, at least one lively political skirmish is promised. It will come to the council floor Tuesday or Wednesday, when a resolution approving the principle and general purpose of a bill for the establishment of a national academy of public affairs is read.

A bill embodying a plan for an academy where men and women would be trained for public service of an administrative character was introduced in congress last year by Representative Wesley E. Disney [Dem., Okla.].

The bill calls for $5,000,000 to set up the institution in the District of Columbia, and an annual appropriation for its maintenance. It would be under the supervision of a board composed of the secretaries of state, treasury, interior, commerce, agriculture, and labor. The students would attend free of charge. Each congressman would have the right to appoint one student to the academy each year from his district and each senator two a year from his state. The President of the United States would appoint 50 at large.

Last January this bill was given the approval of the board of directors of the General federation and then it was referred to the respective states for study. Now the state delegates are asked to take action here.

But approval in this larger body, at least without dispute, does not appear likely. The bill has been freely criticized as a New Deal measure.

"Such an academy is likely to be just another political plum, just another football for the congressmen," Mrs. William Larrabee Jr. of Iowa City, Iowa director of the General federation, said today.

Mrs. Larrabee said educators in Iowa had pointed out to her that "such a national academy is unnecessary, since the country's colleges and universities provide plenty of courses to train young men and women for administrative public service."

Mrs. Larrabee's attitude is shared by Mrs. Thomas Mohn of Red Wing, Minn., another influential member of the council body and president of the Minnesota federation. Since the academy plan is to come before the Illinois federation at its state convention May 20, the Illinois delegates have declined to express an opinion. Representative Disney is scheduled as a speaker at the Illinois convention.

Representative Disney is a neighbor of Mrs. Roberta Campbell Lawson of Tulsa, Okla., General federation president who is giving the proposed academy her enthusiastic backing.

"The academy bill has been criticized as a New Deal measure," Mrs. Lawson said today, "but are West Point and Annapolis political? The plan for the selection of entrants into this academy is the same as that for the military and naval academies. 'Way back in 1775 George Washington, in his military camp in Cambridge, expressed confidence that a national university would one day be established in the national capital."

Another resolution to come before the council body is expected to call forth considerable discussion, if not dispute. It reaffirms the federation stand that favors United States membership in the league of nations "with the provision that the United States shall not be obliged to adopt measures which might involve the use of armed force or be contrary to our commitments under the Kellogg pact; and that the decision as to what action shall be taken by the United States in case the peace of nations is threatened shall rest with the government of the United States, acting in accordance to the constitution." The Italo-Ethiopian war will be the reason for discussion on this resolution, Mrs. Lawson said today.

CHICAGO balletomanes, like Prof. Samuel N. Harper, are eager for the new delights of the Ballet Russe, such as the gypsy dances from Darmgomijsky's opera "Russalka," which will be staged for the first time in Chicago when Col. de Basil's company opens at the Auditorium Wednesday evening, as well as for the now familiar phenomena of the ballet. Massine's tremendous style in "Beau Danube," and in his barmen's dance in "Union Pacific," Conductor Dorati's impassioned podium manners, the enchanting Blue Bird number in "Aurora's Wedding," which invariably is encored again and again; Toumanova as the miller's wife in "Three-Cornered Hat," and lovely Baronova in anything in which she dances.

Ballet Russe—Envy—Sign—Variation—Habit.

The choreography of the gypsy dances was devised by Bronislawa Nijinska, sister of the famous Nijinsky of the old ballet, who also is responsible for the staging of Strawinsky's "Les Noces," which cannot be given here this spring, due to production exaction, which, among other things, calls for a chorus of eighty. A gifted artist, although she does not dance, Mme. Nijinska, on the occasions when she is called in to reherse the dances, drills them for hours at a time. Sitting at the footlights in a tweed suit, smoking innumerable cigarets in a long holder, her dark eyes see everything and she never hesitates over the finest minutiae of the most intricate bits, according to those who have watched her.

Jane Withers Is Nearly Perfect When She Gets Suitable Story

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

Well, little Jane Withers, what a lov-a-ly picture you've given us this time!

Thank your producers, Honey, for taking time out to get you a suitable story. You've been so unlucky up till now with your starring vehicles!

Shure, you knew just what to do as that little Irish colleen who came all alone, save for that small bewhiskered pup, to meet her mamma in America, only to find that mamma wasn't here any more!

Shure, you were gallant and daring to run away from Ellis Island and we hand it to you for the manner in which you breasted adventures, sad, difficult, and funny, till the day when—but my goodness, Janie!—a movie critic mustn't be afther given all of yer secrets away . . .!

"Paddy O'Day" is clean, entertaining, well acted. It has an up and coming cast of adults, zippy music, handsful of laughable situations and pathos that never gets sickish.

Jane is perfect as Paddy. Never overplays. Never gets smarty. Is just a dear, honest to goodness youngster you want to root for. And she looks so darned sweet, especially in bed on the boat—the night before it lands.

Now go see "Paddy O'Day" and take the family with you! BECAUSE it's one of those "just swell" all-family movies.

Assert Cagney Contract Is Binding Pending Appeal

Los Angeles, Cal., April 26.—(AP)—James Cagney's status as an actor was a bit muddled today. Superior Judge Charles L. Bogue refused yesterday to grant Warner Brothers studio a new trial in the suit through which the actor abrogated his $4,500 a week contract. But studio attorneys pointed out they will appeal the decision and that Cagney still is bound by his agreement, at least until the Supreme court acts.

Movie Colony Goes Back to Wild Spending

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., April 26.—The well salaried portion of Hollywood, meaning the producers who get themselves on the Washington, D. C., lists as drawers of $200,000 or more per annum; the players who rate from $100 a week to $75,000 a picture, and the directors and writers who are in the four figure class are again finding life financially free and easy, much as it was before the depression.

The current year in films has seen a phenomenal reopening of luxury shops, night clubs, big premières, and grandiose real estate investments, which owe their chief support to the sort of folk mentioned above. The luxury shops range from the flower shops that specialize on orchids to swank auto salons and dress shops where madame the proprietor serves cocktails and highballs from her mahogany bar to all the screen gals who pop in to look around.

Several blocks of new buildings, each including numerous individualized shops in white stucco, have been built along the opposite sides of Sunset boulevard where it narrows just before the entrance into Beverly Hills. One of these shops is highly individual. Its business in confined to purveying race horse information and publications. A beautiful brunette secretary is in charge. There is a bright sign which blazons "Turf." There are racks, shelves, and counters laden with race track sheets and these are supplemented with a smattering of other magazines.

Three new millinery shops have opened in one block. Each hat shop is operated or backed by a woman in films. Mrs. Richard Wallace, wife of the director, backs one. The mother of George Breakston, French-American child star, under the name Jacqueline Duval, backs another. Lila Lee and Patsy Ruth Miller sell hats and gowns. Mrs. Pat O'Brien has a similar shop.

The film colony set which is most free with its money—because it draws the most money—continues to patronize the now nationally known Clover club and the smart Trocadero night club, where prices for everything are almost as intimidating as New York's antecrash days; but besides these places and a dozen other new ones, a flock of roulette cafés have sprung up. A form of game on a wheel which the Hollywood crowd refers to as "roulette," but which its proprietors, as well as the police of Redondo and other nearby beach resort places, describe as "a legal game of skill" has become a rage. Mixed crowds of film folk dine, drive to the beach, and "play the wheel" until breakfast.

P. E. N. to Give Party Today for Col. Isham

N. U. Dinner Will Precede His Lecture Tonight.

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE visit to Chicago of Col. Ralph Heyward Isham is occasioning the giving of several social affairs, including a luncheon today at the Casino by the P. E. N. club, which comes out of retirement only when there is some very distinguished member of the literary world in the city. Fanny Butcher [Mrs. Richard Bokum] is president of the Chicago branch of this international society and Arthur Meeker Jr. is the secretary.

The members of the board of directors are Dorothy Keeley Aldis [Mrs. Graham Aldis], Margaret Ayer Barnes [Mrs. Cecil Barnes], George Dillon, Janet Ayer Fairbank [Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank], David Hamilton, Robert Morss Lovett, Harriet Monroe, and Marion Strobel Mitchell [Mrs. James H. Mitchell]. Mr. Dillon and Mr. Hamilton do not live in Chicago any longer, and Mrs. Fairbank is abroad, so they will not be at today's luncheon.

Dinner to Precede Lecture Tonight.

Col. Isham, banker, soldier, and collector, is to talk tonight on "Adventures in Literature" in Thorne hall on McKinlock campus of Northwestern university. The university has arranged a dinner party so that a group of friends of the university may meet Col. Isham before the lecture. The dinner will be at the Drake hotel and among those who will be there are President and Mrs. Walter Dill Scott, the junior George W. Blossoms, Eugene J. Buffington, the George T. Buckinghams, the Rush C. Butlers, the James A. Cathcarts, the William W. Dixons, the George A. Masons, the Robert S. Piries, Fred A. Poor, the Conrad H. Poppenhusens, the Lewis C. Walkers, the Irwin Rews, the Thomas A. Gonsers, the Leslie M. Gooders, the Charles O. Rundalls, and the Walter P. McBrides.

Tomorrow night the Fortnightly is having a dinner party for Col. Isham, after which he will speak on "Lawrence of Arabia." Col. Isham, who financed the translation of the Odyssey and other writings, published the long lost Boswell papers and purchased the manuscripts for $4,000,000. It was while he was in the British army that he became a close friend of Lawrence, about whom he will talk tomorrow night.

The Charles B. Goodspeeds' late supper parties are among the most distingué parties Chicago society enjoys, so those who have been bidden to have supper Wednesday night at 11 o'clock at the Arts club to meet Leonide Massine are looking forward with pleasure to the affair. Massine is perhaps the leading member of the Monte Carlo Ballet Russe, which is opening an eight day engagement at the Auditorium Wednesday night.

Society will be out in numbers for the première, although it is not a benefit, as most of the opening nights of the Monte Carlo Ballet have been since the first time it performed here the year before last sponsored by the

Dancer Limits Art; Leads It Into New Paths

Martha Graham Engrosses Large Audience.

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Martha Graham's exquisite but limited art engrossed a large audience in the Studebaker theater yesterday afternoon. The famous American dancer's art is limited because she willed it so, breaking with the past in a manner so definite and final that much of what we would call the good was lost in the process along with the bad.

With one or two other lonely souls she had to assume the lead after this violent break and take upon herself the task of leading the ancient form into new and undreamed of paths. What has she found in these untrodden byways to compensate for the old delights that were left behind—the sheer intoxication of rhythmic, patterned, inevitable motion; the childish but always joyful spirit of direct mimicry and pictorial representation?

The most important thing she has found is a method by which the very essence of a person, a situation, an emotion can be expressed through the medium of the dance. This is a far cry from the art of the mime, and a still farther one from that form of the dance which is actually dependent almost entirely on the musical background to fill in those implications missing from the dancer's own performance.

Deep plasticity of mind and body and a rare gift for deep discernment have enabled Martha Graham to translate into terms of her art ideas of such subtlety that great quantities of words have hitherto been considered the only adequate medium for them. Graham attempts to extract the essence.

For instance, "Act of Piety" is not a portrayal of a fanatic, nor of a puritan, nor of an inquisition, nor of any of the other accidents of the three dimensional aspect of the spirit that underlies the fiercer types of religious experience. It is that spirit transferred direct to Graham's art without any of the intermediate steps. And the "Frenetic Rhythm" is vulgarity not the interpreter's idea of how a vulgarian looks or acts.

The San Carlo Opera company elected to sing its farewell to Chicago in the melodious pages of "Carmen." Another capacity crowd filled the Auditorium for the event. Ina Bourskaya took the title rôle and made of the vixenish cigaret girl a

Her Husband's Past

By Elizabeth York Miller

SYNOPSIS.

Nell Martin meets and falls in love with Eric Cameron from London, an older divorced man, who is visiting in Wellsport. She ignores her parents' pleas to forget him and accept Dick Holmes, her childhood sweetheart. Nell elopes with Eric to London. On their honeymoon she learns Eric has two children, Meg, 17, and Robin, 15; that she must make her home with them, and with the mother of Hilda, his first wife. Hilda has married again. Her children believe her dead. Nell discovers the household is hard pressed for money. Her first day there a collector comes to shut off the gas. Nell goes for her purse to pay him.

INSTALMENT VII.

A SUSPECTED THEFT.

Nell sped away before Meg could offer any objection and was halfway up the second flight of stairs when she saw Mrs. Beaumont in her nightgown scuttling along the hall to her room in a tremendous hurry. The door was slammed violently behind her and the key turned in the lock.

It wasn't until Nell reached her own room that she discovered what seemed to be the significance of the old woman's peculiar behavior.

The place was in sufficient disorder to show that Mrs. Beaumont had been interrupted in a tour of investigation. The door of the hanging cupboard was half open, a drawer in the chest had been shut so hastily that a scarf was caught in it, and the suitcase which Nell had not yet unpacked had its lid open and the contents tumbled about.

Her lips set in an angry line as she got on her knees to hunt for the brown canvas bag in which she kept her savings.

But the bag was not there.

Needless to say the money had disappeared, too—fifty odd pounds in notes, silver, and even coppers, which represented the entire wealth Nell Cameron possessed in the world.

It was not necessary to ask oneself what had become of it.

That wicked, thieving old woman!

Downstairs Meg and the collector were waiting for Nell to come back with the money for the gas bill, but they would have to go on waiting until she made quite sure about this.

Indeed, one must be very, very sure.

Twice she went through her possessions; once in feverish haste and the second time more carefully. But there was no doubt about it at all, the little canvas bag with its contents was gone.

"I never see'd your money. Get out!"

She remembered what granny had said about the scarcity of money in this house. The old woman's hints had brought a sharp reprimand from Meg who was obviously ashamed of her.

There was only one thing to do. Mrs. Beaumont could not be allowed to get away with wholesale larceny.

Nell went along the hall to the old woman's door and hammered on it, but she had to bang several times before there was any response. Finally it was opened a couple of inches.

Nell pushed her way in without ceremony.

"Hoity-toity, what now? I thought the house must be afire."

Granny scrambled back into bed and drew the covers up to her chin, peering over them with an owlish, affronted stare.

"Can't a body have a leetle peace?" she demanded querulously.

Nell drew in a long breath as though steeling herself for mortal combat.

"Mrs. Beaumont, will you please give me back the money you took out of my room just now? It was in a suitcase. In a little brown canvas bag. I must have it at once as there's a man downstairs waiting with a bill that has to be paid."

The old woman straightened up, giving a striking imitation of a stag at bay.

"Are you accusing me of being a thief?" she boomed.

"I expect you only took it out of curiosity. You were in my room just now, weren't you?"

"I only went there to see what clothes you brought with you. I like to look at pretty clothes. When my Hilda was with us——"

"Please give me my money, Mrs. Beaumont."

"I never see'd any money. You're making a good start, my girl. And it that's the way you're going on, you'll be unlucky. I was telling the cards for you this morning, and they didn't hold much luck for you as it happened. Get out of my room—and stay out."

Nell felt that she was in the presence of a witch—that resonant voice cracking in anger, those snapping eyes and the bony forefinger shaking at her, filled her with a dismay amounting to actual fear.

She backed out of the room and closed the door.

Meg was at the top of the basement stairs, wondering what was keeping her so long.

"I'm sorry, but I haven't got it," Nell told her. "I thought I had but was mistaken."

"Very well, he can turn off the gas then," Meg said. "It will serve daddy right if we have to have a cold supper."

Nell went back to her room completely exhausted from that scene with granny.

Her head was throbbing and she threw herself down on the narrow little bed with a shuddering sigh.

Of course she would have to tell Eric about this. Perhaps Mrs. Beaumont was in the habit of pilfering. Perhaps Eric would be able to get the money back from her.

After a while Nell dozed off, and did not wake up till she felt the warmth of her husband's arms around her. It was quite dark by now, and she had no idea what the time was.

"My poor darling! You haven't had a very cheery day, have you? Meg told me about the gas collector, but it's all right now. She went out and gave me a wigging over the telephone and I got on to the company at once. Poor Meg—she was dreadfully upset—mortified that you were there when it happened."

"I would have paid the bill," Nell said, "only, I couldn't find my money. Eric, I'm awfully sorry, but I've got to tell you——"

"Great Scott, you must have thought you'd been robbed!" Eric began to laugh, but Nell's anxious expression soon sobered him. "I should have told you that I was going to take your money to the bank. Do you remember, you spoke to me about it yesterday, and I said I'd deposit it for you? I went up and fetched it before I left this afternoon. I had to go to the bank anyway. . . . My darling, what on earth's the matter! You're trembling like a leaf."

"What have I done—O, what have I done!" Nell cried.

It was some time before she was sufficiently calm to tell him of the accusation she had brought against granny.

Eric was very kind. He assured Nell it was all his fault for not telling her he had taken her money. He blamed it on the hurry he was in after lunch.

But underneath her husband's kindness she divined a little criticism. She realized now that she had acted too hastily in following the old woman to her room and accusing her of theft, but she didn't want Eric to bring up that point and winced when he said: "If only you had waited until I came home."

"Yes, but Meg needed money for the gas collector," she replied a little irritably. "And, anyway, what right had Mrs. Beaumont to sneak into my room and poke around amongst my things? She admitted doing that. So naturally, what else could I think when the money was gone but that she had taken it?"

"All the same, I think you should have waited—gas bill or no gas bill."

Nell released herself from his arms and went to the little mirror over the chest of drawers. Her face looked ravaged. She dabbed on powder and used her hairbrush with a defiant air. Of course she was in the wrong, and she would have to apologize to the old harridan.

"I'll go now and tell her I'm sorry," she said sulkily.

"Do you want me to come with you? Would it make it any easier?"

"No thank you, Eric. I'd better go alone. I got myself into this mess and it's up to me to do what I can to get out of it."

BY MARY MEADE.

The Russians and Hungarians, noted for distinctive national fare, make much of sour cream in their cookery. The good old fashioned American cook adopted some of these foreign born dishes for her own table and added a few of her own in the form of sour cream sugar cookies, devil's food cake, and the like.

With dependably uniform soured cream all sorts of new delights appear on the family dinner table.

Savory Stuffed Tomatoes

4 large fresh tomatoes
2 tablespoons minced green pepper
6 tablespoons thick sour cream
½ cup cooked veal, chopped
½ cup cooked rice
Salt, pepper
4 large mushroom caps

Scoop out about half the pulp from the inside of the tomatoes. Chop the pulp and combine with green pepper, sour cream, veal, rice, and seasonings to taste. Refill tomatoes, place in a buttered baking dish with a little melted butter, and bake at 350 degrees F. for 25 to 30 minutes, basting occasionally. Top each with a sautéd mushroom cap, rounded side up, before serving.

Chicken Baked in Sour Cream

1 stewing chicken
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1½ cups sour cream

Cut up fowl as for stewing and rub with seasonings. Place in casserole and pour on the sour cream. Cover and bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees F., until fowl is tender, about two to two and a half hours.

Date Sour Cream Pie

3 eggs
½ cup honey
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup sour cream
1 cup chopped dates
3 tablespoons honey

Separate the eggs and beat the yolks. Add the one-third cup honey, blended with the flour and cinnamon. Add the sour cream and dates, and cook over boiling water until thickened, stirring constantly. Pour into baked pie shell or tart shells. Beat egg whites to stiff froth and add the three tablespoons of honey. Spread on pie or tarts and brown lightly in a slow oven.

Mother to Be Should Have Medical Care

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

This is Baby week.

Flowers and letters, telegrams, and gifts usually accompany specially appointed days like Mother's day or Father's day.

But Baby week is not planned for the expression of love in the form of delectable presents—frothy knitted things, specially crocheted afghans, embroidered covers, state christening robes, dashing bootees, silver mugs, or teething rings.

Baby week is not being observed for the bestowal of material things. It is planned with the aim of securing for all babies that precious gift, perfect health.

Health plans for the baby begin before he is born. With all the talk there has been about the importance of prenatal care, still thousands upon thousands of expectant mothers have no attention, and seek no advice before the time comes for their baby to arrive. The result is that many of their babies become sick, or die unnecessarily.

Ignorance and neglect are to blame. Women must somehow be made to realize the vital importance of going to, and keeping in regular touch with a private physician, a hospital clinic, or a maternity center as soon as they know that they are to become mothers. In addition, women can learn much from brief reading, and from full-length books.

The decrease in infant mortality when the mother is under supervision before the baby is born, and also when mother and baby are watched over afterward, is striking proof of the value of intelligent care.

woman's aid society of the Passavant Memorial hospital. Balletomanes are numerous, however, all over Chicago, and society, almost as a whole, has taken the Monte Carlo Ballet Russe to its heart.

The program Wednesday night will include one ballet new to Chicago, "Lac des Cygnes," and also "Scheherazade" and "Choreartium."

Cora Kling Engaged to Wed F. F. Morr.

At a luncheon Saturday in their home in Orrington avenue, Evanston, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy A. Kling announced the engagement of their daughter, Cora Winston, to Franklin F. Morr of Dubuque, Ia. The party was given ostensibly for Miss Lorna Anderson of Rock Island, who is visiting Miss Kling.

Miss Kling attended the Roycemore school and was graduated from Northwestern university last June. Mr. Morr, who now lives in Chicago, is a graduate of Northwestern. The wedding will take place in October.

Chicagoans to Attend Bryn Mawr May Festival.

The Bryn Mawr May day on May 8 and 9 will occasion a veritable exodus from Chicago of alumnæ and parents whose daughters are at the college. Mrs. William G. Hibbard is taking her two sub-deb nieces, Eunice Hale and Julie Follansbee, to see the picturesque Elizabethan revel. Miss Follansbee's oldest sister, Mrs. Helmuth von Erffa, whose husband is an instructor at Bryn Mawr this year, is actively interested in the production end.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest S. Ballard and the Warren Lamsons will be going east to see their daughters, Miss Betsy Ballard and Miss Jean Lamson, take part in the pageant. The Rollin Woods, the John Ritchies, and Gen. and Mrs. Herron, whose daughters. Miss Mary Wood, Miss Mary Ritchie, and Miss Louise Herron, also are Bryn Mawr students, are others who will be at the revels, and so will be Miss Helen Bell, Miss Elisabeth Dewes, Mrs. Ronald Webster, Mrs. Francis Dammann, and Mrs. James A. Field.

N. U. Settlement Benefit Yields Profit of $1,900.

After paying all the expenses for their Easter Monday card party and fashion show at the Country club of Evanston members of the Evanston women's board of Northwestern university settlement were delighted to find that they have the sum of $1,900 to turn over to the settlement. This was the profit from the party which was reported at a luncheon given for the board by Mrs. Albert H. Wetten and Mrs. John E. Wilder last week at the Glen View club.

The Woman's Auxiliary of Grant hospital is holding its anual card party this afternoon at the Nurses' home, 536 Webster avenue. Mrs. Frank Porter and Mrs. Frederick L. McNally are in charge of the benefit, which always is one of the most popular of the spring card parties. Two of the party's several attractions are the handsome prizes offered and the delicious German coffee cake which is served during the afternoon.

Among those assisting with the party are Mrs. Henry Bartholomay, president of the auxiliary; Mrs. Robert W. Hyman, Mrs. H. Paul Juergens, Mrs. Walter Lefens, and Mrs. Frederick Gillespie.

Consular Staf to Be Guests of Alliance Francaise.

The annual meeting of the Alliance Française will be held at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon in the Fine Arts building. Jean Strauss, chargé d'affaires for the French consulate, and attachés of the consulate, will be guests of the alliance. Mrs. L. Hamilton McCormick will be hostess at tea after the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Zaring are celebrating their seventh wedding anniversary today, but they are not entertaining in any way to mark the occasion. Mr. Zaring and the former Marion Dixon returned only a week ago from the south and are at home in their new apartment in Lake Shore drive.

Fourteen years ago the late Mrs. Eugene Buffington of Evanston and a group of women founded an organization to promote educational and vocational guidance among the rural young people of the south. Called the Southern Woman's Educational Alliance, the organization is made up of women of southern birth or descent, and every year it gives a party to raise funds for its work.

This year's benefit will be a bridge-tea to be given next Friday at the Casino. Mrs. Louis Rubel is chairman, assisted by Mrs. William Allen Pusey, Mrs. Hubert Burnham, and Mrs. Hal Crompton Bangs. The University of Chicago branch of the alliance is giving a benefit Wednesday night at Ida Noyes hall when Dean Gordon J. Laing will lecture.

Settlement League Plans Style Show.

The University of Chicago Settlement league will give a fashion show this afternoon at Ida Noyes hall on the campus. Mrs. Harvey Brace Lemon, wife of the civics professor, is president of the league.

The junior board of the Chicago Home for Convalescent Women and Children has sent out invitations to a rummage tea on Tuesday, May 5, from 3 until 5 o'clock at 4950 Chicago Beach drive. Every one who attends the tea is expected to bring a bundle to be sold later at the shop.

Shirtwaist in New Manner

WOMAN'S AND MISS' FROCK.

The shirtwaist dress is axiomatic when it comes to active or spectator sports. There may be seasonal variations in the smart attire for sports wear, but no vagaries of fashion can dim the perennial effectiveness of the type of dress illustrated today. It has typical shirtmaker lines, but certain distinctive details make it definitly "this season." The cut of the shoulder, a modified raglan, gives the smart broad effect. Pert pockets are set squarely on the bodice and trimmed with buttons to match those which trim the opening. The skirt is snug at the hips, while a "kick" plait is the formula for action around the hemline.

For participation in sports you will, perhaps, prefer the version sketched at the left. The sleeves are short and the neckline is turned down to form revers. The belt is casual. Cotton fabrics with rough finish launder well and are ideal for this version of the frock.

The sketch at the right shows how attractive this dress can be for general and spectator sports wear. The high, round neckline is accented with a clever bow. The belt is strictly tailored, and the sleeves are long and full, tightly cuffed. Tub silks, linen, and cottons all are excellent mediums for this frock.

Style No. 2703 is designed for sizes 14, 16, and 18 years, and 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 3¼ yards of 39 inch material, with 1½ yards of 2 inch ribbon for the belt or a lether belt may be worn.

vehement and exciting characterization. Her rich mezzo fitted the taunting ditties of the part nicely.

Josepha Chekova, a youthful soprano with a fresh and dewy voice quality, made a convincingly bucolic Micaela.

Fortune Gallo's tireless troupe is not through with the roads of the country yet. The next stop is Toledo —then Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Richmond. No more San Carlo opera for Chicago now until fall.

Mae Willems, a blind pianist and singer, gave a full length program at Kimball hall yesterday afternoon. Two Brahms intermezzi and a rhapsody by the same composer, all drawn from among the works of his introspective later years, revealed in the recitalist a fund of quiet poetry and a gift for coherent phrasing.

She did not succeed in making the Schumann G minor sonata convincing —but who does? The undoubted musical importance of this most unpianistic item in the instrument's repertoire is compromised by its creator's failure to find the proper medium for the expression of his headlong, polyrhythmed ideas.

Miss Willems sang an arduous excerpt from "Die Todte Stadt" to begin her first vocal group, and followed it with the Liszt "Lorelei" and Strauss' "Zueignung." A lyrical nature, which permits her to enter knowingly into the more fervent type of song, and a light soprano voice, true to pitch and pleasant of quality, make her a good interpreter of the German lied. The intelligent and expert accompaniments to Miss Willems' songs were the work of Mae Doelling-Schmidt.

Running concurrently with this recital was the one by Stravros Chiapis in the Blackstone theater. This personable Greek tenor had never before sung a Chicago program.

Mr. Chiapis' talent is of a kind generally associated with the operatic stage rather than the concert platform. He dramatizes his songs excitingly, but fails sometimes to take full advantage of the chances a program offers for lyric contrast. This comment is based on a performance of Manning's "In the Luxumbourg Gardens" yesterday that lacked the easy, relaxed quality by which the music might profit so mightily.

Rubenstein's "Der Asra" was presented in heroic style. This is the type of song in which Mr. Chiapis is at his best. Skilful Frederick Shauwecker played the accompaniments.

Change in Diet Is Excellent for Oily Skin

Eliminating Fatty Foods Is Important Measure.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

All shine that is seen on noses cannot be attributed to oily skin. The nose shines most when the skin is oily, true. But a nose will shine also when it has a dry skin on its surface. The dry shine and the oily are different. The former has a shine resembling that of an onion skin, whereas the oily skin appears with a moist, oozy shine, and with the latter the pores are likely to show more plainly and powder cakes in a messy way. With the dry skin, the powder flakes rather than cakes.

It's well, before beginning remedies and buying cosmetics, to decide to which class your particular skin belongs. You can tell the oily skin by the simple process of rubbing your tissue over it and noting the oil refuse thereon.

If the skin proves to be of the oily variety, why not begin right now and reduce your former spring and summer troubles with it. I would suggest, by all means, a change in diet. It isn't always true that the oily skinned one surfeits on fatty foods, but it so often is true that the conclusion usually is drawn that too much fats and sweets are being taken. If you love cream and butter and fat meats, such as ham, bacon, pork, duck, goose, etc., and the rich mayonnaise type of dressings, cream dressings, fried foods, etc., you must revolutionize your diet completely to reduce that oil flow from the skin glands.

I would urge that you go on as fatless a diet as you can manage. Right now, you can get along on a minimum of these things, substituting lighter meats, salads, fruits, fruit juices, and stewed fruit desserts. It's amazing what this dieting for the skin will do to clear up the oily surface.

Another thing I would strongly urge, before looking into surface cosmetics, is to regulate elimination. Every skin specialist with whom I ever have talked, agrees that constipation causes a great deal of the oily skin trouble. The fatty foods and this ailment go together. Whether you have a taste for water or not, put yourself on the water wagon and see how much you can get into your system per day until you see an improvement in the condition of your skin.

Every skin has to be kept clean, but if one type of skin needs absolute punishment with soap and water, it is the oily. I don't think washing the face three times a day too often; scrubbing it hard, too, I mean. If you'll wash it in hot water, then rinse in warm and, finally, splash great gobs of cold water on it, you're doing the best possible thing to correct the sluggishness and sickly oil gland condition that causes the surcharge of oil.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

After the long, hard winter skins show signs of wear and tear in one important respect—dryness, tinged with dinginess. Women who can afford it and who're wise in the way of beauty are trotting off to the beauty salons, there to have body massages embroidered with slathers of cream. Those of us who have budget trouble have to make the best of the situation with home treatments.

The right soap is the starting point in correcting extremely dry skin. It simply must be bland. So, for all of you who're suffering from uncomfortable dryness, particularly after the bath, we hasten to tell you about a bargain in bland soaps, with a cold cream base, that can be used in hard as well as soft water. You can get a dozen cakes for less than half a dozen dimes. It's made for one of the shops here. We suggest that you stock up for spring and summer.

This soap makes a creamy lather, and tons of it. Incidental facts about it are that it comes in six colors and six fragrances—though the odor is in each case almost ephemeral. The real news about it is that it is so mild and so creamy. AND so inexpensive. The bath itch brigade and all women with thin, sensitive skin prone to dryness will find that it does more than a bit to alleviate dryness.

You'll find that this soap doesn't disappear in a whirl of lather so quickly it ceases to be a bargain. It lasts as long as you can expect any cake of good soap to. The pink cakes are scented with rose; the green with jasmin; the cream with gardenia; the blue with hyacinth; the orchid with lavender and the white with a fresh bouquet.

Take your choice of colors to harmonize with the bathroom scheme or scents that suit your soul.

Style Season Kind to Tastes of Individuals

BY RHEA SEEGER.

It's a big spring for individual clothes . . . the smart concoctions of color, material, and trimmings are not priced sky high, either. For perfectly reasonable sums that any one wouldn't mind spending you can get the best finds of any fashion hunter's busy day. For instance, the old classic white dotted silks. This spring they come in navy, British tan [a good copper], and May wine [really a Dubonnet red], and the dots are white and not too large.

Over them go the newest of coats—dull white sharkskin, a material that looks for all the world like the success of a few season's back, "angelskin." Remember? This sharkskin is guaranteed to wash like your pocket handkerchief and the coat is a knockout, swinging casually, but fitted enough to keep it from looking downright pluggy. If you wish, you can buy the coats alone, but the dotted dresses and coat duet are exciting.

Another whizz of an idea is a dull black crêpe dress with a deep swinging shoulder cape, trimmed with chamois yellow big buttons. Over it wear a chamois yellow crêpe coat with the cape of the dress pulled over the shoulders of the coat. Presto, you have the best double dramatics unpacked in a long time.

People headed for afternoon weddings of early spring will dash out with the semi-tailored lace suits . . . they're pretty smooth, too! They come in dove gray, blue, and black, have sharp front plaits in the shirt, short sleeves in the dress top, and long rather full sleeves in the loosely styled jacket coat.

Marquisette is staging a big comeback. A daisy embroidered affair is most effective with huge brown eyed susans strewn all over the black marquisette. Then on the belt, four large white daisies for a belt buckle. A good rustling silk black petticoat comes with the dress.

A deep blue dress and short jacket combine has tangerine and bright blue three leaf clovers appliqued on both the dress and the jacket. These tangerines are about two inches in width and make the outfit most distinctive.

New dinner dresses that will positively make your eyes pop are the brilliantly hued crêpes copied from the blazing Tyrolean challis . . . one has a bright blue background with crimson rambler roses, the other a white background with purple flowers and jade green leaves. These dresses have simple halter top, but swirl madly around the hemline. The swirl is achieved by shiny patent lether binding in the same color as the blossoms in the print.

Fashion photograph . . . a long clinging nightgown of bright colored printed silk crêpe. This is a new spring model that can easily double for a dinner and dance dress. The princess silhouette is achieved with fitted diagonal seaming and a sash tie belt. A flower of the same material is fastened at the V neckline. It is available in a Chicago shop.

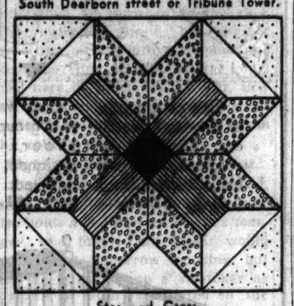
"Star and Cross" Quilt Inspired by Biblical History

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices: One South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.



Star and Cross.

BY NANCY CABOT.

"Star and Cross" is another of the old pieced quilts inspired by biblical literature. It is the second oldest quilt of that name, the first being pieced in 1840 in New York. The pattern illustrated today was pieced in 1869 in a small town seven or eight miles outside of Clinton, Ia. Yellow, violet prints, purple, and white form a modern color arrangement selected for this pattern, although the original design contained brown, brown and red print material and white.

According to CULBERTSON

WHEN TO BID A SUIT RATHER THAN ONE NO TRUMP.

When holding the necessary requirements in honor tricks and distribution for an opening bid in no trump, the no trump bid should be preferred even to a biddable suit. This applies only to 4-3-3-3 hands.

On hands which are somewhat too strong for a one no trump bid [about five plus honor tricks or five honor tricks with seven or eight honor cards] and not quite strong enough for two no trump, a suit should be bid in preference to one no trump.

For example, bid one club with:

♠ A 10 6 ♥ K 7 5 3 ♦ A Q 5 ♣ A K 2

or

♠ A J 2 ♥ A 6 5 ♦ A K Q ♣ K J 4 3

Pseudo Throw-in Play.

The elimination and throw-in play leaves a profound impression on average and lesser players who have been its victims. Often they are too cowed to consider whether they really are "caught" or not. They merely make frantic efforts to escape from a trap that may or may not be in working order. The declarer in today's hand took full advantage of this state of panic.

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

NORTH

SOUTH

♣ A K 8

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	Pass	2 hearts	2 spades
4 hearts [final bid]

West opened the deuce of spades and East cashed two tricks in the suit, after which he led the seven of clubs. Declarer won, drew the adverse trumps, and then played the king and eight of clubs. West won with the jack, East's queen having fallen on the second club lead.

West should not have been in difficulty for safe exit. He had, if he chose to use it, a perfect count on the declarer's hand. Declarer had shown an exact holding of four hearts and three clubs; East's vulnerable two spade bid could not have been made on less than a five card suit and, therefore, South's spade holding was marked as the two cards already played. This left four diamonds and, since dummy also had four, a ruff and a discard could do declarer no earthly good.

But West was incapable of counting out a hand or, perhaps, was too lazy! All he knew was that on some other hand he had given the declarer a ruff and a discard, with the horrible result of letting him make his contract. So he wouldn't do it again!

Instead, he did exactly what South hoped he would do. He led the jack of diamonds. Dummy's ace won and the ten of diamonds was successfully finessed through East's queen for contract, game, and rubber.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: What are the odds against a player holding a thirteen card suit?

Answer: Approximately 158 billion to one.

Mrs. Culbertson Team Wins U.S. Bridge Title

Pulls Ahead of Rivals in Last Third of Match.

New York, April 26.—[Special.]—Mrs. Ely Culbertson, Waldemar Von Zedtwitz, Sam Fry Jr., and A. Mitchell Barnes won the Grand National contract bridge team of four championship of the United States Bridge association tonight at Crockford's, after a grueling struggle.

They defeated by 2,100 points a team made up of B. J. Becker of Philadelphia, Edward Hymes Jr., Charles Lochridge, and M. D. Maier, which had held them even on the first forty-eight boards of the seventy-two played in the struggle. In the final third of the match, however, Mrs. Culbertson's team slowly but steadily pulled ahead.

Mrs. Culbertson was acclaimed by her teammates and congratulated by her opponents as the outstanding player of the match, which had been postponed from the close of the Grand National tournament on April 4 by agreement of the teams that had qualified in the final. Among the teams which had been eliminated earlier was the Four Aces team of David Burnstine, Oswald Jacoby, Howard Schenken, and Michael Gottlieb.

Chicago Team Wins Title.

NEW GAS DEVICE, NO CARBURETORS ON ARMY PLANES

Injector Adds Range for Fighting Craft.

Dayton, O., April 26.—(AP)—An advance in aviation which does away with carburetors and increases the safety and range of airplanes was announced at the materiel division, United States army air corps, at Wright field today.

Twenty-five military planes are to be equipped with injectors, substitutes for carburetors, shooting slugs of gasoline about the proportions of a little finger in separate shots into each cylinder just before it fires.

The injector idea started here at Wright field in 1924. It has been perfected in tests in the last two and a half years. It is an automaton of steel which defies gravitation in uphill flow of gasoline. It was suggested by carburetor troubles fighting machines had flying upside down.

Less Gasoline Used.

The injector equipped planes use 7 per cent upward less gasoline than those equipped with the same engines and carburetors. This saving means an added range of about 150 miles for a bombing plane on a very long flight.

The injector gives each cylinder a few teaspoonsful of gasoline measured as accurately as a druggist's scales. The gasoline charges do not vary from cylinder to cylinder as with carburetors.

This reduces waste of fuel and increases efficiency, since with carburetors some cylinders get a little too much and others less than the needed amount of gasoline.

Injector Increases Safety.

Safety in operation is greater with the injector. There are no backfires possible and less hazard of fire. Two experimental ships last winter showed easier starting with injectors. There was no icing trouble, as there has been with carburetors.

Better mixing of the fuels and better atomization were reported in the experiments. The gasoline shoots into the cylinders at a nozzle pressure of 250 pounds.

Extra gasoline, flowing back into the gas tank, acts as a cooling fluid for the injector.

HERMIT AT ODDS WITH BROTHER 62 YEARS DIES

Hornell, N. Y., April 26.—(AP)—Death separated permanently two brothers whose hermitlike existence in the hills near here had been divided by a chalkline for 62 years.

George Washington Coleman, 79 years old, said he would "carry on" in the little cabin at Bakers Gulch where James Philatus Coleman, 81, died yesterday of pneumonia.

For more than half a century the two brothers had lived as veritable strangers, a chalkline through the center of their one room home.

Neither ever disclosed the reason for the strange relationship. On each side of the room was a bunk. Each did his own cooking, had his own set of dishes, and his own garden.

Once a week they drove into near by Canisteo for supplies, but space on the ramshackle wagon was carefully marked off and each brother bought his own "vittles."

SEIZE EX-CONVICT FROM PHOTO AS HOTEL ROBBER

James Evans, 35 years old, 7156 Euclid avenue, who was freed from the Wisconsin state penitentiary at Waupun last November after serving a term for burglary, was arrested in his home last night after his photograph had been identified by two holdup victims.

J. L. Farquhar, night clerk in the Harvard hotel, 4714 Blackstone avenue, and Ricardo Alvarez, a guest of the hotel, picked out Evans' picture at the bureau of identification as that of the robber who took $15 from them Saturday night. Evans denied committing the robbery. Police said his home formerly was in Prairie du Chien.

Attacked at Rail Station, Woman Fights Off Moron

Miss Irene Wallace, 25 years old, a dietitian for the Eleanor Association club, 1442 East 59th street, fought off a moron yesterday afternoon who seized her on the 59th street station platform of the Illinois Central railroad. Miss Wallace was alone on the platform, waiting for a loop bound train, when attacked. She screamed, and Mrs. Estella Blackmore, the station agent, ran to her assistance. The assailant fled across the tracks and escaped.

OHIOAN FOUND DEAD IN HOTEL.

William L. Dewey, 54 years old, 6701 Kennedy avenue, Cincinnati, was found dead of heart disease yesterday in his room at the Atlantic hotel.

NAB 3 SAFECRACKERS AFTER BATTLE; SHOOT ONE; TWO FLEE IN CAR

Pittsfield, Ill., April 26.—[Special.]—Safecrackers preparing to flee with some $15,000 worth of loot from the postoffice here early today were surprised by officers. A running battle followed, in which Sherif Johnson used a machine gun. One of the bandits was wounded. Two others were captured and two escaped.

The robbers had burned their way into the postoffice vault and safe with an acetylene torch and had tossed stamps, money, bonds, and other valuables through a window to confederates outside when they heard the officers approaching in a cruising police car and attempted to escape in two automobiles.

In the posse which pursued the robbers were Chief of Police Williamson and Sherif Johnson and his deputy, Ben Daniels. A car carrying two of the bandits got away, but gunfire halted the other. Two men were seized. One escaped and was caught later near Griggsville.

The prisoners gave their names as James Murphy, twice wounded in the arm; James Coleman, and Thomas Logan, all of Chicago.

DERBY FIELD NARROWS DOWN TO 20 STARTERS

Brevity Remains 7-5 Favorite.

BY FRENCH LANE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Louisville, Ky., April 26.—While a drizzle was dampening the Churchill Downs race course today the thousands of visitors here anxiously waiting the celebration which will mark the beginning of Derby week tomorrow turned to the facts and figures on the renewal of the famous turf fixture next Saturday.

At last the Derby field had taken definite shape. All but 20 of those 102 Derby dreams of last February had proved to be just so much smoke in the owners' eyes. One thing or another dropped the other 82 candidates by the wayside. They were beautiful heart stirring dreams while they lasted; but they were just dreams.

Here's the Field.

So as the Derby week opens, the Derby field shapes up as follows:

	Jocky.	Owner.
Brevity	W.Wright	J.E.Widener
The Fighter	A.Robertson	Mrs.Ethel V.Mars
Sangreal	D.Brammer	Mrs.Ethel V.Mars
Teufel	E.Litz'b'r.	H.C.Phipps
Granville	J.Stout	Wm.Woodward
Coldstream	N.Wall	C.B.Shaffer
Bien Joli	L.Belaski	E.R.Bradley
Banister	J.Renick	E.R.Bradley
Indian Broom	G.Burns	A.G.Taylor
Bold Venture	A.Workm'n	M.L.Schwartz
Grand Slam	B.Bryson	Bomar Stable
Forest Play	No boy	Bomar Stable
Ned Reigh	S.Coucci	W.S.Kilmer
Holl Image	M.Garner	Wm.Schmidt
Count Morse	E.Arcaro	Warren Wright
Gold Seeker	M.Peters	William du Pont
He Did	C.Kurtsinger	Mrs.Silas B.Mason
Dueiper	J.Gilbert	Mrs.P.A.B.Widener
Hollyrood	No boy	H.P.Hendley
Tintagel	G.Seabo	Marshall Field

Tintagel and Hollyrood may be withdrawn. C. V. Whitney may, as a sporting gesture, send Bright Plumage into the race. Tintagel, Hollyrood, and Bright Plumage were soundly beaten in the Wood Memorial in New York on Saturday.

It indeed would be a startling upset if one of these colts should come back a week later and run away with the Kentucky Derby.

Brevity Rules Roost.

Tonight Brevity rules as the 7 to 5 favorite and there isn't likely to be much change in the price against him between now and post time. The Sophomore purse, which he won yesterday, was his final tuneup for the race. Except for the fact that Jocky Wright had to give him quite a whipping to show him that he couldn't loaf, he performed just as expected. He probably will run better in the Derby.

Second choice in the betting will be the Wheatley stable-Belair stud entry of Teufel and Granville. The odds were 3 to 1 today, but from the way the money was rolling in from the east the odds will be shorter by Derby day. Third choice was the entry of The Fighter and Sangreal, which will sport the silks of Mrs. Ethel V. Mars of Chicago. The odds against this pair was 7 to 1.

Coldstream was next in line, but quoted at 10 to 1. Bold Venture was at 12 to 1 and Grand Slam also was at 12 to 1, but if the weather man even hints it is likely to rain on Derby day Grand Slam's stock will soar and the odds against him drop.

The Fighter Is Fit.

The Fighter, appearing as fit as a gladiator of old Roman days, was on the track this morning for a spin of five furlongs. He reeled it off in 1:03 and got very angry at the exercise boy because he wasn't allowed to run any faster.

Bold Venture, somewhat of a mystery horse that has mustered much backing, arrived from New York shortly after noon. Reports were that Jocky Sonny Workman is coming on from the east to ride him.

The happiest man at the Downs this morning was Alex Gordan, trainer of Coldstream. He's higher than ever on this Chicago owned colt. He considered Coldstream's effort in the Clark handicap yesterday a perfect performance as a conditioner for the Derby.

Brevity Is O. K.

"He ran just like I wanted him to run," Gordon said. "If I had allowed Jocky Wall to go to the whip the result wouldn't have been close."

Coldstream finished third, beaten a length and a neck by the older horses Corinto and Ariel Cross.

Brevity came out of his victory in the Sophomore purse in fine fettle. He will be worked the Derby distance of a mile and a quarter either Tuesday or Wednesday and that will end his drill.

GERMAN DAVIS CUP TEAM GOES TO SECOND ROUND

MADRID, April 26.—(AP)—Germany advanced to the second round of the European zone Davis cup tennis competition today by winning the doubles match from Spain for the third victory of their series.

Baron Gottfried von Cramm and his partner, Lund, had little trouble defeating the Spanish doubles players, Enrique Maier and J. M. Blanc, 6-3, 6-3, 9-7, in the deciding match. Von Cramm and Heiner Henkel won the opening singles matches for Germany yesterday.

In the second round Germany will meet Hungary, which drew a first round bye.

BADGER BOXER IS ADMITTED TO OLYMPIC TRIALS

Harman New Threat in Welterweight Class.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Gordon Harman, University of Wisconsin welterweight, will compete in the National Golden Gloves tournament which starts at the International Amphitheater May 7 and from which competition, to be concluded May 20 at the Chicago Stadium, will come the United States Olympic team. Harman was not named on the national collegiate squad when that list originally was made out, but yesterday James G. Driver of the University of Virginia announced that Harman's application to compete had been accepted by the colleges.

DENVER WELCH.

The Wisconsin boxer, one of the best in college ranks, was defeated by Sam Donata of Penn State in the semi-finals of the N. C. A. A. tournament after gaining a decision over Fred O'Banion, Louisiana State's Southeastern conference champion, in the first round. Harman, however, was handicapped in the tournament, for he had not been able to train because of an injury received early in March.

Loses to Celebron.

Harman had more than 40 amateur bouts before he entered the University of Wisconsin. He was beaten only once. Billy Celebron, former Golden Gloves international champion and now a leading professional welterweight, whipped Harman in a Golden Gloves tournament. In 1935 Harman was undefeated. This year he lost to Art McGivern of Syracuse in dual competition and lost his semi-final match at the University of Virginia.

Addition of Harman to the welterweight ranks for the National Golden Gloves tournament will make the championship path a bit more difficult for Danny Farrar of Duke university. Farrar is the national collegiate champion who two years ago won the Golden Gloves title in the Tournament of Champions and completed the year by defeating the champion of Poland in the international bouts at the Stadium. Farrar, of course, may not win an Olympic berth. Chester Rutecki, this year's Golden Gloves 147 pound champion, and Johnny Barbara of South Bend, who will represent Detroit here May 7, are two good reasons in addition to Harman. But it may be assumed logically that Farrar will enter the tournament a favorite.

Public Sale of Tickets Opens.

Tickets for the bouts at the International Amphitheater May 7 and 8 and the championships at the Stadium on May 20 go on public sale today. A greater amateur tournament than this cannot be arranged. All sections of the country will be represented. All organizations promoting amateur boxing have contributed their leading fighters.

The National Golden Gloves meet also is boxing's biggest bargain. All seats are reserved. For the two nights of boxing at the International Amphitheater prices are 55 cents, $1.10, and $1.65. Prices for the finals May 20 are 55 cents, $1.10, $1.65, $2.20, and $3.30. They may be purchased at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and in the lobby of Tribune Tower. Mail orders still will be accepted by the Golden Gloves Ticket Manager, Tribune Tower, Chicago.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

FEED BOX DOPE.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 26.—[Special.]—Perhaps influenced by civic pride, the Wake chose the Chicago owned colt, Coldstream, which runs in the colors of Charles B. Shaffer, for the first of our pre-Derby interviews with contenders in the 62d Blue Grass classic next Saturday.

While we were a bit tired and disheveled from our train ride with its early morning arrival here, Coldstream, sitting phlegmatically before the Shaffer barn at Churchill Downs, was fresh looking, meticulous in a sports suit of the stable colors of canary and maroon. A half finished tankard of ale was before him, which had followed his breakfast consisting of bran muffins, marmalade, rolled oats, and sliced carrots.

"Good morning, Harve," said Coldstream, in a friendly but dignified tone. "I wondered if you weren't going to give me a Derby tumble, since we were good friends at Arlington last season. Some of the boys haven't been regarding my chances very highly, but I felt sure that you, anyway, would be around."

Noting our quizzical glance toward the ale, Coldstream added: "O, yes, I drink ale mildly in training like British athletes do. Suppose it's the influence of my foreign sire, Bull Dog. Have a quaff? O, too early in the morning? Well, take a rain check then."

"Nice race you ran in the Clark handicap yesterday," we opined. "Notice Jocky Nick Wall didn't touch you with the gad, although you finished third to Corinto and Ariel Cross. Were you just out for the air or were you trying to win?"

Coldstream leaned over a little with his muzzle close to our ear as if confidential, and answered, "Well, Harve, it was a little of both. Trainer Alex Gordon, with his Scotch blood, isn't passing up any $5,000 stakes just to give me a breeze, but both he and Owner Shaffer told Wall not to let me run my Derby race a week ahead of time.

"Well, you saw that I didn't," commented Coldstream with a low horse laugh. "At least, I hope I finish better than third next Saturday. I was on the outside all the way to avoid danger of injury and not whipped out."

"What did you think of Brevity?" we ventured.

"Nice colt," was the reply. "I don't share in the questioning of his ability to go the route, but he may lack experience in a close finish."

"What do you mean by that?"

"You saw his two Florida starts and he won off by himself against inferior competition. He won easily at seven furlongs yesterday against a good field. Suppose some colt comes right up and looks him in the eye as they near the wire?"

"You could do that?"

"Well you saw me at Arlington last year, practically left at the post in the Hyde Park stakes. I made up what to me seemed like miles of ground and won by a nose from Valedictorian. Then you saw me in the Saratoga Special. No, I guess you weren't there, but, anyway, I looked Red Rain in the eye, one of the best of last year's 2 year olds. I didn't get the nod over him, but he didn't over me, either. It was a dead heat."

"But how about the Arlington Futurity, when you were sixth to Grand Slam?" we asked.

"Why bring that up?" protested Coldstream reproachfully. "I'm called a fair mud runner, but Grand Slam is a bear in the mud. Nice fellow, so let it go at that without any alibis. Same comment for Kentucky Jocky Club stakes at a mile, where I was fifth to Grand Slam. It was sloppy that day. I only mention this latter because critics then said I shouldn't go a route."

"Look at my 2 year old form, Harvey. Started thirteen times with six brackets, five times out of the money. Two of the five were on muddy tracks. I got one third in heavy going. Won $16,150 for the stable. Not bad, was it?

"This Derby should be a hard race. I'm bred to go a distance and am fit. I have four legs. That's just as many legs as any of the others. I'll probably be a fair price. Better have a little bet across the board on me for the sake of Chicago."

So we returned to our hotel to unpack our luggage and become accustomed to the atmosphere of Derby week, a period unequaled anywhere else in the country for its setting of racing and talk of racing.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The White Sox yesterday took a 6 to 4 licking at the hands of the Detroit Tigers before departing for possible bruising experiences on their first eastern swing. Except in the seventh and ninth innings, they failed to make a hit off Victor Sorrell. And they were feeble defensively, too, having four errors chalked against them as only a part of the record of their fielding deficiencies.

It was the fourth straight beating the once hopeful Chicagoans have absorbed since they were perched proudly in first place no longer ago than last Wednesday noon. Their sloppy performance yesterday dropped them below the .500 mark and into sixth place. They left town last night hot rivals of the Philadelphia Athletics and the St. Louis Browns in the fight to keep out of the American league cellar.

Defeat No. 2 for Johnny.

It was the second loss in four days for John Whitehead, Sox starting pitcher, who last year won his first eight starts. It was Sorrell's first victory. In fact, Victor hadn't previously pitched an inning. And last year he contributed only four victories to the Tiger total of 93.

Only one White Sox player, Rip Radcliff, got to first base in the first six innings. Rip got there on a walk in the first inning and again on an error by Gehringer in the sixth. He did not get to second on either occasion.

In the seventh, Kreevich got the first Chicago hit, a single. Another one, by Haas, and a walk to Bonura, filled the bases. Appling, whose fielding had caused much of the Sox grief defensively, came through with his first hit in three games, a single to right, which scored two runs. Another one scored on the first out of the inning. The rest was a fadeout.

Sorrell recovered his poise for three straight outs in the eighth and two in the ninth. Then Appling again singled and scored on Piet's double off the left field wall. Dykes walked and all Sewell had to do to tie the score was knock a homer. Instead he tapped in front of the plate and Cochrane threw him out to end the game.

Tigers Open Up.

Simmons' single with one out in the second inning constituted all the hitting during the first three innings and Al was the only Tiger to reach base during the span. Radcliff, who walked at the start of the Sox so-called offensive, was the only Chicagoan to reach first in these first three innings, not that three innings ended the bleakness.

The Tigers got going in the fourth, and in a manner none too gratifying to Sox partisans. Cochrane walked and was forced by Gehringer on what should have been a double play. Greenberg walked, then Sim-

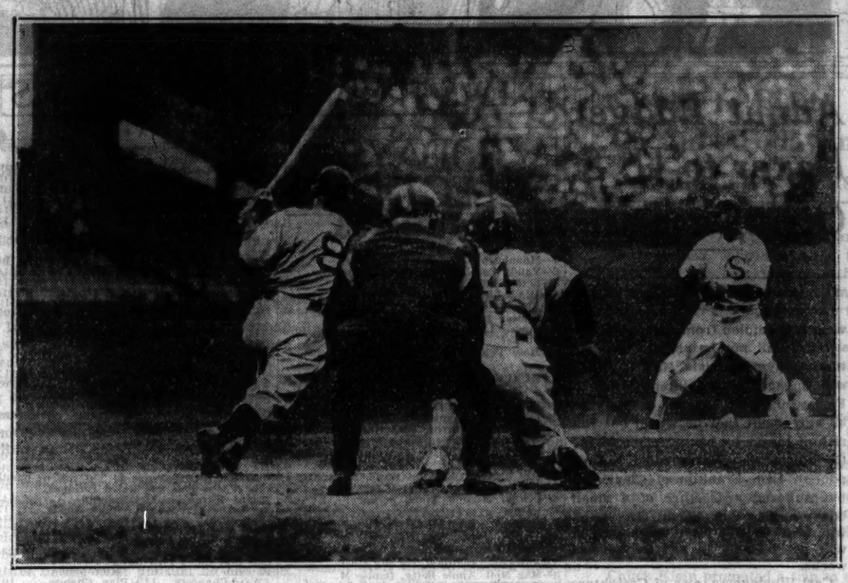
THE TIGERS ON PARADE—A HIT AND AN ERROR



Outfielder Pete Fox of Detroit opens the fifth inning of yesterday's game between the White Sox and Tigers by doubling to left field. This drive started the scoring that enabled the Tigers to beat the Sox, 6 to 4. The pitcher is Johnny Whitehead, the catcher, Luke Sewell, and the umpire, Summers.

Shikat May Ride Stretcher to Court Today

Columbus, O., April 26.—(AP)—With Dick Shikat having lost his claim to the heavyweight wrestling championship since court recessed Friday afternoon, his managerial trouble assumed a "much ado about nothing" aspect today.

Shikat was knocked off the throne in Detroit Friday night by Ali Baba, a Turk. Ali Baba tossed Shikat among the customers and then pinned him when he returned to the ring. The outcome threw heavyweight wrestling circles into a turmoil and took the edge off the federal court trial here in which Joe Alvarez, Boston matchmaker, seeks to have his contract as Shikat's manager given the court's approval.

Might Be Good Staging, At That.

John Connor, counsel for Shikat, and Al Haft, Columbus promoter who also holds a contract as Shikat's manager, said today that Shikat would be in court tomorrow morning, but that he might be on a stretcher as a result of injuries suffered in the Detroit bout.

"We are going to insist that the trial continue," Connor said.

Connor added that the plaintif was not so much interested in Shikat's contract as he was in the championship, and said the defense would fight any attempt to drop the case now that Shikat has been dethroned.

Fred Rector, attorney for Alvarez, said yesterday that the case would be continued. Alvarez, the last witness for the plaintif, is due to take the stand tomorrow morning.

We'll Hear More of Trust.

Further airing of the activities of a profit-sharing group of wrestling promoters, which Attorney Connor termed a trust, is expected before the trial ends. Jack Curley, New York promoter and first witness for the plaintif, said during cross-examination that he and five other promoters in Boston, Los Angeles, Philadelphia, Chicago and St. Louis, had signed a contract to split profits.

The defense charged that Alvarez is merely a front for Paul Bowser, Boston promoter, named as one of the signers of the contract to divide profits, and that the managerial pact is void as commission rules say that a promoter cannot be a manager.

Grant Defeats Budge for Mason-Dixon Title

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., April 26.—(AP)—Bryan Grant, Atlanta flash, rallied brilliantly this afternoon to beat Don Budge, young Californian, in a five set match and win the Mason-Dixon tennis championship. The score of their final match was 2-6, 4-6, 6-3, 6-0, 6-4.

Al Simmons arrives safely at first base in the fourth inning, when Appling juggled his grounder. Bonura is stretching for the throw which arrived too late to prevent the Tigers from filling the bases.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cincinnati, O., April 26.—Long, lanky Tex Carleton, who has been known to cause considerable grief among his mates, stepped forth today and unwrapped a bundle of high class pitching. Without once wincing, although under pressure at various times, the slatlike right-hander converted the raging Reds to receding Reds with a four hit performance that led the champion Cubs to a 5 to 0 victory in the second game of the series.

Not too much should be said about the margin the Cubs possessed at the finish of a show conducted before 21,555 fans who have been led to believe the Reds are going places this season. The Cubs hit all right against Lee Stine, the ex-White Sox pitcher, but not enough to establish a rightful claim to all their runs. One of them was earned without question, three were sheer gifts because of Rhineland errors, and the remaining run could hardly be termed genuine.

For Quantity, It's Herman.

If the battle had been decided by the earned run the slugging honors for the occasion would have to be accorded Bill Jurges and Bill Herman. They accounted for the legitimate tally which slipped over the plate in the fifth. But on a basis of quantity production the Cub member of the Herman family was in a class by himself. He tripled in the third after an error had given the Cubs an opening to two runs and singled again in the eighth to pave the way for another pair of bargain runs.

Carleton started as though he didn't intend to remain, but after the first two innings, during which there was one hit, he breezed along without giving up another safety until the seventh. Thereafter he caused no end of concern for his manager. Two were on bases with none out in the eighth. A double play involving the two Bills at second base cut short the threat. As a climax Carleton fixed up a full house for himself with none out in the ninth, but the Reds had to subside again without even a consolation run. Another double play by the two Bills stopped them.

Carleton Escapes Damage.

Before settling down to serious work Carleton flirted with trouble but escaped damage. After two were out in the opening inning he walked Babe Herman and hit Goodman with a pitched ball. Campbell flied to Klein for the third out. Carleton also had two base runners to contend with in the second. Handley led off with a double against the left field wall. The next two popped out, and Stine walked. This brought up Cuyler, who flied to Billy Herman.

The two runs the Cubs collected in the third weren't earned. Jurges opened with a grounder and survived when Myers threw wild to first. Carleton sacrificed, and Galan popped out. Here Billy Herman stepped in with his triple to the scoreboard in center, Jurges sauntering home with the first run. An instant later a drive by Klein hit the first sack and bounced away from McQuinn for a double, W. Herman scoring. Hartnett closed the inning with another tap to the pitcher.

Cubs Get Another in Fifth.

The Cubs let loose with three hits in the fifth, but there were no helpful errors, so only one scored. The inning opened with Jurges singling to left and moving to second on Carleton's bunt. The best Galan could offer was a roller to McQuinn. Billy Herman promptly stepped into the spotlight for the second time. He sailed a single into right center, and Jurges came home. Klein followed with a scratch single to McQuinn. Then Hartnett encountered

MIDWEST STARS LEAD NATION AT PENN AND DRAKE

Cunningham, Lash Top Record Breakers.

New York, April 26.—(AP)—A check on the results of two days of record smashing competition at Philadelphia and Des Moines indicates the athletes from the midwest are close to being tops in American track and field competition.

The addition of last week's Kansas relay performances to those of the Drake and Pennsylvania carnivals Friday and yesterday seems to clinch the point.

A comparison of seven field events and seven relays which were held at all three carnivals reveals the midwestern meets produced the best performances in 12, while one of the Penn carnival's two firsts was chalked up by the speedy University of Texas sprint relay team, which also ran at Kansas.

The Drake and Kansas relays shared honors with six firsts apiece. The Penn games took second place six times and tied for another second.

Two U. S. Records at Drake.

No accurate comparison of performances was possible in the special track events, as no one event was staged at all three meets. The Drake carnival held the center of the stage, however, with two American outdoor records, as well as several new meet marks.

Outstanding among the week-end feats were those of Glenn Cunningham, former Kansas star; Don Lash, Indiana, and Alton Terry, javelin thrower from Hardin-Simmons university, Abilene, Tex.

Cunningham, rating himself along in an effort to reach top form for the Olympics, knocked a second off the listed American outdoor record for 1,000 yards at Des Moines yesterday when he led his field home in 2:11.2. Lash was clocked in 9:10.6 in the two mile, slower than the indor standard, but an American outdoor record.

Terry Shades Javelin Mark.

Terry shaded the American mark for the javelin with a toss of 222.65 feet. The decimal figures a trifle better than Jerre Demers' mark of 222 feet 6⅝ inches.

In addition to these three records, nine meet marks fell at the Drake and Penn carnivals. The Texas half mile relay team, which had dashed the four furlongs in 1:26 flat the week before, lowered the Penn standard to 1:26.6. Jesse Owens, Ohio State's colored star, sprinted 100 meters in 10.5 seconds; Harvard lowered the Penn record for the 480 yard shuttle hurdle relay to 1:01.6, a half second slower than the time made by Illinois at Drake for a meet record there.

Other Drake relay records established were in the 440 yard special, where Ray Ellinwood, Chicago, was clocked in 48.5 seconds; the mile relay, with Oklahoma Baptist doing 3:18; the two mile relay, in which Emporia, Kas., Teachers won in 7:52, and in the four mile relay, where Indiana was clocked in 17:40.2.

weight champion from Creighton university, will not be able to compete in the Olympic trials May 7. Hartnek engaged in an intercity match Friday night at Omaha, contrary to an agreement that he would not run risk of injury by boxing prior to the Olympic tests. He defeated his opponent, Lem Franklin of Cleveland, but suffered a fracture of a small bone in his right hand. The hand was placed in a cast and Hartnek will not be able to box for several weeks.

Carl Vinciquerra, also of Creighton, Golden Gloves 175 pound champion, expects to report for the Olympic trials. He and other members of the Golden Gloves team of champions will arrive in Chicago a week from today.

Denver Welch, featherweight from the University of West Virginia, is one of the select group which will battle Ted Kara, Golden Gloves champion, for this Olympic position. He is a junior in the school of physical education and one of the most aggressive college boxers who competed in the national collegiate tournament. Welch scored two knockouts before losing the decision to Bob Fadner of Wisconsin in the finals.

Wins Seven as Freshman.

Welch, 20 years old, of Scotch-Irish parentage, was graduated from the Morgantown, W. Va., High school in 1933. During his freshman year at the University of Virginia he engaged in eight matches, winning seven. These were not college bouts, however. Last year, his first in intercollegiate competition, he duplicated his record.

This year he mixed in knockouts over opponents from Duke, Kentucky, and Washington and Jefferson in dual meets, losing only to Paslowski of Pittsburgh, prior to the national collegiate tournament. In this meet he knocked out Fred Hall of Virginia Polytechnic institute, Southern conference champion, in the second round; knocked out Dean Pryor of the California Aggies before losing to Fadner. He is a southpaw.

Welch made up for his defeat by Paslowski when he licked the Pitt boxer in the finals of the Eastern conference tournament. Now he hopes to square accounts with Fadner in the Olympic bouts here.

NALON TAKES 50 LAP INDOOR AUTO FEATURE

Duke Nalon won the 50 lap indoor auto race last night at the 124th Field Artillery armory, defeating Jimmy Snyder in a close finish.

A field of twelve cars started the grind, with Nalon, Pat Warren, and Snyder fighting for the lead. At the 25th lap Nalon had gained a five car length lead, while a duel developed between Warren and Snyder for second position.

Rounding the turn for the fortieth lap Snyder moved into second place and began to cut down Nalon's lead, but the latter lasted long enough to win by three-quarters of a car length. Warren took third money and Harry MacQuinn finished fourth.

The former Texas league hurler, prison officials said, has been given a $150 a month job in Refugio and will play with a semi-pro team there.

Parke Heads Jocky List at Aurora

Four of the first eight riders in the American jocky standings will be at Aurora Friday for the opening of the Illinois racing season. They are Charles Parke, Frank Chojnacki, Cornelio Mojena, and the veteran Johnny Longden.

Their leadership will be challenged by the largest group of riders seen at Aurora in many seasons. Both veterans and youngsters are included in a group which includes Johnny Donoho, Len Turner, Jim Frederick, Dick Simpson, Joe Grace, Ralph Root, Johnny Leyland, Charley Parvin, Homer Ferguson, Joe O'Malley, Jimmy Dobson, Bob Haber, Harry Dudley, Joe Dyer, Harvey Duncan, Robert Tilden, Willie Boganowski, Bill Balzaretti, Tex Wilson, A. Fermin, Luke Laurin, Bobby Clemons, Johnny Burrill, E. Roehm, Harry Osborne, G. Ruckus, and Bill Barnett.

Parke, only 16 years old, is the last of the famous Idaho riding family. One great rider has come from the family, Ivan Parke. Two others, Burley and Monte, proved themselves fairly capable. Charley is under contract to Benny Creech, and inasmuch as the Creech string is one of the largest at Aurora, he will have plenty of chances to improve his standing. At present he is fourth in the American jocky standings.

Right behind him is Frank Chojnacki, the Chicago youngster. Next is Cornelio Mojena, the temperamental Cuban who is under contract to the Torriente stable, and who led all the riders at the Fair Grounds winter meeting in New Orleans. Johnny Longden is eighth in the standings and will ride for Trainer A. G. Tarn.

British See Chance to Win Curtis Golf

GLENEAGLES, Scotland, April 26.—(AP)—Great Britain, now without an international golfing trophy, harbors a stubborn hope of getting one back from America when the pick of British women stars meet the United States team in the Curtis cup matches here May 6.

After an exhaustive set of trials lasting four days over the Gleneagles course, the British have put together a team that they believe can break the American monopoly.

The team has been selected with more care and with more attention to actual playing ability than marks the biennial choosing of a British Walker cup team. No one of the players the American women will meet gained her place because she was on old Oxford "Blue." She had to battle for it.

As a result there has been a great shake-up of the team that lost the last Curtis cup match in America two summers ago. Only three of that side survive: Pam Barton, Wanda Morgan, and Mrs. J. B. Walker. The names of the others—Jessie Anderson, Betty Newall, Phyllis Wade, Mrs. Marjorie Garon, and Mrs. Andrew Holm—will not be so familiar to the American stars, but each of them has proved herself a fine competitive golfer.

Betty Newall, a barrister and the youngest justice of the peace in England, shot a 73 in one of her trial matches over the King's course here. Such golf, point out the British critics, should be sufficient to hold Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare, Miss Patty Berg, or any of the other American guests.

It has been suggested that a natura match would bring Miss Newall and Mrs. Vare together in one of the singles, but such a match is out of the question as custom decrees that the champions of the two countries, Wanda Morgan and Mrs. Vare, meet.

SET TOURNAMENT DATE.

Spencer, Ia., April 26.—[Special.]—The annual Iowa Women's Golf association tournament will be held at the West Okoboji Country club July 27, according to an announcement by Mrs. Walter B. Thomas, president.

Bohemian and German Teams Soccer Winners

The Bohemians defeated the British, 4 to 1, and the Germans won from the Jewish eleven, 3 to 0, yesterday in the first round of soccer play for the Cermak Memorial trophy.

At the Norwegian field the Scandinavians defeated the Italians 5 to 1 in a preliminary match. Peterson and Paulson each scored two goals and Swanson one, Mugrani scored for the Italians.

The Germans led 1 to 0 at the end of the first half, Absil beating Fisher, who had no chance to stop the ball. The Jewish eleven forced play in the second period and had a good chance to tie up the score, but Pearlman missed a penalty shot and from then on the Germans had the upper hand, Absil again finding the net. Near the close Geir scored the final goal after a long run. Lineups:

Primich, Day Clash Tonight at Marigold

Tonight's Shows

At Marigold Gardens—Davey Day vs. Mike [Little Pal] Primich [10], 137 pounds.

At White City—Julius [Mephisto] Woronick vs. Mike Kilonis, one fall, 60 minute time limit, light heavyweights [wrestling].

At Coulon gymnasium—Eight amateur bouts.

At St. Cecilia auditorium—Eight amateur bouts.

A ten round lightweight bout between Davey Day, Chicago challenger, and Mike [Little Pal] Primich, Indiana Harbor, Ind., at Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street, will head tonight's Chicago ring programs. Co-Promoters Irving Schoenwald and Jack Begun are prepared to handle a big crowd.

Neither fighter is expected to have difficulty making the agreed weight of 137 pounds. Day weighed 133¾ for his last appearance, a ten round victory over Roger Bernard, Nov. 22, and Mike was at 132½ against Lew Feldman, to whom he lost an eight round decision July 25.

Primich has been training for the last two months and appears to be in fine physical condition. The 23 year old Indiana Harbor lad is fast and aggressive. His style consists of leaping into close quarters and unleashing a flurry of blows to the head and body and then jumping out of range.

Puggy Weinert and Georgie Engel will be welterweight rivals in the five round semi-final. Henry Newman is matched to meet Elnar Hedquist. Sammy Scoglio will clash with Wilmer Van, and George Dungey opposes Wally Walker at four rounds.

Heavyweights, light heavyweights, middleweights, welterweights, and lightweights will be represented in the boxing show scheduled at Chicago Arena Wednesday. Pat Murphy, Danville, and Ernie Kulasik, Chicago, will be opponents in a welterweight match. Lightweight contestants are Sammy Verse, Omaha, and Tony Michaels, Ashtabula, O., and George Dixon II. and Willie Ross. A bout in the heavyweight division will involve Tiny Bittner and George Vallos, and light heavyweight rivals are Floyd McNulty and Ray Raymond. Jack Moran opposes Joe Mendoza in a middleweight bout, and Tommy Atkins clashes with Ken Murray in a second encounter at the welterweight poundage. All except the McNulty-Raymond and Atkins-Murray bouts are set for six rounds. These are scheduled for four sessions.

Julius [Mephisto] Woronick will clash with Mike Kilonis in the windup bout of the wrestling show tonight at White City, 63d street and South Park avenue. Preliminary matches involve Red Vagnonne and Denny L

SOX' RECORD FOR WEEK IS POOREST IN BIG LEAGUES

New York, April 26.—(AP)—Major league competition progressed on fairly even terms last week. The White Sox with four defeats against one victory went farthest into the red, but not a team in either league escaped at least two defeats.

The Dodgers, riding along on a potent offensive that saw 75 base hits converted into 38 runs, led the National league with four victories against two losses, while the Reds and Cubs each had three victories in five starts.

In the American league, the Yankees scored 52 runs in six games, winding up today with 12 runs against the Red Sox. The Yanks collected 76 hits in the week's campaigning and won four games.

Tigers Keep Pace.

The Tigers, moving along in full stride now, matched the Yankees in games won and lost. They made 69 hits for 43 runs. The Yankees allowed their opponents 42 runs, making seven errors in the course of the play. The Tigers allowed their opposition 34 runs and had only four errors.

Although the Cleveland Indians made only 24 runs, they limited their opponents to 20 and emerged victorious in three out of five games. The Athletics, who have been termed nonprofessionals by some of the wits, continued to surprise by splitting six games. They gathered 36 runs on 57 hits, allowing their opponents only 41 tallies.

The Reds, with three victories and two defeats, revealed ability to win games with few baseshits, their total of 44 being low. The Pirates also had 44 hits in losing three and winning two games. The Reds scored 27 runs on those 44 hits, which was one less than their opponents.

Cards Lead in Errors.

The Cardinals, with two victories and three defeats, led in the number of errors with an even dozen and were the only team in either league that failed to hit a single home run. They scored 28 runs against 36 for their opponents.

Sorrell and Tigers Whip White Sox, 6-4

mons sent a perfect double play grounder to Appling. The bases were full after Luke finished kicking the ball around. Goslin doubled along the right field line, Gehringer and Greenberg scoring and Simmons stopping at third. Rogell was given an intentional pass, filling the bases. Owen popped to Bonura and Zeke, not having to bend over for Sorrell's bouncer, retired the side. The Sox continued to be mowed down one, two, three in their end of the fourth.

More Juggling.

Some sound hitting accounted for one run in the Tiger fifth and more clumsy fumbling by Appling gave the Tigers another one before the inning was over. Fox opened with a double, went to third on Cochrane's sacrifice and scored on Gehringer's triple to right. With the infield pulled in, Greenberg sent a grounder to Appling made to order for a play at the plate. But Luke juggled the ball long enough for Gehringer to score, then got hold of it and threw to first in time to get Greenberg. Whitehead threw out Simmons.

The Sox retired the Tigers in order in the sixth and only three Sox faced Sorrell, though Radcliff again reached first. With two out Rip tried to reach second after Gehringer had dropped his pop fly in center, but he was out, Gehringer to Rogell.

With one out in the seventh, Bonura dropped Dykes' perfect throw on Fox's grounder. Fox moved to second on Cochrane's second sacrifice and scored on Gehringer's single to right, Greenberg doubled off the wall in front of the center field bleacher, scoring Gehringer. Piet threw out Simmons.

Spell Is Broken.

The single with which Kreevich spoiled Sorrell's no hit chances at the outset of the seventh was a clean shot to left. Haas followed with a single to center, which put Kreevich on third, and the bases were loaded when Bonura walked. Appling singled past Greenberg, Kreevich and Haas scoring and Bonura taking third. Bonura scored and Appling pulled up at second as Piet grounded out to Owen. Dykes then whiffed and Sewell lined to Fox.

Whitehead walked Goslin to start the eighth and promptly was replaced by Phelps. Rogell attempted to sacrifice and forced Goslin, but Owen singled to center, Rogell stopping at second. Sorrell fanned and Fox was called out on strikes.

Against Evans in the ninth, the Tigers had the bases loaded on two errors by Piet and a single by Greenberg, but failed to add any runs to their total.

The Sox picked up a run in their half after two were out on a single to center by Appling and a double off the left field wall by Piet.

FIRST STOP BOSTON

The White Sox are scheduled to arrive in Boston shortly after 6 o'clock this evening. They will play the Red Sox tomorrow, Wednesday and Thursday. Stratton, Tietje and Kennedy are scheduled to take care of the pitching assignments, and in that order.

It was warm at Comiskey park at 9 o'clock yesterday morning and the gents in the counting room had visions of a 30,000 turnout. Then the mercury started tumbling and at game time Mr. Comiskey was pleased to have sold tickets to 15,000.

The Tigers do not expect Schoolboy Rowe to rejoin the team until after the Washington series. Rowe's father died at Eldorado, Ark., yesterday morning and the Tiger ace expects to remain at the family home for at least three days.

The White Sox are not scheduled to appear at Comiskey park again until they play Washington on May 12.

Talking It Over

PAUL AMUNDSEN, 6 feet 5 inch University of Chicago sophomore, who won a letter in basketball and is a pitcher on the varsity baseball team, is the silent man of the Midway. . . . Great was the astonishment the other day during an exciting ball game when he cried out: "Come on, Hank." . . . Mrs. Dorothy Root, wife of the Cub pitcher, is going to drive a truck to California this summer accompanied by her brother Bob. . . . The vehicle has been purchased for use on the Roots' 1,300 acre farm 90 miles south of San Francisco. . . . Douglas Mills, Illinois' new basketball coach, who never played baseball as an undergraduate at Urbana, joined the Cardinals' chain gang as a pitcher when he left school. . . . One of his leading achievements was a 1 to 0 victory over Van Lingle Mungo, now of the Dodgers, when he was pitching for Durham in the Piedmont league. . . . Mungo was Raleigh's moundsman. . . . Jack Dempsey and Babe Ruth still are spry enough to take in a Kentucky Derby. . . . They are to arrive in Louisville in time to see Barney Ross fight Chuck Woods on Derby eve. . . . Fred Stalcup, quarter back on last year's Purdue eleven, has been converted into a half back. . . . He made three touchdowns in a recent scrimmage, two of them coming on reception of forward passes. . . .

Elmer Biggs of Peoria, newly elected president of the Illinois section of the P. G. Horton Smith, Denny Shute, and Chick Chin were playing in the same threesome. . . . On the 440 yard 16th each in succession pushed his iron shot to the right of the green into a trap filled with ten inches of water. . . . They didn't know whether to lift out or play out, so Smith finally called to Bill Mehlhorn, Babe Ruth, and Torchy Toda, who just had finished playing the hole, and asked them what to do. . . . Mehlhorn said they had played out. . . . Smith said, "Well, it's Saturday, so I may as well take a bath, too." . . . He stepped into the water and played out, 12 feet from the cup. . . . Shute then dived in and he also was 12 feet from the cup. . . . Chin made it unanimous by putting his recovery from the watery bunker an identical distance from the pin. . . . It was almost a million to one bet that all three would not escape and land the same distance away, but they did.

This department doubts if any flyweight in America can whip Wilson, who towers 6 feet 1 inch, and uses his left to keep rivals at a distance. . . . The average flyweight would have to stretch to his full height to hit him on the shins. . . . Owens is almost sure to qualify for the Olympic track team as a sprinter or broad jumper or both. . . . Chris O'Brien, former owner of the Chicago Cardinals and a pioneer in professional football, recently underwent an appendectomy. . . .

ARREST NINE IN GAMBLING RAID AT RED SOX PARK

Boston, Mass., April 26.—(AP)—Police who nabbed nine alleged bookmakers but failed to catch six others broke up heavy betting in the right field bleachers during the Yankee-Red Sox game today. The police reported taking about $5,000 in cash from the men.

Officers said the men were offering odds of 75 to 100 the Yankees would not score in individual innings. After the Red Sox scored six runs in the first inning the odds went to 175 to 300.

pointment for the third straight time. He spanked one solidly, but Kid Handley smothered it and stepped on third for a force play.

After Stine walked in the second not another Red base runner showed up until the fourth. This was on a pass to McQuinn. The next to make progress against Carleton's dazzling assortment was Myers. He poked a bunt toward Cavarretta after two were out in the seventh. This mode of procedure was so unexpected there wasn't even time to make a play on him at first. There were no complications, because Stine followed with an easy roller to W. Herman.

Herman Gets Third Hit.

One hit of Stine was enough to bring two runs for the Cubs in the eighth. The hit was Billy Herman's third—a single to right with none out. Klein bunted and Handley gave the ball such a powerful toss that it zoomed into right field, W. Herman scoring and Klein getting as far as third. He scored on Hartnett's fly, which Babe Herman pulled down in front of the 400 foot sign in left center. Demaree and Cavaretta hurried the finish of the inning by tapping ladylike grounders to the infield.

Carleton finally fell into difficulties in the eighth, and although the Reds couldn't budge him off the track they gave Manager Grimm such a scare that he rushed Warneke and Lee into the bull pen. This excitement started with a pass to Walker, who led off as pinch man for Cuyler. Chapman batted for Kampouris. W. Herman, while fielding the ball, inadvertently stuck his head in front of Walker, and was bowled over, the ball getting away from him for a hit. Babe Herman then forced Chapman on a roller to Hack, and Goodman bounced to W. Herman for a double play.

Reds Fill Bases.

Carleton apeared to be so sure of himself in the ninth that he refused to display concern after filling the bases with none out. The bases were filled on a pass to Campbell, Handley's single to left and a free ticket to McQuinn. The fans who came into the park thinking Myers was a hero gave him a large sized raspberry when he fanned. Then they whooped it up for Lombardi when the slugging Italian appeared as pinch batter for Stine, but the invalid bounced to Jurges, and the show broke up with a double play.

French to Pitch for Cubs Today in Final with Reds

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cincinnati, O., April 26.—Larry [Lefty] French, who has been the best of the Cub workmen thus far, will go after his third straight tomorrow in the final of the series with the Reds. In his two previous starts French defeated the Cardinals and the Pirates. Al Hollingsworth, also a southpaw, will be the Reds' starter.

Last Sunday when the Chicago weather had a springlike touch the Cubs were able to attract only 11,600 customers to Wrigley field. Today with the weather slightly chilly and threatening, 21,555 poured into the elaborately painted Crosley field to lend support to the so-called raging Reds.

Chuck Klein promoted a trip to second base for himself in the first inning, but did nothing to deserve it. With two out he rolled gently to McQuinn who fumbled. Then Stine stumbled on the rubber when about to make a pitch and it was rightfully ruled a balk, sending Klein to second. Hartnett closed the inning with a tap to the pitcher.

DETROIT STARS WIN U. S. TITLES IN BADMINTON

Detroit players won the men's and women's singles championships of the first national open Badminton tournament at the Chicago arena last night.

Walter Kramer, Michigan champion for five years, defeated Henry Sistrunk, Chicago, Illinois state titleholder, 18-15 and 15-7, for the men's crown.

Miss Constance O'Donovan, women's Michigan champion, beat the Illinois state champion, Miss Billie Traxel of Chicago, 11-3 and 11-8, in the women's final.

Kramer and Russell Cramer, the Detroit team, won the men's doubles championship, defeating their fellow townsmen, E. D. Gesaman and Leo Gould, 15-9, and 15-5.

Detroit players continued their sweep of the championships in the fourth match of the evening when Miss O'Donovan and Kramer won the mixed doubles from Jackie Ayer and William Mackie of Chicago, 15-4 and 15-9.

INDIANS BEAT BROWNS, 8 TO 7, IN 16TH INNING

Hemsley's Errors Help Cleveland Take First.

Cleveland, O., April 26.—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians took first place in the American league by beating the St. Louis Browns in a 16 inning game today, 8 to 7. The Browns tied the score at 7 to 7 in the ninth to force the contest into extra innings. It was the longest game of the season.

With darkness settling over the field, Cleveland emerged the winner on what otherwise would have been the last play of a tie game. Sullivan led off the 16th with a single and Pytlak ran for him. Allen bunted a pop fly. Hemsley could have caught it, but decided to let it fall and try for a double play. He threw wild to second and both runners were safe. Knickerbocker beat out a bunt to fill the bases.

Hughes bounced to Walkup, who threw to the plate to force Pytlak, and Hemsley threw to first to double Hughes. Allen, instead of stopping at third, headed for home. Burns threw to Hemsley, who tagged Allen for what would have been the last out of a triple play, but Allen knocked the ball from Hemsley's glove and was safe.

BONDS DECLINE; CLOUDY OUTLOOK CHILLS MARKET

Speculative Issues Are in Liberal Supply.

New York, April 26.—(AP)—Declining tendencies predominated in most sections of the bond market last week, reflecting further nervousness in investment quarters over the immediate outlook for securities.

Speculative issues of all classifications were in liberal supply on some occasions, and while the market for high grade bonds was well maintained, there was no disposition to bid aggressively for any but specially favored loans.

United States governments moved in an extremely narrow range, but there were sufficient buyers to hold prices on an even keel and some of the longer term treasury issues established new highs for a year or longer on fractional upward moves.

Several Events Inspire Caution.

In addition to technical conditions investment circles found other factors that made for caution, including a nervous stock market, possibility that large French holdings might be liquidated if the franc should be devalued following the elections and uncertainty over the pending tax legislation in Washington.

The apparent reluctance of some eastern railroads to carry out the order of the interstate commerce commission to place lower passenger fares in operation on June 2 focused attention on carrier bonds, many of which sought progressively lower levels before encountering support.

Foreign Bonds Mildly Disturbed.

The market for foreign bonds was only mildly disturbed by developments in Europe. Some of the Italians were in supply at times, but the closely held French and British issues showed little change. South and Central American securities were generally steady.

Refunding operations were at a standstill during the week, but plans for future activity in this field went on at a lively pace. The Chesapeake and Ohio railroad announced it would ask permission of the interstate commerce commission to refund two issues of bonds now outstanding with a new loan of $40,362,000 in 3½s which would effect a saving in interest of $196,000 annually and the Brooklyn Edison company filed an application to issue $55,000,000 in 3¼ per cent bonds due in 1971, proceeds from which would be used to refund a similar amount of 5s now outstanding.

RESERVE BOARD EXPLAINS MOVE TO LIMIT CREDIT

Acts to Put Curb on Speculation.

Washington, D. C., April 26.—(AP)—The federal reserve board tonight explained its recent action in tightening margin requirements on stocks as aimed to limit the use of credit for speculation while avoiding disturbing business borrowers.

Armed with other powerful levers of credit control, provided in part in the 1935 banking act, the board indicated it considered manipulation of security loan values, or margins, as the most effective under current conditions.

After raising margin requirements it extended them to banks as well as brokers in loans against securities, making the bank regulations effective May 1.

To Control Speculation.

Noting that stocks had been advancing persistently, with an increase in trading and speculative borrowings, the board said:

"Adoption of these restrictions at this time has the advantage of providing for control of the use of credit for speculation in securities without limiting the supply or raising the cost of credit available for commercial, industrial, or agriculture borrowers."

Before the credit reins were tightened on the stock market, reserve authorities had been under pressure from some sources for action to reduce the supply of loanable bank funds as a precaution against a dangerous flareup of speculation.

Member banks held more than $3,000,000,000 in deposits, technically known as "reserve balances," in excess of legal requirements on reserve with the system. This was regarded by many bankers as inflammable material for credit inflation, either through speculative markets or other lending outlets.

Reserve Pressure Reduced.

Picturing the influence of the treasury's vast financial operations upon loanable bank funds, the reserve board noted the pressure of surplus reserves had been reduced somewhat last month through transfer of funds to the treasury in payment of its March security offerings and taxes.

It recalled excess reserves had dropped about $700,000,000 as the treasury piled up a huge supply of cash to its account at the reserve banks. Since then, however, about half of the loss has been recovered.

While the treasury showed how it could "soak up" surplus cash, the reserve board noted further that the government's March operations had been carried out with no disturbance to the money market because the remaining surplus was sufficient to "provide the basis for expansion of bank credit far beyond present or prospective needs."

Money Rates Low.

"Money rates in New York," it said, "remained at the extremely low level of the last two years."

The board also called attention to the organization of the system's open-market committee under the 1935 bank act, clothed with authority to direct the ebb and flow of credit through purchase and sale of federal obligations in the open market.

The reserve banks have done nothing in the open market since they completed heavy purchases of government securities more than two years ago as a means of checking deflation.

Public debt operations of the government in March included an offer for public subscription of about $650,000,000 of bonds and about $600,000,000 of notes. In addition, holders of maturing notes were given the privilege of exchanging their holdings for either of the new securities.

Loans Rise Sharply.

Member bank developments during the month were influenced by these treasury operations, the board said. Loans and investments of weekly reporting member banks in leading cities rose sharply, while their reserves and deposits, other than government deposits, declined. Member banks increased their holdings of direct government obligations in connection with the new treasury offerings.

During March reporting member banks also expanded their holdings of other securities and their loans. Deposits decreased during the month as a result of payment of taxes to the treasury and the purchase by depositors of the new government securities.

The board said the decline in excess reserves of member banks during March occurred chiefly at New York City. Early in the month banks outside New York City added to their excess reserves and built up their balances with New York City banks through the sale in the New York market of government securities maturing March 16, or exchangeable for new issues on that date.

U. S. Chamber of Commerce to Act on Idle

Washington, D. C., April 26.—(AP)—Administration friends and critics looked tonight to the annual convention of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States to see whether any definite plan of working with the New Deal would be advanced to find new jobs for the unemployed.

The unemployment question has been placed at the top of economic problems to be discussed by the chamber delegates at their convention this week.

Secretary Roper has been invited to present the administration's views in connection with President Roosevelt's recent assertion that business and industry must absorb more of the jobless or face higher relief costs. The chamber's side will be presented by Lewis H. Brown, president of the Johns-Manville corporation.

Chamber leaders said a number of speakers were ready to criticize the administration not only on the unemployment and relief questions but also on the tax program and other New Deal measures. How severe the criticism would be remained to be seen.

Criticize New Deal.

Last year the convention wound up in an uproar against proposed declarations of relative friendliness to the New Deal, and finally turned out a program critical of virtually every administration measure.

The convention proper does not convene until Tuesday. Tomorrow the national council, representing each of the chamber's 1,500 local chambers and national trade associations, will meet for a business session.

The American Trade association executives, an independent organization, will also meet tomorrow at the chamber's headquarters to discuss problems more intimately related to them.

Tuesday morning, Harper Sibley, president, will open the general session on the topic of "Principles of American Enterprise." He is slated for reelection this year.

West Coast Man to Talk.

The only address at the council meeting tomorrow will be made by Philip J. Fay of San Francisco, vice president of the chamber for the west coast. At the meeting awards will be made to winners in the national fire waste contest and the national health contest conducted annually by the chamber in coöperation with other organizations.

Tomorrow night the American section of the International Chamber of Commerce will hold a dinner, to be presided over by Thomas J. Watson of New York, chairman of the American committee of the international chamber. Other speakers will be Robert Lincoln O'Brien, chairman of the United States tarif commission, and Charles S. Haight, international lawyer, of New York City.

INDEPENDENTS ENTER NEW YORK EXCHANGE RACE

New York, April 26.—[Special.]—Edward Roesler of Laidlaw & Co., a member of the governing committee of the New York Stock exchange, who was not renominated on the official ticket two weeks ago, confirmed tonight reports that his name had been placed in independent nomination by a petition signed by more than forty members of the exchange. Roesler, who has been a governor of the exchange for more than twenty years, is chairman of its committee on admissions.

Also omitted from the regular ticket but nominated by petition was Allen L. Lindley, chairman of the business conduct committee and former vice president of the exchange.

Unconfirmed rumors were current on the floor of the exchange on Saturday that a petition had been filed on behalf of a third independent candidate. The petitions will be opened today. The annual election will be held on May 11.

WHEAT RECEDES DESPITE DERTH OF NEEDED RAIN

Prices Cancel Part of Earlier Rise.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

The last week brought no adequate rain for the wheat crop in the southwestern states but on the Chicago Board of Trade prices quoted on the new crop futures fell about 3 cents a bushel after their sharp advance of the preceding ten days.

The paradoxical market action was attributed to speculative operations. When the government made public its appraisal of crop prospects on April 10 an immediate readjustment of the price followed.

Prior to the government report a winter wheat crop substantially in excess of 500 million bushels was predicted. The government's forecast placed probable production at 483 million bushels. The immediate consequence was an advance in the market which carried the new crop futures up 8 to 11 cents a bushel.

Market Exaggerates Situation.

As frequently occurs, the market action appeared to exaggerate actual conditions and a decline in prices developed last week despite the fact that the condition of the crop had not improved. Actual deterioration has taken place in the crop's condition since April 1, when the data were gathered on which the government based its estimate. Since the beginning of the month there has been only scattered rainfall which did not supply the needed moisture. Many of the driest sections have received no relief.

The country's wheat crop may still exceed domestic consumption requirements by a considerable margin. To obtain such a harvest, however, the spring wheat country must produce the largest crop in many years. If the winter crop aggregates less than 500 million bushels, as now appears likely, spring wheat production will have to exceed 250 million bushels to provide any surplus of consequence. Domestic requirements average about 630 million bushels annually.

Blighted by Rust.

The country has not harvested a spring wheat crop of 200 million bushels or more since 1932. Production in 1933 was 178 millions and the 1934 failure brought a return of only 92 millions, the smallest during this century. Last year early season prospects for a bumper return were blighted by black rust and the final tally showed 143 million bushels.

The spring wheat harvest is months away. To attempt production estimates is hazardous. The final outcome, however, will determine whether the United States will continue to import wheat or will resume her historical rôle of exporter.

The reaction in prices last week affected only the new crop futures. The scarcity of supplies remaining from last year and the commercial demand for wheat was reflected in the comparative steadiness in the May contract, which closed above $1 a bushel.

Range of Prices for Week.

The range in prices of grain futures for the week follows:

ALLEGHENY AND WEST LEECHBURG STEEL WILL VOTE ON MERGER PLAN

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 26.—(AP)—A proposal to merge the Allegheny Steel company and the West Leechburg Steel company, subject to approval by the stockholders of both concerns, was announced tonight.

The announcement, issued by Harry E. Sheldon, president of Allegheny, and James Lippincott, chairman of the board of the West Leechburg company, said the merger would bring together two of the leading noncompetitive independent producers in this district. The combined corporation would be known as the Allegheny Steel company.

West Leechburg, with an annual capacity of more than 250,000 tons, has no raw steel making facilities, while Allegheny has complete steel making equipment and its annual ingot capacity of 500,000 tons was said to be sufficient to meet the combined requirements.

Acquisition of the West Leechburg strip mills, the announcement said, would provide the Allegheny company with "a complete integral steel mill for the production of hot and cold rolled strip in all quantities and grades in capacities of approximately 20,000 tons per month, and finished sheets up to 72 inches wide in capacities in excess of 18,000 tons per month."

INDUSTRY MOVES AT FASTER PACE, BOARD REPORTS

Industrial activity in the United States advanced slightly during March and further improvement was noted in the first two weeks of April, the National Industrial Conference board announced yesterday.

Greater than seasonal increases took place in the automobile and steel industries during March as compared with the preceding month. Orders for machine tools declined about 6 per cent as compared with February but remained about 69 per cent above a year ago. A sharp upturn occurred in residential building, although total building contracts rose by slightly less than the usual seasonal amount.

Bituminous coal output declined sharply and electric power production also dropped as a result of the partial suspension of industrial activity in the flooded areas. Retail trade rose more than seasonably, with the physical volume of department store trade 11.3 per cent above a year ago. The dollar value of rural sales was about 9½ per cent higher than in March, 1935.

Commodity prices were generally lower than in the preceding month, while wholesale prices declined 1.2 per cent and retail prices 0.9 per cent.

SUPREME COURT MAY RULE TODAY ON GUFFEY ACT

Washington, D. C., April 26.—(AP)—Government attorneys said tonight the Supreme court might rule tomorrow on constitutionality of the Guffey coal act. This New Deal case ranks number one among the 28 the justices have been working on during the last two weeks. Final decisions on more than half of them are likely tomorrow.

Attorneys noted the court had been in recess during the last fortnight, permitting the justices to devote their entire time to working on the opinions. The general belief that the Guffey decision would be forthcoming was bolstered by the fact that this was the second two weeks' recess since the case was argued.

After the justices finish delivering opinions, if any are ready, they will turn to the final week of arguments before the summer adjournment in early June. One New Deal dispute is among the ten to be argued, involving constitutionality of the 1934 municipal bankruptcy act to aid cities, counties and other political subdivisions refund their debts in federal bankruptcy courts. Others include validity of New York's minimum wage law for women and children and a government order barring Arthur W. Cutten, Chicago trader, from the nation's grain markets for two years. Lower courts ruled in favor of Cutten and against the New York act.

Pennsylvania Railroad Reports Drop in Revenue

The Pennsylvania Railroad company reported net operating revenue for March of $3,782,149, compared with $6,269,028 a year before, a decrease of $2,486,879, and a net operating revenue for the first three months of this year of $13,800,803, compared with $16,025,799 for the corresponding period of 1935, a decrease of $2,225,196.

The Soo Line had a deficit of $516,537 for March, as compared with a deficit of $665,535. Net operating income of the road for the month before deductions was $102,568, as compared with an operating deficit of $53,247 for the corresponding 1935 month.

MONSANTO CHEMICAL HAS FIRST QUARTER PROFIT OF $1,071,691

For the first quarter of this year the Monsanto Chemical company reported a consolidated net profit of $1,071,691 after all charges, equal to $1.03 a share. Net earnings applicable to the common stock for the first quarter of last year were $925,324, or 96 cents a share.

Anaconda Wire and Cable company and subsidiaries reported a net income of $283,554 for the first quarter of 1936, equal to 67 cents a share, compared with a net of $216,266, equal to 51 cents a share, in the first quarter of 1935.

The Freeport Texas company in the first quarter of 1936 indicated net earnings after charges equal to 61 cents a share compared with 2c cents a share in the first 1935 quarter.

Natomas California Gold Dredging and Land company reports net income of $325,262 for the quarter ended March 31. This is equivalent to 33 cents a share. For the comparable period of 1935 the company reported net income of $227,297, or 23 cents a share.

Net income of the Oklahoma Gas and Electric company for 1935 was $1,849,555, as compared with $1,697,025 for 1934, according to the pamphlet report sent stockholders by J. F. Owens, president. Operating revenues stood at $11,372,683, as compared with $10,938,851.

The California Oregon Power company had a net income of $496,214 for 1935, as compared with $364,997 for 1934, C. M. Brewer, president, reported to stockholders. Operating revenues totaled $4,012,000, as compared with $3,768,848.

"Baby Bond" Sales Total Placed at $310,081,930

Washington, D. C., April 26.—(AP)—The treasury reported tonight that "baby bonds" sales have returned a total of $310,081,930 through April 18. This security, designed to find sale in the small purchaser's bond market, first was put on sale March 1, 1935.

Illinois led all states in purchases during the first year, absorbing a total of $34,351,300 measured in maturity value.

Transit Issues of 110 Million Offered Today

The largest single public offering ever made under one corporate indenture is scheduled for tomorrow, when a banking group headed by Hayden, Stone & Co. will offer $110,000,000 in Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit corporation rapid transit collateral trust bonds.

This issue will consist of $45,000,000 in 3 and 3¾ per cent serial bonds, maturing in varying amounts annually, May 1, 1937 to 1951 inclusive, and $65,000,000 in 4½ per cent series bonds, due May 1, 1966. The security will be identical for the bonds.

Issued for Investment.

The new indenture will be for the purpose of financing Brooklyn-Manhattan's investment in the New York Rapid Transit corporation and the Williamsburgh Power Plant corporation, as well as any future investments that it may make in either of these two subsidiaries.

All securities of these two companies owned by Brooklyn-Manhattan are pledged under the indenture, which also provides for a similar pledge of any securities of the two companies which may in the future be acquired either by Brooklyn-Manhattan or any of its subsidiaries.

Sanitary District Offer.

Offering will be made today of $2,000,000 of the Sanitary District of Chicago 4 per cent, series B, refunding bonds, due Jan. 1, 1955, optional Jan. 1, 1934-'54, by a banking group composed of the Chase National bank, the Northern Trust company, and Kelley, Richardson & Co., Inc. The bonds will be priced to yield 3.40 to 3.50 per cent to the optional dates, and 4 per cent thereafter. These bonds are part of an original offering of $41,469,000 which was issued to refund a like amount of bonds, maturing from 1936 to 1953, inclusive.

An issue of $503,000 City of Oshkosh, Wis., 3¼ per cent sewage treatment system mortgage revenue bonds, dated Nov. 1, 1935, and due serially from 1938 to 1965, will be offered today by a group headed by the First Boston corporation. The bonds are priced to yield from 2 to 3¼ per cent, according to maturity.

Proceeds of the issue, together with a PWA grant and proceeds of a general obligation bond issue, will provide funds for construction of a sewage disposal plant, intercepting sewers, and extensions to the present sewage disposal facilities.

TIRE CONFERENCE ON FAIR PRACTICE IS AUTHORIZED

Washington, D. C., April 26.—(AP)—A trade practice conference for the entire rubber industry was authorized today by the federal trade commission. The commission said its purpose would be to eliminate by cooperative action 'certain unfair trade practices complained of within the industry." Misbranding and price discrimination are included in this.

The time and place of the conference would be determined later, the commission said, with Chicago a likely meeting place and early June the probable time. Calling of the conference, the commission said, was the result of an application late in 1933 by the National Association of Independent Tire dealers, but the entire industry had been circularized since and a majority had favored it.

In the rubber industry, the commission asserted, there are about 50,000 independent retail dealers, 45,000 gasoline stations at which tires are sold, nearly 1,750 company owned stores, nearly 1,400 chain and mail order stores, and about 30 tire manufacturers. The commission said $2,000,000,000 was invested in the tire industry and the business' annual volume was $750,000,000.

HOW FAR WILL REACTION GO? WALL ST. ASKS

Many See Market as Outpacing Trade.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 26.—The big question in Wall street speculative circles as events turn into the new week is: Will the current stock market reaction turn out to be nothing more serious than a much-needed technical correction for a bull market that was getting out of bounds or is it the beginning of a major decline designed to discount breakers ahead for business and industry?

Brokerage house and market letter comment indicates a sharp divergence of opinion among all classes of traders but the consensus leans to the more favoravle viewpoint. It is pretty generally agreed that the stock "averages" in the later stages of the 13-month market advance had run ahead of trade indices. One interesting compilation in circulation over the week showed the rather startling discrepancy of 60 per cent for the general share list as against a gain of only about 18 per cent in business activity since March, 1935.

Veterans Are Cautious.

Veteran observers, however, insist that the market has always run ahead of trade on a recovery and that the present discrepancy, great as it is, is nothing to be alarmed over. However, a majority of shareholders in the speculative community evidently decided that optimism had been overplayed and that it were the better part of caution to lighten commitments against eventualities. The result was a sell-off which drove the "averages" down nearly 6 points at their worst and sent them into the week-end record nearly 6½ points below their highs for the year chalked up on April 6. The index closed yesterday at 119.64 after having dropped to 117.35 on Thursday. Its high for the year and the recovery was 126.

Values Increase Sharply.

The long sweep to the fore saw hundreds of issues more than double their listed valuations, while the price of many tripled and even quadrupled their lows for 1935. Statisticians calculated that almost 20 billion dollars were added to the aggregate values of shares listed on the exchange.

While the anxiety over over-extended speculative positions was admittedly the major reason for last week's selling it was not the only cause. The new margin requirements which went into effect for customers at the beginning of the month and which were scheduled to take effect on May 1 for brokers and others borrowing from banks had dampened enthusiasm—a fact which the exchange authorities finally took note of officially in Friday's belated order easing the requirements to some extent.

Various other items, most of them not new, combined, in the opinion of observers, to exert a discouraging effect on sentiment. Some of them were the unsatisfactory foreign situation, the approach of a crisis for the gold standard currencies, the awakening of fears of persecution and regimentation of business in case of the reëlection of the New Dealers, some indications that the spring expansion in business was coming to an end, and the progress of the new corporation tax bill through congress.

STEEL OUTPUT SAGS SLIGHTLY TO 69½% RATE

Demand Continues Strong for Heavy Products.

Demands for heavy steel are supporting the market despite a receding demand for light products, and operations last week eased only one point to 69½ per cent, according to an estimate made in today's issue of the mazagine Steel. This marks a decline from the highest level since 1930.

Mills have sufficient backlogs of steel rails to run them well into the middle of the year and further tonnages are in prospect, the journal says. Pending plate business also is large and is expected to be placed within a short time. This includes 7,475 tons for lining a tunnel in the Fort Peck development, the low bid for which was submitted by the Chicago Bridge and Iron Works.

New Ships to Be Built.

Award is also pending on a liner which will require 15,000 tons of hull steel, and an additional 6,000 tons of hull steel will go into two freighters, for which the Matson Navigation company is taking bids on May 4. Building requirements also are reported as holding well, and railroads continue to support the market with large inquiries.

The reduction in national steel operations last week was caused principally by recessions at Youngstown and Pittsburgh, which declined 1 and 3 points to 79 and 63 per cent, respectively. Chicago was unchanged at 70½ per cent. Eastern Pennsylvania gained ½ point to 44 per cent, Wheeling, 8 points to 92 per cent; Buffalo, 5 points to 70 per cent, and Cincinnati, 4 points to 84. Cleveland declined 5 points to 79½ per cent, and New England eased 3 points to 75 per cent. Detroit was steady at 100 per cent, and Birmingham held at 69 per cent.

Tin Plate Orders Liberal.

Tin plate releases by can makers are more liberal, the magazine says, and production has moved up to between 85 and 90 per cent of capacity. Sales and shipments of steel sheets in March not only exceeded February but also were larger than in January.

Slight weakness has appeared in the scrap market, principally in blast furnace grades and specialties. Open harth grades are holding firm.

The magazine's scrap composite is 4 cents lower at $14.33 a ton due to a slight readjustment at Pittsburgh. The iron and steel composite has declined 1 cent to $33.08 a ton, while the finished steel composite is unchanged.

CHICAGO TRADE SLOWS DOWN, BUT STILL EXCEEDS '35

Retail trade in Chicago displayed an easier tendency last week following the highs established during the Easter season, according to the Chicago Association of Commerce. Volume of activity, however, was ahead of 1935, the association said.

A slight lull was experienced in wholesale lines, with orders falling into the hand-to-mouth category. Interest was general in early samples of summer and fall merchandise but orders for actual delivery did not appear in volume.

Steel activity in Chicago continued at the high pace of 70 per cent of plant capacity. In other industrial fields production and personnel figures held to previous levels.

Railroad trafic, particularly passenger volume, gained slightly. Public utilities again were ahead of last year's figures. Rents continued to rise. To balance higher property charges owners are said to be making improvements and to be paying for long delayed decorating.

ASSERTS PHONE RATE CUTS SAVE $3,000,000 YEARLY

Washington, D. C., April 26.—(AP)—Paul A. Walker, federal communications commissioner, said today telephone rate slashes resulting in savings to subscribers of more than $3,000,000 annually had been made since the FCC launched its investigation into the American Telephone & Telegraph company last fall.

Director of the inquiry, Walker said the reductions included a revision of long distance charges which cut person to person rates at night and inaugurated a new lower rate on Sunday.

"Although this particular concession was initiated by the telephone companies," he said, "it was coincident with the informal inquiries initiated by the commission with respect to overtime charges on person to person calls."

This rate change alone, Walker said, reduced telephone charges by about $3,000,000 a year.

SPRING WEATHER CAUSES UPTURN IN HOME BUILDING

Washington, D. C., April 26.—(AP)—Two federal home financing agencies today attributed an upward surge in building during March to "spring weather."

"Private residential building operations opened up on a wide front during March," said the Federal Housing administration, "as spring weather lent increasing strength to the current building movement."

Said the Federal Home Loan bank board:

"Clearing spring weather over the country resulted in new mortgage loans to home owners by reporting federal savings and loan associations totaling $12,860,176 in March, the largest aggregate in any month since last October."
